GRAND ARMY PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

General Orders of Chief Marshal Sanders and the G. A. R. Posts—Other Societies to Turn Out

On Monday next, over 50 years after the close of the Civil war, 120 veterans, or thereabouts, of that war, will participate in the annual Memorial day parade, a day of memory as unique as it is beautiful. At a season when nature is fairest and sweetest, and the promise that seed time and harvest shall not fail is again renewed in a land of beauty and plenty and peace, we pause for a time to consider the sacrifice which made us what we are, and to express in flowers, as it were, our gratitude to the heroes who sleep beneath the moulds followed by their dust.

The Civil war veterans will not be the only ones to join in the parade, but they are foremost to claim our attention, because we remember the long ago, when the national life was imperiled. Fifty years have changed the boys of sixty, and as they place their tributes over the hearts of their comrades of yore, visions of the past rise before their fading sight and they are young again.

The one thing we notice most of all is that each year the line grows shorter, and were it left to these men the beautiful custom of strewing flowers would soon wane, but as one by one they pass their places are taken by scores of younger men and women who will not suffer their memories to be forgotten.

The general orders of the chief marshal, the G. A. R. posts and the Spanish War Veterans for the observance of Memorial day are appended:

AWAIT GERMANY'S REPLY

Great Interest in Washington in Anticipation of Arrival Today of Answer to American Note

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Germany's reply to the American note regarding the destruction of the Lusitania was being awaited today by administration officials with keen interest. It was to be handed to Ambassador Gerard in Berlin today, who, it was believed here, would immediately cable it to the state department. Unofficial information received here said the reply would be given to the German press tomorrow for publication. "It probably will be given out here for publication at the same time."

Unofficial advice said the reply would embody a proposal to the United States to defer definite consideration of Germany's submarine policy and the American demands until the two governments have had an opportunity to determine whether the Lusitania was a peaceful merchantman, as assumed in the American note or an auxiliary cruiser on the British navy list, mounting concealed cannon and carrying munitions of war as indicated by information the German government claims to have.

The reply, it was said, would be in effect an invitation to "define the terms" to be used in the argument before proceeding with the discussion. Germany's delay in replying to the American note had caused widespread speculation in official and diplomatic circles.

While state department officials momentarily expected word that the German answer was on its way, Secretary Bryan's early despatches gave no indication that it had been started from Berlin. Like other messages from Berlin no word that Italy has entered the war, it probably will go from Berlin to Copenhagen, thence to London and then on to Washington.

TOWN OF STORO TAKEN AFTER SEVERE FIGHTING

Another British Steamer, the Elder Dempster, Torpedoed and Sunk—Turkey Has 80,000 Troops on the Gallipoli Peninsula—Other War News

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 29, via Paris, 2:15 p. m.—The Italians after a severe fight along the frontier north of Lake Idro have captured the town of Storo and are now bombarding Riva.

On the eastern front, north of the Gulf of Trieste, bayonet fighting is in progress south of Goritz. The Austrians are retreating slowly. Italian forces have arrived before Gradisca, about 16 miles from Trieste.

The Italian authorities issued an order last night prohibiting Austrians and Germans from leaving the country.

BRITISH STEAMER ELDER DEMPSTER TORPEDOED AND SUNK

LIVERPOOL, May 29, 1:04 p. m.—The Elder Dempster line steamer Ethiope has been torpedoed and sunk.

The chief officer and 16 men of the Ethiope have been picked up. The rest of the crew is supposed to be in boats.

The Ethiope, of 2475 tons net, was built in 1905 and was owned in Liverpool. She was 246 feet long. She was last reported as arriving at Hull, England, on April 22 from Lagos.

The Ethiope was bound from Hull to Liverpool whence she was to have sailed for East African ports.

The vessel was sunk by the German submarine U-24.

TURKISH TROOPS ON THE GALLI POLI PENINSULA NUMBER 80,000

LONDON, May 29, 12:02 p. m.—The Turkish troops defending the Gallipoli peninsula against the landing forces of the allies number 80,000 men according to the correspondent at Athens of the Reuter Telegram Co.

The Turks, remaining on the defensive in the Caucasus are concentrating all their efforts on the Dardanelles, whether reinforcements are being brought from Syria. The supplies of ammunition, both for the infantry and the artillery are reported to be decreasing rapidly, with no prospect of being replenished.

Reports reaching Athens from Sofia set forth that Bulgaria is holding to neutrality, but the leaders of the opposition party believe that if Rumania intervenes in the war Bulgaria will follow suit.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING ALONG SAN IN GALICIA—ALLIES ADVANCE

LONDON, May 29, 11:52 a. m.—The reply of the imperial German government to the note of the United States concerning the sinking of the Lusitania is awaited with keen interest in England. The belief is general that Berlin will endeavor to gain time by the discussion of debatable points in the question at issue.

Terrific fighting is continuing along the river San in Galicia, with the Austro-German hosts making progress except at Sienlawa, 50 miles north of Przemyśl, where, according to the claims of Petrograd and the admissions of Vienna, an Austria-Hungarian force is being thrown back across the river to the west bank. In this action, the Russians assert that they captured several thousand prisoners and a number of guns.

In the Caucasus the Russians, now in occupation of the city of Van, in Turkish Armenia, are steadily advancing against the Turks.

The latest report given out by French army headquarters dwell on the British advance toward La Bassée and further French progress in the most difficult sector of the Lens-Arras line. Near Bourie, a little to the north of Arras, a formidable German fortress bars the road to the eastward.

The French have captured a part of this work, which is known as the "labyrinth" and they are now endeavoring totally to reduce it. The Germans are fighting stoutly to prevent allied progress in this direction and have made no less than seven sanguinary assaults on the new French position at Arras. Berlin reports that the battle at Ablain-St. Nazaire is still raging.

The message brought no word as to the fate of the crew of 40 men.

WHITE WAY PARADE AN IMPOSING FEATURE

Big Turnout and Many Features Viewed by Immense Crowds—New Lights Appreciated

More than 100,000 persons, men, women and children, witnessed the opening of Lowell's "white way" last night. It was the biggest crowd ever seen in the streets of Lowell and enthusiasm was at concert pitch. The tooting of automobile horns and the shouting indulged in by the multitude was almost deafening when the lights were turned on. First they flickered a bit, then glowed softly and then burst forth in all their glory. The long avenue so beautifully lighted was a swaying mass of faces and so thoroughly occupied were the streets that the automobiles in the parade had to be very careful with their red fire. Among those who stood so far out in the street as to barely escape the automobiles were men and women with children in their arms and in some places the parade

WARNING TO MEXICANS

Must Devise "Some Other Means" of Settlement, Says Pres. Wilson—Hints at Intervention

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Attention was again focused today upon Mexico as the result of President Wilson's determination to warn the Mexican leaders that conditions in the southern republic must improve. The contents of the president's forthcoming pronouncement are known only to officials, who decline to reveal its nature, except to say that recognition of any faction is not contemplated.

Possibility of intervention was heard again as the result of the new turn in Mexican affairs. The president's decision became known in an appeal issued by head of the Red Cross, urging contributions to relieve destitute people of Mexico.

It was said that the present action was not intended to assist either of the warring factions in Mexico at the expense of another, but to demand, in effect that they reach a prompt solution of their troubles, or at least provide for the sustenance of the starving people.

In connection with conditions in Mexico the American Red Cross has issued a statement describing them as "appalling."

"Great numbers of unfortunate people are victims of the long continued fighting," says the statement. "They have been facing starvation for months and now have reached an acute stage, when only food supplies can save them from death."

BELIEVE FIRE SET

County Authorities at Gilmanton Iron Works,
N. H. Investigate

GILMANTON IRON WORKS, N. H., May 19.—County Solicitor John M. Meserve of Tilton, Sheriff Philbrick of Laconia, with the selectmen, yesterday investigated the conflagration which wiped out the business section of this town early yesterday morning and believe it was the work of an incendiary. There were at least two attempts made to burn certain buildings last night, they believe.

Mrs. Jennie Keyes, owner of one of the houses destroyed, was awakened about midnight and put out a fire in the rear of her home by dousing it with a few pails of water. It was about two hours later that Mrs. Keyes discovered the fire at the Osborne Price buildings, which were the first to go. The county authorities are looking for Mrs. M. C. Tuttle, a former Boston resident, whose husband was once a member of the Boston police force, owing to her alleged threats to burn the Keyes building. She has lived here several years. Mrs. Tuttle was last seen driving toward Laconia at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Tuttle's son Charles, aged 11 years, was boarding at the house of Mrs. Keyes and, it is alleged, the two women were at odds over the key.

Tracks of a woman were found leading from the road to the back of the Price barn. A kerosene can was also found back of the barn.

State Attorney Tuttle of Manchester conferred last night with the county officials regarding the case.

The total loss is put at $50,000.

As there is no industry here, it is doubtful if any of the homes will be rebuilt.

Many people made homeless are being cared for by others, whose dwellings escaped the flames. The postoffice was moved to a nearby hotel. There was very little mail matter lost. Firemen were handicapped on account of no water supply and strong wind.

BIG THEFT OF BOOKS

BRYANT, ARRESTED IN BOSTON, CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF 192—POLICE RECOVER 400 IN ALL

BOSTON, May 19.—William R. Bryant, 28 years, of 119 West Lenox street, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Special Officer Travers and Patrolman Manning of Division 2 on a charge of larceny of 192 books valued at $177 from the bookstore of David L. Nickerson at 212 Summer street.

The police claim that the arrest of Bryant followed a raid by them on several second-hand bookstores in the business section and that in all 400 books, most of them of the "de luxe" variety and valued at several hundreds of dollars, were recovered. It is charged that these books were stolen from large bookstores in this city, and that the man under arrest was responsible for the theft of some of them.

In connection with the alleged thefts by Bryant the police also took into custody, William L. Holworth of 47 Meridian street, Malden, who keeps a store at 66 Cornhill. He is charged with receiving stolen property.

The police of the City Hall station have been receiving reports for some time, they say, about the theft of books from downtown stores. Officers Travers and Manning were assigned to the case and their investigation led them to suspect Bryant.

Several copies of a book named "Mary Macdonald" were stolen on Thursday from a wagon in Pemberton square and were later discovered, it is alleged, in a second-hand bookstore. As the result of information they received Bryant was arrested late yesterday afternoon at his place of employment.

It is believed by the police that the value they have placed on the books, and which is between $100 and $500, does not cover by any means their actual value. Many of the copies are expensively bound and not a few of the books are rare volumes.

The books were piled in the office of Capt. Sullivan after their recovery to be used as evidence.

BY GWEN SEARS

TO ACQUIRE BEAUTY OF BODY
For the stout woman who suffers in hot weather let me express the cheering thought that it is better to be plump and uncomfortable than thin and unhealthy. Isn't it easy to understand that a remedy strong enough to take off flesh quickly will also tear down muscles and tissues?
The only absolutely safe and sure way to acquire a beautiful, lithe body is to adopt diet and a well planned system of exercise. Success depends entirely upon perseverance. No matter how carefully the diet is planned it will amount to nothing unless it is religiously followed. First of all a taboo should be placed upon all fat meats. That means pork in all forms, fat meat, mutton, lamb, veal, fat poultry or game. Eat roast beef or steak but have it lean, and be sure that it is well cooked. Do not eat meat oftener than once a day. Eat plenty of eggs but drink no milk. Cut out all tea and coffee and substitute water or lemonade.
Eat all the vegetables you wish providing they are not prepared with a cream or butter sauce. Acid fruits are flesh reducers. Eat all the oranges or grapefruit you wish but do not counteract the effect of the acid with sugar. Absolutely all sweetened dishes must be banned, for sugar is one of the greatest single fattening agents known.
Take at least half an hour's walk every day and don't walk half heartedly. Start out briskly and maintain the pace until you reach your destination. If possible do your walking at the same time every day.
Sleep is fattening but of course you should get sufficient amount of sleep. Seven hours out of the twenty-four is enough for the healthy person but if very tired eight hours will do no harm.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY

TWO WITNESSES TELL OF SPREE AT HAVERHILL HOSPITAL
HAVERHILL, May 19.—The municipal council's hearing of charges filed by Alderman Albert E. Stickney, head of the health and charities departments, against Miss Allen C. Marshall, superintendent of the tuberculosis hospital here, took a sensational turn last night, when Mrs. Mary Lillis, former nurse, who was called as a witness, refused to furnish the name of a man who, she said, had returned to the hospital with Miss Marshall in an automobile later than midnight. Mrs. Lillis said the man is a prominent resident of the city and has a wife and children.
Council, aldermen and the mayor insisted that she tell the name and when she finally consented to write it on a pad for the mayor's private inspection, the 600 persons who had crowded into the council chambers and city hall corridor howled protests and demanded that the name be made public. It did not come out.
Mrs. Lillis testified that while the superintendent was entertaining the duty nurse in the dining room she found a patient dead and upon reporting the death to Miss Marshall was warned against allowing it to become known to Miss Emma Cook, the dietitian, because Miss Cook would tell about it.
Witnesses said it was a frequent occurrence for the superintendent to return to the hospital between 10 p. m. and midnight after an auto ride, take her friends to the kitchen for luncheon and disturb the patients by talking in the corridors. Miss Marshall, she said, had given her beer in her room when she was on duty. Witness saw whisky in the room, she continued, and had one time given Miss Marshall a drink of it when she said she was sick.
Ex-Dist. Atty. W. Stott Peters appeared to present the evidence for Alderman Stickney, and Judge John J. Ryan appeared for Miss Marshall. The hearing opened in the afternoon and at 10 last night only two witnesses had finished testimony. The council adjourned until 8 a. m. Tuesday morning, when Mrs. Lillis will complete her testimony.

THE SPELLBINDER

The tumult and the shouting dies;
The board of trade and guests depart;
Still gleam the white walls radiant
eyes.

Along the taxpayer's homeward path,
For each bright gleam he'll settle yet,
That's one good bit—that's one best bit!

The white way is a thing of beauty
and charm, and the show incidental to
its debut was a corker, but he who dances must pay the fiddler, and the
taxpayer who danced yesterday will pay for the fun when his tax bill comes
along.

From the standpoint of the humble
poll taxpayer, the show was well worth
the money, for it will have no effect on the size of his tax bill, though the
white way which occasioned the grand
pageant will have to be paid for by the
property owners.

There is no getting away from the fact that the white way is a most desirable improvement over the old arrangement of street lighting, but just as the city signs up its contracts to pay for
it at a fine, fat figure, along comes Col.
Carmichael, back from Cincinnati, with
the cheerful information that in the west there are white ways galore and
that the expense of their maintenance
is paid for without complaint by the shoppers, rather than out of the public pockets. In Lowell the timid residents of the outskirts who are afraid to venture
forth from their homes at night, on account of the dimly lighted streets in
his neighborhood, and who has cried in vain, "Let there be light" where it is needed, will pay his proportionate share
toward maintaining the white way, just
like the down-town business man, who
no longer is required to burn extra
lights to make his place attractive.

"Those Neglected Schools"
At the Legislature Monday, Mayor
Murphy representing the city in his
argument for the $75,000 high school
loan made several remarkable statements. His Honor is quoted as having said: "The schools of Lowell have
been neglected for 20 years."

Within 20 years, His Honor was a member of the school board and should
be able to recall that within that time
the outcasts who are afraid to venture
forth from their homes at night, on account of the dimly lighted streets in
his neighborhood, and who has cried in
vain, "Let there be light" where it is
needed, will pay his proportionate share
toward maintaining the white way, just
like the down-town business man, who
no longer is required to burn extra
lights to make his place attractive.

These remarks recall the fact that
only last spring when an attempt was made to start an agitation for a new
high school, the one man whose support was most desired but which
could not be obtained, was Mayor Murphy himself. When asked why he could not use a portion of the money
which the city is permitted to borrow
within the debt limit Mayor Murphy
replied that three of the grammar
schools need attention very badly and
it was contemplated that this work
should be done within the debt limit.
The Pawtucket bridge, he said, would

cost the city about $35,000 and block
paying and a sewer extension into Wigwagville would take all the money
the city can raise. He also spoke of the tuberculosis hospital situation,
and said that Dr. McLaughlin had been quoted as saying that Lowell
would be one of the first cities to be prosecuted unless a suitable tuberculosis hospital is erected within the
time limit specified by the state department of health.

The distance from the debt limit
July 1, according to His Honor will be $252,000. But if all the matters mentioned by him are gone into beyond
the talk stage the debt limit will be all shot to pieces. In mentioning the city's needs His Honor neglected to state
that about July 1 the city will need to dig up a fine sum of money to pay
on the old temporary loan if it hasn't
it on hand. Relative to the contagious disease hospital His Honor might have
mentioned that the former administration turned down and now his administration is going to purchase one
for some future administration to
turn down.

After being entertained at luncheon
at the girls' vocational school in the old Merrill school a few days ago the members of the municipal council are
more keen than ever for a new school
for the girls. It is proposed to use the present Paige street school for the vocational school when the proposed new high school has been completed. This proposition while comparatively inexpensive will solve the needs of the vocational school and will give Principal Flaher an opportunity to develop
that institution along practical lines.

The Contagious Hospital
When the past administration attempted to live up to the law relative
to the contagious disease hospital a
howl went up on account of the site
selected and the members of this year's
government not only howled but upon entering office would all that their predecessors had done. The present administration attempted to put aside the
matter and did so as long as it could.
Now the members are howling for a hospital as loudly as if they had never attempted to side-track it, and yet
they contemplate evading the law
again by selecting only a site, this
year, allowing the main part of the transaction to go over until another
year. In the Legislature last week, Dr.
Alan J. McLaughlin, state commissioner of health expressed his opinion
of the Lowell city government in no
unmistakable manner. Dr. McLaughlin
in scored the local city officials for
not making plans for a tuberculosis
hospital in this city. Lowell, he said,
has a population of more than 100,000
and maintained there was no excuse
for this size of city not having a tuberculosis hospital of its own and
particularly in view of the number of deaths due to consumption and the prevalence of the disease in this city.
Dr. McLaughlin declared that if the hospital is not built within the time limit, the matter will be referred to the attorney-general and the city
of Lowell prosecuted.

There is no doubt that the state
commissioner meant exactly what he said and judging from his remarks any
attempt to fool him by making a spurge over the purchase of a site for the hospital will not go. He is the kind of man who must be shown and can only be shown by the erection of a permanent building.

Every Little Bit, etc.

Inspector Frank O'Hare of the health
department appreciates the words of
the song: "Every little bit added to
what you've got, makes a little bit
more." For while his pay has been increased the increase is not as much
as it should be considering his valuable services to the department. Mayor Murphy having raised the salary of
about everyone else in the health department this year, should not forget
Inspector John Keeney, and Miss Snow, the efficient stenographer of the department, who appear to be about
the only ones not thus far favored
by His Honor. Of course the young lady hasn't a vote yet, I say "yet" ad-
visedly; but that shouldn't make any difference.

Another Life Sacrificed

While the city was in gala attire
over its new white way and the board
of trade was hustling on the plans for
the grand celebration in honor of the city's latest public improvement, illustrated James J. Farrell fell into the canal at Ford street and was drowned, his body being recovered a day later. A few days before a little Polish child
fell down the precipitous and unfenced
bank of the river in front street and
was rescued from drowning by Agent
Gilmore of the Humane society, who
happened to be riding by at the time.
Notwithstanding the earnest appeals of
the officials of the Trades and Labor
council before the municipal council
that some action be taken toward safeguarding the lives of children from the unprotected waterways of the city, the council has done nothing as yet, he-
ing more concerned in white ways,
bridges, street extensions and other
improvements than in the less important matter of saving the lives of children.

At the close of the hearing over a month ago Mayor Murphy who presided stated that the council would
take the matter under advisement.
Since that time apparently it has not
been thought of by the city fathers,
despite the fact that there have been
several narrow escapes and one death
within a month. Had the five foot wire fence with barbed wire at the top been installed at Ford street as asked for
by the petitioners the life of the Jarrell boy would not have been sacrificed.

Risky Cemetery Trustees

The cemetery trustees surely are making themselves "strong" even with
those who were opposed to the bill
which created their offices for the city.
They appear to be proceeding upon their jobs in business-like manner. The only thing suggestive of politics that has appeared at their meetings was injected by the mayor rather than by
any of the members. Their little run-in
with the purchasing agent will be watched with interest, and according to public opinion is quite timely for a result of recent transactions at City Hall, people are beginning to question the necessity of the supply department. The heads of departments have been sending in requisitions so worded
as to preclude competition, making the head of the supply department an enraged boy rather than a purchasing agent
and it would be well to have the matter ironed out at this time. The cemetery department occupies a peculiar position among the municipal departments. It is supported by its own receipts and takes no money out of the annual budget.

It is for this reason, presumably,
that the cemetery trustees hold that
they are not accountable to the purchasing agent in making purchases for their department. Of course, the trust

funds for the perpetual care of lots are
held in trust by the city and the municipality is responsible for them, while
the city owns the cemeteries and would have to support them if they were not
self-supporting. If it could be shown that the trustees of the cemetery are
exempt from the provisions of law relative to the purchasing agents department, then a similar contention could
be raised by the water department.
Let the purchasing agent hold up the bill for those settees if he desires, but don't hold up the settees themselves
for they will come in very nicely on Memorial day when the cemeteries are crowded.

Lowell Day Celebration

Despite the bad weather, the Lowell
day celebration was a credit to the board of trade, and was not entirely a failure even if the weather was most unpropitious. The volume of business
done by the merchants before the rain
descended gave evidence of what might
have happened had the day continued
fair and demonstrated the value of the board of trade's scheme. The celebration presented a most unusual spectacle. It was a big public affair in which the city government appeared

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

MARIE ON PUBLIC NUISANCES

"What is the matter with your cheek?" asked Marie, as Marjorie rushed in one rainy day with a large
bruised spot just under one eye.

"Oh, an inconsiderate, impolite woman jabbed her umbrella into my face,"
almost sobbed Marjorie, "and it is a wonder she didn't put my eye out."

"Indeed it is," sympathized Marie.
"When a woman with an umbrella forges
ahead look out for your hat, your veil
and your eyes. It matters not whether
the dripping from the umbrella will ruin your suit or whether you have
any rights, if you have any sense you
will keep your distance. The closed umbrella too, is just as much a public
nuisance in the hands of an inconsider-
ate woman or man. Some people think because the point of the umbrella is
out of their sight it is out of existence.
Consequently it is allowed to wreck
vengeance on all followers and, if a little child happens to be within punching distance of the ferrule, look out for his
eyes."

"All the apologies and explanations
in the world will not remedy the carelessness of this dangerous weapon.
The other day a woman your aunt

knows, was the victim of a violent
earache. She had attended a lecture
the evening before and had been the protesting listener who had been forced
to take the breezes from the fan of the woman seated next to her. This woman may have been nervous and
she may have been very warm. One thing is certain she was a public nuisance. She fanned violently with her fan and then with her program
and great draughts of air were driven
into the ear of your aunt's friend. She really got most of the cooling and she
paid for it."

"There are many other nuisances
and they are every day encountered in street cars and railway trains. Windows are raised or closed to suit the whims of one individual and someone else pays the bill. At the football game, the baseball game, the lecture
and the theatre there is always the
nuisance who makes a footrest or knee
rest of the back of your seat and frequently spoils your pleasure by
forcing you to object.
"There is only one thing to do,"
continued Marie. "Be polite and distinguished but nevertheless, hold your own against every public nuisance."

FIRE ON HURD STREET

LODGING HOUSE BADLY GUTTED
JUST BEFORE THE BIG PARADE
STARTED

A fire alarm which sounded at 5:54
o'clock last night, just before the big parade, necessitated the clearing of a portion of the streets in order to allow
the fire apparatus to proceed. An ambulance call was made shortly before 8
o'clock, also, and the ambulance made
a slow run through Merrimack square.
The alarm from box 225 was for a fire
in the two and a half story lodging
house owned and conducted by Mrs.
Kate Welsh at 47 Hurd street. The fire started in a room on the top floor
of the house while the occupants were
out to review the parade. The blaze
was discovered by a passerby and when
the alarm was rung in the roof was
blazing furiously and the entire house
was filled with smoke. Considerable water was used in extinguishing the
fire.

Telephone Alarm

At 10:40 o'clock a telephone alarm
was received for a fire in the same
house but this was quickly quenched.
It was necessary for the lodgers to
seek other quarters last night, so badly
was the house damaged.

Ambulance Call

The ambulance was called to the
Boott mills where Harry Anderson of 64
Bridge street had injured his head by falling against a machine. He was removed to the Lowell hospital where it
was necessary to take several stitches
to close the wound.

FITTING MONUMENT ERECTED TO MEMORY OF JOHN F. SAUNDERS

VIEW OF THE MONUMENT

The latest addition to the many beautiful monuments in the Catholic cemetery in Gorham street is the Saunders memorial, erected to the memory of John F. Saunders. The memorial is of Westerly granite. The bottom base is nine feet long by five feet, three inches wide and one foot and two inches high. The die is seven feet long, three feet three inches in length and three feet four inches in height. It is of composite design, plain and substantial. On the front are two large laurel wreaths with the name Saunders in raised letters in between. The memorial weighs 14 tons, the lower stone weighing 7 tons and the upper stone 6 tons. It was built by the John P. Meehan Co. of this city.

Letter No. 5 From the
Turner Centre Creamery

Few people realize that the most IMPORTANT FOOD ITEM in the average home is the apparently insignificant article of milk. This is especially true where there are children. Scientists everywhere have been telling us for years that milk is about the only perfect food. In proportion to its cost it has the highest food value. Mothers who give their growing children plenty of GOOD milk need not worry about the rest of the diet.

We are telling the people of Lowell that our milk is pasteurized and bottled under the most sanitary conditions. It is rich, pure and SAFE. Try it.

It was learned today that four American cowboys who said they were compelled to aid in the roundup were held prisoners until last night when they were allowed to cross the line.

BUILDING AND REALTY

The Contractors Quite Busy—
New Buildings in Progress—
Real Estate Transactions

The most important building permit taken out at city hall during the past week was that issued to the Wameet Power company to cover the erection of a $60,000 building to be occupied by the United States Cartridge company. The new structure will be situated at the corner of Lawrence and Andrews streets and will be constructed of brick and wood with a concrete foundation. It will have a frontage of 50 feet on Lawrence street and will extend 350 feet on Andrews street. The entire building, which will be two stories in height, will be used by the Cartridge company as a manufacturing plant and the necessary equipment will be installed. The new building will be heated by steam by pipe connection with the heating system in the other buildings.

A large house to contain six apartments is to be constructed by James A. Brien at the corner of Vine and Appleton streets. The cost is estimated at $6500. Each apartment will consist of five rooms, pantry and bath. William W. Myers will build a handsome residence at 106 Highland avenue. The building will have one apartment of seven rooms, pantry and bath and will measure 29 by 39 feet. It will be heated by steam.

At 34 Georgia avenue, Patrick F. Mahoney will erect a dwelling of 3 rooms, pantry and bath at a cost of $4000. The building will have a foundation of stone and will be heated by steam.

A new house is to be erected in Hovey street by J. H. Gamble. It will have five rooms, pantry and bath and the cost will be $3500.

Grace Norton is to build a new one-

AMUSEMENT NOTES
B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Mme. Olga Petrova, the Russian dramatic star, appearing in the highly emotional and dramatic "The Heart of a Painted Woman" at the B. F. Keith theatre, this afternoon and evening,
proves to be the best drawing card
of the season. This woman is wonderfully effective, particularly in the stronger scenes, such as that in which she coaxes a confession of having committed murder, from an old acquaintance of hers. Also the continuous thrilling of the conscience of the murderer, in order to force him to divulge the real story, is as done by her, wonderfully subtle. The picture is one which already has created much comment. It is dramatic throughout, and in a sense, is a modern allegory, with or better still, a clump of trees and shrubbery which will serve to mask its origin. From this vantage point it may extend to a natural way to the limits marked out for it, here an isolated boulder, here a group of less pretentious stones and again a group of large stones may find room in their pockets for a small tree. The extent may be two or three rods in width at one end and gradually narrow until at the other it becomes an occasional rock

on the lawn.

DRYING-YARD FOR CLOTHES
The inventiveness of those who plan estates is put to a test in hiding the drying-yard for clothes. Good taste requires that this be an enclosure.
When it is near the kitchen the problem is easily solved; for if there is not a natural barrier of shrubbery, it can be boldly screened by lattice-work.
If it is necessary to locate it elsewhere,
it should be surrounded by a wall of greenery, such as a hedge of Norway spruce or of hemlock. Either must be often clipped when young so as to insure a permanent dense growth near the ground.

PROTECTION AGAINST MOTHS
Moths in general are likely to affect only articles which are put away and left undisturbed for some little time.
Apartments and closets that are frequently aired and swept are not apt to be seriously affected. In fact, airing and sunlight are probably the best as well as the oldest remedies.

POTTERY
Why not use pottery in your summer cottage or in your nursery? It is made in such wonderful patterns and is so artistic that it is fast replacing the china sets, especially for bungalow use.
This is particularly true of the Paul Revere pottery which is made in all sorts of unique designs.

Children for whom animal designs are much used. Dancing, running, jumping rabbits, chickens, ducks, and all sorts of little animals are put on porridge and bread-and-milk sets. The children become so attached to these dishes that if any piece is broken, it has to be sent back to be matched.
The animals, children's names, and little mottoes are used for the little ones,
while for the older ones there are conventional designs, landscapes, or flowers.

Whole sets of the pottery are often used in the summer cottages. For the ten service, there are quaint little Dutch tiles finished in gray, yellow, green, or other attractive colors.—House Beautiful.

STRAWBERRY DISTRICTS
A recent survey of the production and marketing of strawberries in the United States, made by the department of agriculture, indicates that the eight
most important commercial strawberry districts are Central California, Tennessee, Maryland, Delaware, Southern Louisiana, North and South Carolina,

Virginia and Ozarks. In 1914, 1,895 carloads of strawberries were shipped from Central California. Lesser quantities were shipped from the other districts which are named in the order of their importance. From the Ozarks came 745 carloads last year.

The north, however, plays a more important part in the strawberry industry than these figures might indicate. Great quantities of berries are grown in the north in small patches
and shipped to market by trolley, express, or in the producer's own wagon.
Only a very small portion of northern-grown berries are concentrated into carload lots, the basis for the government survey. In the south, however, on the Pacific coast, where berries are shipped long distances it is economical
to arrange to have them sent by carloads.

AN AMERICAN OPPORTUNITY
These are great times for American hotel-keepers. As the newspapers and magazines tell us with wearisome iteration, thousands of Americans who would like to go to Europe this summer will have to go to San Francisco
or the Rockies, or some other place out of reach of the submarine and the Ze-ppelin; and hundreds of thousands of good dollars will be poured out along American roadways by prosperous tourists. The next two or three years will offer unprecedented opportunities to our hotels and tea-houses.—House Beautiful.

BABY RAMBLER ROSES
The Baby Rambler and Polyantha
roses are very desirable for border gardens and flower beds, as well as to grow along the margins by taller roses
in rose gardens. There are now a dozen desirable varieties of this type.
They bloom over a long season and

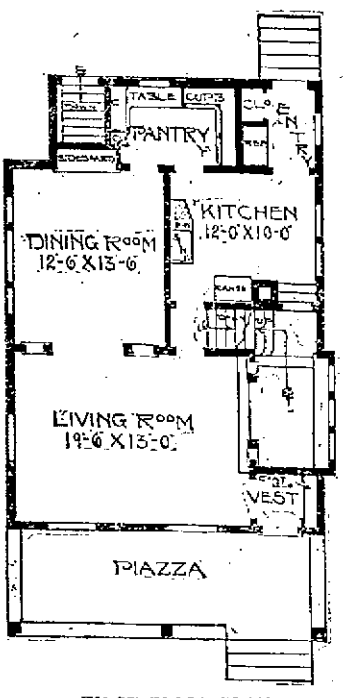

Health and Desire beaten, while Vir-

ECONOMICAL BUNGALOW COTTAGE

combination stairway and piazza

ned. There is a full basement under high and second story 8 feet. Rooms are finished up to full height, in second story, with closets for each room.

MEMORIAL DAY

We have had many memorial days in the passing of the years and on each one of them we have honored the dear departed and the living links that bind us with an exalted past, but never was its appeal more vital than now. This year we can readily understand what it means, and we can more thoroughly enter into its spirit for while the rest of the world is at war we enjoy the peace and liberty that are the direct fruits of American struggles and sacrifices. With gratitude for the past and with hope for the future we once again honor our heroes living and dead and consecrate ourselves anew to the ideals of American democracy.

Memorial day is a day of memories, and no nation can prosper and progress that does not hold sacred its history and traditions. Superficial observers have been inclined to censure our thoughtlessness, our irreverence and our materialism, but there is nothing to be censured in our observance of Memorial day. On that day, year after year, we take stock of our nationality and recall the great deeds of dark days that America may march onward in the light of freedom. On that day we pause and look back that the newer generations may realize what their fathers did to establish and preserve the ideal of democratic government.

What a blessed contrast we afford to the rest of the world this glorious Memorial day of May! Rapine, ruin and unutterable misery have swept the nations like a devouring flame; the war god is loose and humanity staggers beneath its blow. Once we, too, had great wars, one of which threatened to overthrow the triumphs of Washington and the great nation he established, but liberty triumphed, the nation was saved and America, the home of freedom, progressed in prosperity and peace. Out of this hellish struggle may dawn a purer democracy, and man's inhumanity to man may be a dream of the past.

Let us then once more heartily honor the dead who died for America and the thinning ranks of the living who alas are nearing the final hour. Let us fly the flags and place wreaths on the graves to the strains of martial music and the booming of cannon. Let us bless the past and remember its story that we may be ready for any call that the future may make on our American manhood, our American patriotism and our unswerving loyalty and devotion to the stars and stripes.

OUR NAVY FLAWS

This is the day of the submarine as the most effective craft in modern naval tactics, and America is waking up to the fact. Congress has authorized the construction of 26 new submarines, and it has been officially announced that these will be the most effective of their kind in the navy of any great power. In the meantime there are revelations that warrant attention and immediate investigation, if our navy is not to be a collection of mechanical failures.

Recently this country was shocked by the loss of a submarine that, without warning, plunged to the bottom of Honolulu bay, carrying its crew to their death. A few days ago, naval maneuvers were held in the Atlantic, in which 12 submarines took part. Six of the under sea craft broke down, and at one time or another were unable to take their part in the war game. What would this mean if instead of playing at mimic war, the submarines were in really proceeding against an enemy?

Secretary Daniels has declared his intention to make a full investigation into the causes of this regrettable condition. He will ascertain whether it is the result of faults of construction or whether it is due to defects in the method of reporting or making repairs. He has been commendably frank in his statements, concerning the question, and his comments on the case should not be partisan. It is the American navy that will be investigated, and all America should help and encourage anything that would make its navy a better national defense.

Secretary Daniels points out that the submarine is still in the experimental stage, and that all of those which were in trouble were constructed prior to 1912. The faults should surely be discovered and eliminated before the 26 new submarines are constructed. Germany has done wonderful work with its submarines and has shown that in that country they have reached a high point of efficiency. We have the brains, the materials, the money, the time to investigate and plan fully; is there any good reason why our submarines should be inferior to those of any power on earth?

TIDY UP!

We have had a clean-up campaign that presumably has fine results; we have had a great rain to wash the streets and freshen the lawns and gardens; we have had all kinds of campaigns towards the cultivation of the city beautiful ideal. Let us now show practical results.

It is wonderful what even slight attention to the premises will do at this season. An hour spent by many citizens in the little lot before the door or the garden at the side, or the lawn at the back, will have a splendid effect on the general appearance of the city.

If the grass plot before the door has not made a good showing this year, there is still time to help it along. Nothing will grow in the shady hollow under the trees. The vacant space at the side that you have used as a dump and that is littered with old cans and refuse will grow peas, beans, tomatoes and corn. The sunny spot under the parlor window will be ideal for a bed of geraniums or pansies. The way to have all these things is to try to have them. Merely looking at your uninviting premises and envying your neighbor will bring you nothing.

The general appearance of a city depends on the initiative and collective effort of its individual citizens. Lowell is too big for the competitive attempts that make North Billerica so beautiful and orderly, but we can have the same results without the competition, if our people respond to the call of the city beautiful. Now is the time to make the initial preparations for a better and more beautiful city in the long days of summer and fall.

FACTS FIRST.

Regarding the possible answer of Germany to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania, one man's guess is as good as another's, and most expressed opinions are founded on imagination. One declares that Germany's attitude will be defiant; another says it will be conciliatory, but only Germany really knows—and Germany is taking its time about it.

A novel prediction is made in a recent despatch from Amsterdam. It says that owing to the gravity of the situation, and the momentous possibilities that lie in it, Germany will not answer President Wilson's protests in the preliminary note, but will make a statement of facts, as Germany sees them, asking that this nation admit such facts. While there is little doubt here as to the real facts, such a policy is not undesirable. In any debate or discussion, there must be some common ground of argument, and if Germany sees the facts in one light and America in another, no exchange of diplomatic notes is likely to bring about an agreement.

Briefly, the facts as America sees them are: that the Lusitania—a passenger ship, while carrying many neutral passengers, was sunk by a German submarine in direct defiance of international law. It will be interesting to hear the statement of facts as Germany sees them. If Germany and this nation cannot find a set of facts to acknowledge in common, then all diplomatic parleying will be in vain.

EXPORT FRAUDS

To ship contraband to Germany is one thing; to defraud the United States is another. Yet both considerations may be combined in the one transaction. Indictments have been found by the federal grand jury against several prominent American business men who have been alleged guilty of filing false manifests covering certain shipments to Europe. In one case, shipments of rubber valued at $36,000 were concealed in barrels of resin and bales of cotton waste, and the fraud was discovered through the agency of the X-ray. Such actions are decidedly illegal, but they are to be condemned even on broader grounds as a breach of neutrality and a danger to our best interests in a national sense. American business expects the government to stand firmly behind it in any complications that may arise, but to make the issue clear with any foreign government, our hands must be clean. If England discovers contraband masquerading in a harmless guise, it will be all the harder for our legitimate shipments and shippers to get fair play. We must be square in our dealings if we expect our government to insist that foreign nations must be square with us. The issue is clear, and there is little excuse for violators of our shipping regulations.

PAYING THE PRICE

The allies declare confidently that they will capture the Dardanelles and

Constantinople, but it will be at a heavy cost. England is certainly paying the price, for in the shelling of the majestic her fifth great battleship has been destroyed at the mouth of the famous narrows. This sacrifice of ships and men was one of the most fruitful causes for criticism of Churchill's admiralty policy in England, and it would not be strange to find a cessation of attempts to silence the forts from the sea until the land forces progress further along the peninsula, silencing the forts in their way. With Austrian, German and Turkish submarines operating in the narrow channel, and around its mouth, and the mines that are sent adrift as quickly as others are swept up, the ships of the allied fleets run enormous risks. That six great battleships have been sunk and many put out of commission before anything important is achieved proves the difficulty of reducing the Dardanelles from the sea, or the cost of such reduction. Still, the allies show no indication of moderating the attack as yet, and the land forces seem to be gaining slowly but steadily.

The legislature has done well in letting the jitney question go over to the next general court. At present the jitney craze is too new and untied to afford any permanent information as to its workings, and it will take time to show its weaknesses and reveal what regulations are necessary to protect the public while being fair to the jitney operators.

The weather was perfect, enthusiasm ran high, and the belated "White Way" celebration went off with a bang. Everybody was happy and general satisfaction was the order of the day. Lowell is surely a bright city, now that our fine new lighting system is blazing away, and last night it was easy for those on the streets to believe that we are soon to enter a new era of prosperity. Let there be light!

When we think of the need for a new bridge at Pawtucketville, it might be well also to think of the collapse of the Chelmsford street bridge and the fire at Memorial hall, nothing is more dangerous in a community than a false sense of security.

What does Lowell do for its children in summer? They need playgrounds, ball grounds and swimming pools.

Which is the more necessary—the extension of Dummer street or the cleaning up of the Concord river?

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At last evening's meeting of Wamsit lodge, 25, K. of P., it was announced that Deputy Grand Chancellor L. W. MacArthur of Cambridge would give a lecture on Europe at the Ladies' night of the lodge to be held June 4. Refreshments will be served and all members and friends are invited. Routine business was transacted.

Daughters of Liberty

The regular meeting of Busy Bee circle, Daughters of Liberty, was held last evening at the home of Mrs. A. Dexter on East Merrimack street, with Mrs. Charles Richardson presiding. Following the transaction of important business, a bountiful supper was served. Whist was also enjoyed. The circle has been invited to attend the Memorial service at the First Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

GREEK COMMUNITY OFFICERS

The annual election of officers for the Greek community of this city will take place Monday in the basement of the Greek church in Jefferson street.

FREE TO THE SICK!

Dr. Naughton making an X-Ray examination with The Improved Skiascope as an aid to Diagnosis. This and other wonderful methods of examinations are free to all who call on him at the New American Hotel, One Day Only, Monday, May 31st, Hours, 10 a. m. to 7 p. m.

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as infallible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

Dr. NAUGHTON will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Monday, May 31st, 1915, from 10:00 o'clock in the morning until 7:00 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

WARNING TO MEXICO

Continued

All the warring factions in Mexico that conditions in that country have become intolerable and that, unless they compose the situation soon, some other means may have to be employed to accomplish the result.

The first intimation of the president's determination to take this step came yesterday in his appeal issued as head of the American Red Cross, setting forth that "due to several years of internal disturbance, the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation, and urging contributions to relief funds."

Later the White House gave out the following: "When the president's appeal for aid for the Mexicans was issued, it was also stated that the executive office that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

Hinting Intervention

High officials referred to the president's forthcoming pronouncement as not meaning immediate intervention and they emphasized the word "immediate." The impression in executive quarters was that one purpose would be to place responsibility for the present state of affairs squarely upon the military elements in the southern republic, which have overrun the country and appropriated its food supply or prevented the filling of the bill.

While anxious to continue the policy of allowing the Mexicans to settle their differences without outside interference, the president is said to be determined that the civilian population of the country shall not be starved in the meantime.

This statement has been prepared and will be issued after the cabinet meeting next Tuesday and then communicated to the leaders of all the Mexican factions.

Officials at the White House and state department declined to say what the president's statement contained, but denied that recognition of any faction was now contemplated. NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Monday, May 31, 1915

To all who call at the I will give Consultations, Diagnosis of Disease, and Examinations, Absolutely Free of Charge.

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as infallible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

Dr. NAUGHTON will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Monday, May 31st, 1915, from 10:00 o'clock in the morning until 7:00 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

all the warring factions in Mexico that conditions in that country have become intolerable and that, unless they compose the situation soon, some other means may have to be employed to accomplish the result.

The first intimation of the president's determination to take this step came yesterday in his appeal issued as head of the American Red Cross, setting forth that "due to several years of internal disturbance, the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation, and urging contributions to relief funds."

Later the White House gave out the following: "When the president's appeal for aid for the Mexicans was issued, it was also stated that the executive office that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

High officials referred to the president's forthcoming pronouncement as not meaning immediate intervention and they emphasized the word "immediate." The impression in executive quarters was that one purpose would be to place responsibility for the present state of affairs squarely upon the military elements in the southern republic, which have overrun the country and appropriated its food supply or prevented the filling of the bill.

While anxious to continue the policy of allowing the Mexicans to settle their differences without outside interference, the president is said to be determined that the civilian population of the country shall not be starved in the meantime.

This statement has been prepared and will be issued after the cabinet meeting next Tuesday and then communicated to the leaders of all the Mexican factions.

Officials at the White House and state department declined to say what the president's statement contained, but denied that recognition of any faction was now contemplated. It was stated authoritatively that while friends of Carranza here had been pressing for recognition, the Washington government had not been impressed with the ability of any of the contending chiefs to restore order. The present action, it was said, was not intended to assist one faction at the expense of another, but to demand in effect, that the Mexicans arrive at an early settlement of their troubles or at least provide for the sustenance of the starving population.

Talk of intervention—friendly or humane, but still intervention—which has been dormant ever since the European war diverted attention from the situation nearer home, was immediately revived by the White House statement.

The events of the last 24 hours—the seizure by Carranza authorities of large quantities of corn purchased by the international relief committee, and the inability of the authorities at Vera Cruz and Mexico City to provide transportation for supplies to succor the ever-increasing bread line—brought about the determination to act.

Officials lately denied reports that Great Britain had been exerting pressure for the relief of conditions in Mexico. It was pointed out, however, that Du Val West, after spending three months investigating conditions in Mexico, reported in effect that none of the leaders had sufficient capacity to dominate the situation and it was said to have suggested that the United States must compel a settlement.

Mr. West reported on his mission last Tuesday to the president. He is the first man sent on a similar errand to Mexico who had a thorough acquaintance with the Mexican character.

His report is understood to have been pessimistic and to have emphasized the fondness for loot rather than patriotism among the warring factions; the incapability of the Mexican government to appreciate what constitutional government means; the steady degradation of the economic situation there; the people being on the verge of starvation and no food whatever in sight.

Moreover, he is said to have reported that no military development could be expected to bring immediate relief, because of the scarcity of arms and ammunition brought about by the sale of large quantities to Europe by American manufacturers.

The great hope of the American government now, it is said, is that its influence on the situation will be such as to bring about a coalition of the best elements to set up a provisional government which may be recognized.

The west report was a complete indictment of all the methods used by the leaders, and entirely discounted the situation with which they have been credited in the United States. Leaders were charged with robbing granaries and barns, exporting livestock and foodstuffs to the United States and safely depositing the money received for these goods in American banks, where they may keep it in safety.

About 1 per cent. of the population was reported as "soldiering," but the remainder are driven off or discouraged from gainful occupation by the certainty that whatever they produced would be seized by some wandering band.

Several cities were said to be under repeated levies for food and money for the combatants, while the strategic position was such that no one faction could hope to control the country.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Roula Sturtevant by her many friends, on Thursday evening at the home of her cousin, Miss Rowena Sturtevant, 21 North street. It proved a most enjoyable affair for the 20 girls who were there to participate in the many features. The principal attraction seemed to be the dining room, which was prettily decorated with pink and white being the prevailing colors. In the center of the table was a very large bouquet with a bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms. A line of pink ribbon was draped around the room from which many gifts, useful as well as ornamental, were suspended. Miss Helen Osgood carried off the honors and was loudly applauded for her numerous and original recitations. The girls departed at a late hour, wishing the prospective bride continued success and prosperity.

Lynn Slaughtered Powers' Offerings and
Humiliated Local ClubProgram for Big Meet Monday—Noted Run-
ners to Appear

(Special to The Sun)
LYNN, May 28.—Dick Durning, left-handed pitcher extraordinary of the Ocean Park stars, held the heavy hitting Lowell club to four scattered hits yesterday afternoon and incidentally shut them out in a one-sided argument by the score of 12-0. Durning had supreme command of the ball at all times and after the first inning not one Lowell player saw third base.

Seldom has a Lynn pitcher shown to so good advantage as Durning did yesterday and the Lowell hitters might just as well left their bats in the dug-out as to carry them to the platter. The Louisville lad issued but one free walk and had the Lowell batters slugging at his sharp curves which broke over the outside corner of the plate. He was given excellent support by his teammates.

Lynn on the other hand hammered the shoos of one Bill Powers, last year's star pitcher of the New London champions of the now dead Eastern association circuit, for 17 hits with a total of 23 bases. Powers early in the game gave up trying and lobbed the ball up to the Lynn hitters who playfully proceeded to their batting averages. It was Powers' debut with Lowell and if yesterday's game is a sample of his work he will soon acquire his walking ticket.

Every Lynn player scored one or more base hits, except Porter, Mike Lynch, Wheat Orcutt and Alie Moulton securing three fine safeties each off the offerings of Powers, with Lynch playing the stellar role with a three-bagger. In addition to hammering the ball so that the horsehide was almost egg-shaped, Lynn also hit wild on the bases, stealing nine bases on Greenhage and Egan. In this department of the game Orcutt was the principal, purloining three cushions, while Gleason hit a close field for that he had with two to his credit, one being on the head end of a double steal with Orcutt.

Lynn played like a team of champions and gobbled every attempt of Lowell to put men on the bases. Durning was given excellent support, although one error was charged to Mike Lynch for forcing Egan's safety in the fifth inning. This, however, did not do any material damage as two men were down when Mike slipped up. Harry Haight was a tower of strength behind the bat and his work yesterday stamped him as a backstop that will take no back water from any receiver in the league.

One bag was pilfered on Haight and it was a mighty close decision for Bransfield to decide. Haight ate up the bases, stealing nine bases on Greenhage and Egan. In this department of the game Orcutt was the principal, purloining three cushions, while Gleason hit a close field for that he had with two to his credit, one being on the head end of a double steal with Orcutt.

OFFICIALS FOR FOOTBALL GAMES
PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Officials for the more important football games next fall were chosen last night at a meeting of the Inter-Collegiate football rules' sub-committee on official James A. Babbitt of Haverford college president.

Tufts of Brown will referee and Fultz, also of Brown, will umpire the Yale-Harvard game, while Dr. Williams, Pennsylvania, will be field judge and Morice, Pennsylvania, head linesman. At the Princeton-Harvard contest, Langford of Trinity will referee; Williams, umpire; Pendleton, Bowdoin, will act as field judge and G. N. Barthart as linesman.

For the Yale-Princeton game the officials will be: Tufts, referee; Marshall, umpire; Morice, field judge; Pendleton, linesman.

A Vendor Shade will make a sleeping room of your piazza. The Thompson Hardware Co. are sole agents.

Edouard Fabre and Jim Henigan will start from scratch in the 10-mile race at Bunting park Monday afternoon. Official handicapper, McGrath looked over the list of entries for this event Thursday night, and decided that Henigan should start on even terms with the Montreal flyer.

Henigan has won many races at 10-mile distance, and his recent performances indicate speed of Cliff Horne's caliber. In fact, track experts are of the opinion that Henigan can defeat Horne at the present time.

Lowell fans remember Henigan's remarkable work at Bunting park last year, and many of them believe that Fabre will have a hard time making the pace for the durable and speedy Dorchester lad.

Other men entered in the 10-mile event, with handicaps, are as follows: Dominick St. Paul, Dorchester Athletic association, 500 yards; Martin J. Silver, West Newton, 246 yards; Leroy Davis, Bunting club, Exeter, N. H., 220 yards; Albert Nebes, Lowell, 600 yards; Albert Ives, Dorchester, 450 yards; J. F. Callahan, Dorchester Athletic association, 500 yards; Charles Horne, same, 320 yards; Fred Nagle, same, 250 yards; George H. Goddard, Lowell, 450 yards.

Lowell boys competing in the various events are handicapped as follows: 100 yards dash—Fred Silcox, three yards; George F. Haggerty, 51-2 yards; 220 yards—Fred Silcox, 61-2 yards; Geo. F. Haggerty, 10 yards.

440 yards—Geo. F. Haggerty, 22 yds; Guy C. Randall, 15 yds; 550 yards—Guy C. Randall, 28 yards; John P. Larratt, 10 yards; 10-mile run—Guy C. Randall, 55 yards; John P. Larratt, 90 yards; Ten-mile run—Albert Nebes, 600 yards; Geo. H. Goddard, 450 yards.

There is much interest about town in the reception to be given Fabre at the New American house tonight by the municipal council and business men of the city.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL FIELD DAY
The first field day of the Lowell Vocational school will be held on June 5 on the grounds of the Genoa club at Tyngsboro. Principal Thos. F. Fisher will have general charge and will be assisted by a committee consisting of Thomas J. Carlin and Harold Messer. According to present plans, pupils will leave at 9:30 o'clock and arrive at the grounds in time for a ball game between the pupils and instructors. At noon a special dinner will be served, and the afternoon will be given over to track events. A meeting will be held next Tuesday night at the old Mann school to make further arrangements for the affair.

PIRATE CREW AT THE OLD GAME OF UPSETTING EXPERT OPINION

PITTSBURGH, May 29.—Fred Clark's crew of Buccaneers seems to have upset the dope again. Picked for a second division berth by the experts, the Pirates are booming along, fighting and scrapping and behaving generally like pennant contenders. There are many reasons for this unlooked for department of supposedly hopeless tailenders, but there are three potent reasons which stand out in relief. These are Hinchman, Carey and Wagner. Carey and Wagner, the veterans, are playing a wonderful game in the field, and while not so strong at bat, still they are making enough timely bingles to win games, more than which none could ask for. Bill Hinchman, a newcomer, is batting and fielding like a veteran. His playing to date has been a revelation, and he is being generally hailed as the "find" of the year.

ST. JOHN'S ATHLETIC MEET
The athletic events scheduled for St. John's Preparatory college mammoth field day, June 17th, to be held under the direction of R. R. Osthouse, promise to be stellar attractions, as many entries are now being received from leading schools, societies and athletes all over New England. They will be held on Columbus oval, the school's spacious and well kept athletic field, and all entrants are assured the best of attention. Entry blanks may be procured by writing B. B. Osthouse, care St. John's Prep., Danvers, Mass., and entries are solicited for all events, especially for relay races. Suitable cups and prizes will be awarded the winners, and in relays, all members of the winning team will receive valuable trophies.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

In Hartford they are telling an interesting story about Al Bannwart, secretary of the Colonial league, holding up a string of jitties to form his auto parade there on opening day, to save expense. But Al claims one of the jitties owners doubled up on him when he came to paying off. This, of course, made Business Manager Herb McKinnon of the Hartford club smile.

Walter Haggood, in his "Along the Sport Trail" column in the Boston Herald writes the following interesting "dope":

The experiment of running a minor league outside the pale of organized baseball, an experiment that has several times been tried in the past and always culminated in failure, was formally inaugurated again last week with the opening games in the Colonial league. Conditions surrounding the debut of the Colonial league as an out-law organization are somewhat unique in that, instead of playing a lone hand as did the Tri-State and others that might be mentioned, the Colonial has the moral and financial support of the Federal league, which is today a bigger and more formidable power in the baseball world than O. B. or its spokesmen like to admit. Because of this Federal patronage it is believed that the Colonial league will go through the season—its friends predict for it a considerable measure of success, even though this is to be a heart-breaking year for the minor leagues as a whole.

The lambasting which the Cardinals handed the New York Nationals has not affected the high regard of McGraw as a manager of the latent power of the Giants.

"New York will be right up in the thick of the fight before the season is over," declared Midget Miller recently, "and probably before the season is finished. Mac has had a great deal with which to contend on account of injuries to his real standbys—players like Mathewson, Snodgrass, Markle and Perritt. This Perritt is a grand pitcher. He will win his 20 games before the end of the campaign. McGraw's greatest weakness so far has been in pitching. Until the weather settles he cannot hope to remedy the evil. But when summer does come some of these early pace-makers had better take a side track. You must remember that in spite of all, New York's tough luck team, with 126 games of the scheduled 154 remaining, though in last place, is just six and one-half games behind the leading Phillies."

Strong rivalry on the part of the Federal league with the International league club in Newark has led to many reports recently that Newark was to be dropped from the International league circuit and the team transferred to some Connecticut city, Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport being variously named. The reports were revived today with Bridgeport given as the city likely to get the club.

Times in Newark and of International league officials failed to reveal any present basis for the rumors, but in other quarters usually well informed as to the situation in the league, it was predicted that an international league circuit change was not unlikely before the season began to wane, with the probability that Bridgeport or some other Connecticut town would be asked to take over the Newark team. It was not believed, however, that any immediate switch in the circuit was impending.

There is one thing which the umpires in the circuit should be instructed not to allow, and that is expressions of profanity on the ball field. This has happened several times this season at Riverside park, and yesterday when a protest was made from the Lewiston bench against a decision of the umpire, the expression was audible in the grandstand, even after the umpire had

WIND PLAYS HAVOC WITH SHAKY TREES

Big Elm Falls on House in Mill Street — Trees and Branches Down All Over City

The high winds of the last two days have played havoc with trees in and about Lowell and several persons had narrow escapes from injuries, serious or otherwise. This afternoon the wind tore a limb from a tree opposite city hall. The limb fell in a narrow alleyway between the city hall and the house in Mill street. The limb fell in a narrow alleyway between the city hall and the house in Mill street. The limb fell in a narrow alleyway between the city hall and the house in Mill street.

There are hundreds of trees that should be taken down, said John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, today. "I think $1000 appropriated for that purpose will not go very far. These trees are a menace to public safety and I am going to remove as many as can be removed for $1000. I will go the limit and I wish I had more tree money, for there is no knowing when one of these trees will fall and kill or maim somebody for life. The harm done by a single tree might cost the city more than the amount appropriated for trees for the last ten years. The element of danger connected with had or dead trees is too great to be passed over lightly."

Branches of the tree that fell on the Mill street house penetrated the roof and Mr. Kernan stated today that his men worked all day yesterday and all last night on fallen trees and branches. Another huge elm was blown down in Riverside street and trees and branches were reported down in Gates street, Middlesex village, Stevens, Andover and School streets. A towering dead elm at 654 School street also succumbed to the high winds. Narrow escapes were reported in several instances and Supt. Kernan was free to admit today

SCHOOL PROBLEM GOOD POSITION

Another Annex Necessary Before New High School is Ready

So much has been said about the plan for a new high school that the authorities seem to have lost sight of the fact that another overflow of high school pupils will have to be provided for before the new school is built and this will mean the occupancy of the other half of the Varnum house in Kirk street and at an expense of about $5000.

This fact was brought out at an informal discussion of the high school proposition at city hall today. The man who sprang it is interested in school matters and he said he had learned from Commissioner Putnam that it would be at least one year and a half before the new high school would be ready for occupancy. This man is not very much in favor of the present school plan. "The city will have to afford accommodations for between 50 and 100 new high school pupils next year," he said, "and the new high school will not be ready for them. This will mean the making ready of the other half of the Varnum house and it will cost at least $5000 to fix up the necessary rooms there. The overflow will require at least four rooms."

The grammar situation, too, must be looked after. Additions are needed at the Lincoln, Bartlett and Highland grammar schools. These schools are not offering the proper accommodations at the present time and in each of the schools there are anywhere from 50 to 100 pupils more than can be properly cared for. These are conditions that must be remedied at once and it looks to me as if the city should borrow the money for 'school purposes' rather than for a 'high school'."

"One other thing that I think perhaps is being overlooked," the present plan includes an industrial school. The state assists in the maintenance of an industrial school and, as I understand it, the plans for any school assisted by the state must be approved by the state board of education."

Former Lowell Station Agent Now Manager of Transfer Company

William J. Doherty, a former station agent for the Boston & Maine railroad in this city, has been appointed general manager of the Armstrong Transfer company and will take control on June 1. At present Mr. Doherty is superintendent of terminals for the port directors of Boston.

Mr. Doherty was born in Watertown

WILLIAM J. DOHERTY

in 1872 and attended the Watertown public schools. He entered the employ of the Boston & Maine railroad as a messenger in 1889 and was with the company nearly 25 years.

He succeeded Herbert C. Taft as station agent here and was in Lowell but a few months when he was made superintendent of terminals for the port directors of Boston.

FIRE AT HUDSON

Dwelling Burned at Old Nashua Estate—Fireman Fatally Hurt

A fire that started on the Lowell road in Hudson, N. H., about the noon hour destroyed a fine old residence on what was formerly the Varnum estate not far from the overhead bridge. The Nashua fire department fought the flames and Fireman Gay sustained a fracture of the skull by falling from a roof. Sparks from the burning building set fire to some wood and timber land a mile away, but was extinguished before any very serious damage was done. The residence and other buildings destroyed were valued at $1000 and the total damage was estimated at $5000. The cause of the fire is unknown. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon it was stated that Fireman Gay's condition was very serious.

that the tree business is getting on his nerves

The superintendent of parks has always been in favor of a fountain in the South common and he annexed a little idea a few days ago that is tickling him almost to death. He discovered a three-inch pipe in the bottom of the South common pool and said John to John, talking to himself, like, here's where I got a chance to use my bean. Well, to make a long story short, the resourceful John brought the pipe up to the surface of the water, reducing it to one-eighth of an inch with the result that a small geyser-like stream, 30 feet high, is working overtime. The children enjoy it immensely and Mr. Kernan is thinking quite seriously of having it patented. The force of water from the 3-inch to the 1/8-inch pipe is sufficient to send it up for a distance of 30 feet, and Mr. Kernan says the whole thing didn't cost more than 75 cents.

Memorial Hall Building

Commissioner Putnam stated today that only the roof of the Memorial building would be restored this summer and plans for the roof will be ready in a few days. Librarian Chase wants a new ventilating system as it has been found that some of the ducts are leaking and while it is possible to get all the heat necessary it is impossible to get all of the foul air out. The system has been investigated and Commissioner Putnam awaits a report of the investigation.

LOWELL MAN MISSING

The whereabouts of Henri Lefebvre of this city, who left Lowell last September, is still a mystery to his wife and children, despite their efforts to locate him. It was stated that the young man had enlisted in the Canadian army at St. Jean, Que., but this was denied by the war authorities at Ottawa, though it was admitted that the young man might have enlisted under a fictitious name.

It will be recalled that last September Mr. Lefebvre, who is the father of several children, left his home and not a word was received from him until several weeks later, at which time a cousin, Mr. Lefebvre met him in Montreal, Que. At that time Mr. Lefebvre informed his wife's cousin he would write and send money to his family, but, according to his wife's story, he failed to keep his promise.

A few weeks ago while the 22d Royal Canadian regiment was camping at St. Jean, Que., a Lowell man, who made a trip up north, returned with the information that he had seen Mr. Lefebvre at St. Jean. He said the young man wore the military uniform and had enlisted to go abroad.

With this bit of information, Mrs. Lefebvre, who makes her home with her mother, Mrs. Jane Van de Cruysen, 611 Merrimack street, wrote to Hon. Samuel Hughes, minister of militia and defense for Canada, asking him for information concerning her husband, whom it was said had enlisted in the Royal regiment. Mrs. Lefebvre received a reply from the Canadian minister a few days ago to the effect that the name of Henri Lefebvre could not be located on the payroll. The letter also stated that two, or three young men by that name had enlisted but were discharged. The minister stated that Lefebvre might be in the regiment under a fictitious name, and if any other information could be obtained he would write at once.

Wash Skirts That FIT

AFTER THEY ARE WASHED AS WELL AS BEFORE

—Made by the Wooltex tailors

The materials—and even the belting—are pre-shrunk. Something we can find in no other make of wash skirts.

Ordinarily, you buy a wash skirt an inch or more too large around the waist and shrink it to fit. Or, if you buy one to fit, it is too small after it is laundered, and you must make it over. You needn't worry about the laundry shrinking these skirts. Select one that fits comfortably. A half-inch is plenty to allow for future shrinking, even if the skirt is laundered every week.

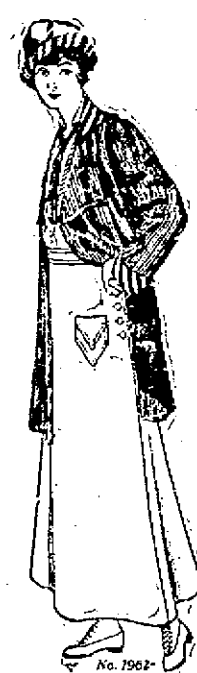

These Pre-Shrunk Wash Skirts have the reinforced waist band that is so well known to every wearer of Wooltex tailored skirts. It is always trim and neat. Does not curl or wrinkle.

Sports of All Descriptions Are in Bad Condition in England

With no county cricket games being played this summer, all lawn tennis tournaments, golf championships, the principal athletic meetings, cancelled and horse racing meetings, with the exception of Newmarket, abandoned during the continuation of the war, sport throughout the British Isles has reached the lowest ebb on record.

At the recent meeting of the Marylebone Cricket Club, the governing body of county cricket, Lord Hawke gave out that no fewer than 2,112 members had gone on active service, sixty-nine of whom had been killed in action. Surrey, who gained the cricket championship last season, have just issued their balance sheet, showing a profit of $323 on the season's work, and with Nottinghamshire, are the only counties so far to announce a balance on the right side.

IN TANGO RESTAURANTS

CRUSADE AGAINST CABARETS OF BROADWAY BEGUN IN NEW YORK COURT

NEW YORK, May 25.—The crusade against tango restaurants and cabarets of Broadway was begun today with the arraignment in police court of the proprietor of one restaurant and the manager of another on charges of giving theatrical performances without a license. So elaborate is the cabaret at each of the places, it was charged, that it has developed into a theatrical entertainment.

The dance hall licenses under which the defendants operate cost but $50 while a theatrical license costs $500. It is believed that the arrests today are the forerunners of others, designed to bring the cabarets under stricter supervision. A committee of fourteen, headed by Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, investigating conditions in popular tango and cabaret restaurants, claims to have uncovered vicious and immoral conditions in some of the establishments.

NEW START AFTER WAR

Greatest International Race That World Has Ever Witnessed Coming, Says Judge Gary

NEW YORK, May 28.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation and president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, in an address today at the annual meeting of the institute, declared that after the war there would be seen among the nations the most persistent efforts to succeed in the international race for supremacy that the world has ever witnessed. The place the United States will occupy depends much upon our management of affairs, he said. "After all differences are adjusted," said Judge Gary, "the nations now or to be engaged in this colossal conflict, though terribly crippled, will take a new start, and in many respects a new course, and will begin immediately to build on a better and firmer and more permanent basis for success and high achievement in everything that adds to national wealth, power, energy and enterprise. These nations will not remain inactive or despondent, or indifferent. We shall see the most active and persistent efforts to rebuild and extend and to succeed in the international race for supremacy that the world has ever witnessed.

From adversity will come greater prosperity than ever before. From necessity will spring thought and study and effort that will enable the survivors to reach greater heights of success than ever before supposed to be within the reach of human kind. The peoples of all the different countries, suffering in their thoughts of the past, will be inspired to greater exertions in their efforts for the future. It is not too much to believe that, after the close of the war, there will be a feeling almost universal that there must be established and maintained a court of arbitration—simple, comprehensive, effective and permanent—that will secure the adjustment of all future differences without any protracted or general contest by armed forces. A majority of the nations will, to use an ordinary paradox, "secure and maintain peace if they have to fight for it."

United States Should Get Ready

"Now what should the United States prepare for? If we conduct our affairs properly, if we make the most of our opportunities, if we cooperate with one another, if the government and governmental agencies and the business people all ally one with the other, we shall become stronger and richer, and more potent in our influence, and we shall be able to occupy a position in the van of nations, progressing toward results more satisfactory than ever before. I made the statement long before the war, and I am sure the future, that we might become the leading nation in finance, commerce and industry. There has never in the history of the world been so great a necessity for wise and disinterested statesmanship or for loyal and honorable conduct on the part of the practical business men as at present."

Pointing to the probability of a great extension after the war of the nation's commerce, Judge Gary advocated a stronger navy.

"Rocking the Boat"

"We must not remain in a position," he said, "which permits the navy of any other country to dominate the seas."

Judge Gary also made a plea for more encouragement by the government of business enterprise and expansion of the opinion that "the lack of continuous business prosperity and success in this country for a number of years has, in part, been the direct result of undue, ill-considered or unjustifiable assaults which have been made by governmental agencies or by irascible and unwise policies of different branches or departments of government."

"There has been an admonition," he said, "against 'rocking the boat' and we approve the sentiment; but we submit the business men have not been rocking the boat."

PARIS, May 28, 3:55 p. m.—The French minister of marine today gave out an official announcement which reads as follows:

The day when this was supposed to have happened the Panteleimon was in a Russian port and no vessel of the Russian Black sea squadron has been either sent to the bottom or wrecked."

The announcement referred to in the foregoing despatch came from Constantinople by way of Berlin and London on May 23. It set forth briefly that the Russian battleship Panteleimon had been torpedoed May 22 near the entrance to the Bosphorus by a Turkish submarine.

LEADING BATTERS

Luderus Leads National, Cobb American—Tom Daly Second

CHICAGO, May 29.—Every team in the National league except St. Louis, has a representative among the leading hitters, according to averages published here today, including the games of last Wednesday. Boston leads in the number, with three. Fred Luderus, Philadelphia, continues to set the pace, with a percentage of 330. Then come T. Clarke, Cincinnati, 320; Good, Chicago, 314; Connolly, Boston, 311; Grech, Cincinnati, 306; Daubert, Brooklyn, 307; J. Smith, Boston, 305; Merkle, New York, 305; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, 315; Rodolph, Boston, 310; Chicago, and Cincinnati are tied for the leadership in club batting at 261. Bresnahan's eleven thefts still are high water mark. Saler, Chicago, holds scoring honors with 28.

With five victories and no defeats, Pierce of Chicago leads the pitchers. Coombs, Brooklyn, is credited with three wins and no losses; and Samuels, Chicago, Meadows, St. Louis, and Lavender, Chicago, each two and none.

Ty Cobb ran his average up from .400 to .427 in the past week and has accumulated 19 stolen bases, leading his rivals of the American league as well in runs scored—a total of 41. Following Cobb, the leaders in hitting are: Daly, Chicago, 421; Russell, Chicago, 400; Fournier, Chicago, 378; Jackson, Cleveland, 355; Crawford, Detroit, 341; Ruth, Boston, 333; Kavanagh, Detroit, 322; Lajoie, Philadelphia, 307; Shotton, St. Louis, 306; Strunk, Philadelphia and McIntire, Philadelphia, tied for tenth at 305. Philadelphia with 265 and Chicago with 260 lead the clubs.

Credited with four victories and no defeats, Benz, Chicago, ranks first among the pitchers. Jones of Cleveland, has won 1 and lost none; Faber, Chicago, 1 and 1; and Fisher, New York 6 and 1.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET

CORNELL VIRTUALLY CONCEDED THE CHAMPIONSHIP—FIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—With Cornell virtually conceding the championship, having been qualified in every event on the program, interest in the final day's competition in the intercollegiate track and field meet today centered primarily on the fight for the other positions between Harvard, Yale and Pennsylvania.

Semi-final and final heats in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 120 and 200-yard hurdles and finals in the quarter and half-mile runs, together with the mile and two-mile races, were the track events on the schedule. In the field events—the hammer, shot, pole vault, high and broad jumps—the six best in yesterday's trials competed for the five places in every event.

Harvard's great showing in the trial track events made her the favorite for second place and she was also believed to have best chance to contest Cornell's claims to supremacy. The latter, however, is assured of many points in the field events, while the Crimson will have to fight it out with strong competitors for all the points she makes.

WHITE WAY PARADE

Continued

disenx street depot and everybody voted the affair a huge success.

Parade Notes

The fourteen teams from Saunders' market was a feature of the parade that everybody appreciated, and when it came to color the "white way" had nothing on the drivers.

Did you notice the skill and dexterity with which Peter Flood guided those six horses of the O. P. Davis stable through the intricate movements made necessary because of the semi-blockade? Those horses were practically strangers to each other, and Peter had to do all the entertaining. Mr. Flood is some whip.

What's the matter with the Metal Workers? They're all right.

The fellows who rode in French's auto allowed they had the best seats at the show.

The high school boys covered themselves with glory. Everybody was proud of them. Yet some of the companies had serious ranks.

Charlie Keyes, the auctioneer, is a pretty good judge of crowds, and Charlie estimated last night's crowd at about 100,000.

With his usual progressiveness, Mine Host Henry W. Garrity of the Old Washington tavern was there with the big league stuff. He staged an open air minstrel show on the balcony of his hostelry and gave amusement to a vast crowd. It was quite an elaborate affair and those favored with seats on the balcony, not only enjoyed the show but were favored with an excellent view of the parade. Those so favored included Chief of Police McKenna of Lawrence and Mrs. McKenna, Deputy Sheriff Martin Conway, Hon. James B. Casey, Joseph Jennings, ex-Councilman Thomas J. Corbett and many others.

According to Assistant City Messenger C. P. Cronin, more people visited city hall last evening than ever before.

The high school boys were given a great hand as they marched into Merrimack street from Cabot street. They made the corner in true military fashion.

City Clerk Flynn entertained a large number of visitors at his office during the progress of the parade.

The large crowd at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets greatly enjoyed the procession but were slightly annoyed by an over-enthusiastic citizen, who insisted on sticking red fire into their faces.

Many of the out-of-town visitors were surprised to learn that the merchants did not keep their stores open last night.

That despite the spirit of cordiality and hospitality that was evident on all sides last evening, there was one place on the parade that was not respected, and that was on the street cars where the "end seat hogs" were out in large numbers.

The battery from Lawrence made a fine appearance. Their trip over the river did not worry them in the least and they repeated it when the celebration was over.

City Messenger Monahan and his assistants were kept on the jump last night, showing visitors through the municipal palace.

A city hall clerk remarked last night that he never thought there were so many people right here in Lowell who had not previously inspected city hall.

Secretary John Cull had charge of the mayor's office last night and was kept quite busy showing the silver snuff that was presented to the mayor.

The clerks in the city engineer's office were very courteous and went back several times to turn on the lights to accommodate belated visitors.

All of the hotels were well patronized after the parade and they deserved it, because they offered good attractions. Their menus were the best and the favors offered were most provoking. To say the least, there was good music, and in some instances cabaret shows. The dining rooms, ice cream parlors and soda fountains did a prosperous business.

Among the out-of-town visitors who greatly enjoyed the white way celebration last evening was Edouard Fabre, the famous Canadian runner. Fabre came to Lowell to participate in the Brinton field games Monday. He is staying at the New American hotel. Reception in his honor will be held there at 8 o'clock and he will extend a glad hand to all who call.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

The public service commission will give a hearing at 1 Beacon street, Boston, Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock on the extension of the car tracks on Varian avenue. Residents of Varian avenue met last night and made arrangements to attend the hearing. Members of the municipal council will also attend the hearing.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Col. William F. Fell, C. S. B. of England, lectured on Christian Science at Colonial hall last night. The speaker was introduced by Elmore J. Chamberlain. As to the teachings of Christian Science, the speaker said:

Christian Science teaches us to worship God in His address. In His fullness of life, truth and love, as some grand loving human being on a cloud or throne, such a one cannot be omnipotent. Only as divine mind, infinite principle, life, truth and love can God be discerned. These terms refer to one absolute God and express the infinite.

Her Sons the First to Respond to Call to Arms in '61—Lowell Men Played Prominent Part in War of Rebellion

No city in the country has a prouder record in the war of rebellion than Lowell, which sent out the earliest volunteers in response to the call to arms in '61, and whose citizens were the first to shed their blood for the old flag. During the war Lowell was ably represented by two generals, Butler and Ames while at Washington, a Lowell man, Gustavus Fox directed the efforts of the navy.

The Lowell survivors of the conflict are organized into three Grand Army posts, whose ranks are slowly but surely thinning as the years roll by. Since the last Memorial day the ranks have been depleted to the extent of 23 well known members whose names are as follows:

Anthony Rivers, Peter Donohoe, Edward S. Wheeler, John McManus, Joseph F. Fuller, Roscovius Brown, William H. Ward, John M. Kingsbury, James Abbott, Joseph Keefe, George A. Abbott, David Carr, James B. Thompson, William A. Winslow, Charles H. Frost, Thomas Burns, William H. Bent, James F. Smith, Edward Wheeler, James J. Gerrish, George M. Foster, Richard Monahan, Jesse G. Courser, Patrick O'Brien, Benjamin Page, Charles H. Hurdley, Wyatt Monahan and William McCoy.

Below is given a brief history of the three Grand Army posts of Lowell, as follows:

H. F. Butler Post 42

It was to be expected that the men who had risked their lives on the battlefield would organize, and accordingly the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic was formed at Springfield, Ill., in 1866.

This B. F. Butler Post 42, G. A. R., of this city, held its first meeting January 26, 1867. The members have served in a great many campaigns all over the country and had figured in practically every great battle of the war. The first place of meeting was in the old Mechanics hall in Dutton street, and subsequently the post met at the corner of Central and Central streets, but finally shifted to Memorial hall.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, for whom the post was named, was mustered in as a comrade in 1855 and was interested in the Grand Army until his death. The membership has been yearly growing less in number but those who remain are still loyal to the Grand Army and as deeply as ever interested in the progress, prosperity and perpetuity of this republic.

The list of past commanders is as follows: George A. Marlen, Alpha B. Farr, General Fiske, Charles H. Kimball, Charles H. Richardson, Edward W. Thompson, John A. G. Richardson, Albert L. Pindar, George W. Hinton, Major Charles A. Stott, George W. Worthen, Frank B. Peabody, John J. Dolan, James B. Fulton, Gen. C. A. R. Hinton, William H. L. Hayes, John Walker, Edward T. Rowell and George McIntire.

James A. Garfield, Post 120, G. A. R., which was named for the martyred president of the United States, is composed of men who played very prominent parts during the Civil war. While many of the members have died, others have moved out of the city and have been transferred to other posts.

When the call to arms was sounded in 1861 people flocked from all over the northern part of the country to fight in the Union cause, and the abolition of slavery and among the men who responded were the present members of Post 120, G. A. R. Inasmuch as many members belonged in other parts of the country prior to the war all of the members of the post did not enlist in this state, but the majority of them fought in the Massachusetts regiments and participated in the principal battles of the war. The post was formed on Oct. 28, 1881, and the first president of the organization was the late Charles H. Coburn, a prominent Lowell business man. At one time there were 100 active members, but many have been mustered out, while others have moved out of the city. Every year sees a thinning in the ranks, while the survivors are fast sinking under the weight of years. The memory of the dead, however, is cherished by the Grand Army and at every Memorial day the graves of the veterans are decorated and memorial services held. Posts 42 and 120 cooperate in the keeping of a burial lot in the Lowell cemetery where the deceased brethren without means are laid at rest. These two posts have had this burial lot for about 15 years.

The members of Post 120 meet every Wednesday night in the Mechanics bank building in Merrimack street. The attendance is usually very good and at the conclusion of the business meeting a social session is held. About four times a year camp fires are in order and those who have had the pleasure of being present at one of these are always ready to accept the invitation to another.

The department of Massachusetts Grand Army of the Republic granted a charter to J. P. Mansfield and others, and the Ladd & Whitney post No. 155, G. A. R., was instituted Wednesday, April 14, 1886, by Lead Wales, department inspector, in Lythian hall. One hundred and ninety comrades who answered to their names were mustered and obligated; of this number 79 were received by transfer from other G. A. R. posts and 111 were Civil war veterans who had never joined the Grand Army before.

The following comrades were elected and installed as officers of the post by Department Commander Richard F. Tobin: Dr. George E. Pinkham, commander; J. Hamilton, senior vice commander; W. M. Green, junior vice commander; C. M. Fisk, surgeon; A. W. Weeks, chaplain; Frank Coburn, quartermaster; Samuel George, officer of the day; J. A. Peavey, officer of guard; Geo. H. Richardson, adjutant.

A recess until Friday evening was declared and at that time 21 new members were received.

and six transfers were received, making the post 217 members. 132 recruits and 85 from other G. A. R. posts.

A month after the inception of the post the members were grieved to lose one of their comrades, Henry A. Fletcher, who was mustered out May 17, 1886. The post occupied quarters in Post 120 hall for about a year, holding meetings every Thursday evening. On July 28, 1887, the post secured for its headquarters the upper floor of Wyman's Exchange and changed its meeting night to Wednesday. The post was obliged to vacate the rooms in Wyman's Exchange on Jan. 1, 1899, and new quarters were taken up over Cook, Taylor & Co.'s store in Central street, but, like the hall it had previously occupied, the comrades have many weary flights of stairs that become more difficult to climb every year.

The year 1893 was eventful. Early in January the post with many G. A. R. posts of the city and vicinity assisted at the burial services of a distinguished member of the order, Gen. Benjamin F. Butler. The dedication of Memorial hall followed, and the assignment of the three posts to quarters in the building was made.

The following comrades have served as commanders since the inception of the post: Dr. George E. Pinkham, 1886; Charles H. Richardson, 1887-1894; A. A. Davis, 1895; F. S. Peavey, 1895; J. D. S. Baldwin, 1895; A. W. Weeks, 1895; C. W. Woodward, 1897; J. H. Caverly, 1897-1913-14; Andrew Liddell, 1897; D. A. Brown, 1898; C. T. Fish, 1898; Arthur Hamblett, 1897; J. A. Bartlett, 1898-9; E. A. Robinson, 1900; J. Q. A. Ferguson, 1901; J. P. Bachelder, 1902-03; J. B. Wilson, 1905; W. H. Worcester, 1906; A. F. Gilman, 1907; Amos Winters, 1908; M. A. Condry, 1909; George L. Adams, 1910-11.

The present officers of the post are as follows: John H. Caverly, commander; J. Adams Bartlett, senior vice commander; Franklin S. Peavey, junior vice commander; J. M. Spurr, adjutant; William A. Arnold, quartermaster; W. B. Boudinot, surgeon; Amos Winters, chaplain; Albert I. Gilman, officer of the day; B. S. Clough, officer of the guard.

Thin Girls, Cut This Out

The expressions of happiness and gratitude of several of our young lady patients for whom he prescribed the recently successful flesh-forming product, known as "a-grain tonine" tablets, is related by a physician in one of the medical publications, and it comes as a surprise to the ordinary layman to learn the heart throbs of distress which seems to affect so many young people who are abnormally thin. Also to know that the weight can be so readily increased by the use, regularly for a short time of this new treatment now obtainable at druggists in sealed packages with complete instructions for self-administration. ## TYNGSBORO FIRE SUITS

Very Interesting Demonstration as to Action of Wind by Col. Ames Relative to Sparks

One of the chief witnesses at yesterday afternoon's session of the superior court in the Tyngsboro fire cases against the Boston & Maine railroad was Col. Butler Ames, who was called in as an expert. In the course of his testimony the colonel said that the wind which blew toward the river on the day of the fire, over the roof of the store building from west to east, and its course being obstructed by the building a reverse swirl was set in motion, which caused the sparks to be blown back, from east to west onto the building.

He said this was a law of nature just as immutable as the law of gravitation. While the colonel was testifying, cardboard models of the buildings drawn to scale, were produced, and an electric fan was set in motion, to blow in the corresponding direction, relatively to the models, to the direction of the wind which blew toward the fire. Then smoke was blown through a tube made to resemble the smokestack of a locomotive, and the smoke was blown back from east to west, as Col. Ames had testified. The demonstration was the most unusual and interesting that has been seen in court for years.

John A. Stevens, a consulting engineer also testified as an expert, and his testimony covered a wide range from the difference in capacity of ignition, between a locomotive spark and a candle from the chimney of the factory, to conditions produced by the passing trains rounding a curve such as that at Tyngsboro. At the close of yesterday afternoon's session court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

GRAND ARMY PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

DR. C. E. SANDERS
Chief Marshal Memorial Day Parade

HIS SERVICE IN THE CIVIL WAR

Dr. Charles E. Sanders, who will act as chief marshal of the Memorial Day parade is one of the best known physicians of this city. He is a member of Post 185 and one of the oldest physicians in Lowell.

Dr. Sanders was born in Lowell in 1844 and received his early education in this city. Later he attended the Berwick academy and graduated in medicine from Bowdoin college.

On Aug. 11, 1862, he enlisted in the 13th New Hampshire regiment, in which he served 18 months, and then got a commission as first lieutenant in the 40th U. S. (colored) regiment. With his company of 65 men the young lieutenant was prominent in the battle of Crater, where he was made prisoner, being kept at Columbia, S. C., as a prisoner of war for seven months.

Dr. Sanders was mustered out of the service on Dec. 23, 1865, and in 1869 he returned to Lowell to practice his profession. After being away from Lowell for a number of years, the doctor returned to his native city some 22 years ago and has remained here since, serving for many years on the pension board, from which he retired a few years ago. In the Memorial Day parade the doctor will wear the sash which he wore at the Crater battle, and which he keeps and cherishes with the greatest pride.

On Monday next, over 50 years after the close of the Civil war, 120 veterans, or thereabout, of that war, will participate in the annual Memorial day parade, a day of memory as unique as it is beautiful. At a season when nature is fairest and sweetest, and the promise that seed time and harvest shall not fail is again renewed in a land of beauty and plenty and peace, we pause for a time to consider the sacrifice which made what we are, and to express in flowers, as it were, our gratitude to the heroes who sleep beneath the mounds hallowed by their dust.

The Civil war veterans will not be the only ones to join in the parade, but they are foremost to claim our attention, because we remember the long ago, when the national life was imperiled. Fifty years have changed the boys of sixties, and as they place their tributes over the hearts of their comrades of yore, visions of the past rise before their fading sight and they are young again.

ETHIOPE TORPEDOED IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

A member of Germany's under-sea fleet, which is prosecuting its most active and successful campaign of the war, has sent to the bottom another British merchantman. The Ethiopia, of 2475 tons net, was torpedoed last night in the English channel, after her crew had been permitted to embark in small boats.

German Dirigible Lost

A German dirigible which sailed Southend, on the Thames, three days ago, is believed to have been lost. A message to Geneva from Friedrichshafen, the home of the Zeppelins, states that the dirigible was struck by a shell, and, on account of loss of gas was forced to descend in the North sea. The fate of her crew is unknown.

Italians Continue to Gain

Geneva advices represent the Italian armies as pushing further toward Trent and Trieste. The forces advancing in Trent are bombarding Riva, within 11 miles of that city, after having captured the town of Storo north of Lake Idro. In the invasion along the eastern end of the front, north of the Gulf of Trieste, the Italians have reached the vicinity of Gradisca, 14 miles from the city of Trieste.

The official communications record no important changes in France or Belgium.

Italians Advancing

Armies of Italy are drawing nearer Trent and Trieste, the principal cities of the territory over which Italy went to war. Little news of the campaign is received from Italy, on account of a rigid censorship, but despatches from Geneva state that the Italians are still advancing. Near Goritz the Austrians offered determined resistance, leading to fierce bayonet fighting. In Trieste and Italian disorders are reported, and anti-Italian disorders are said to have fled.

50,000 Turkish Troops

Turkey now has about 50,000 soldiers on Gallipoli peninsula. It is estimated at Athens and is bringing reinforcements from Syria, concentrating her efforts on the defense of Constantinople. On this account offensive operations in the Caucasus have been abandoned and the Russian army is pressing forward steadily from the Province of Van. The Turks are said to be threatened with a shortage of ammunition.

Austro-German Advance

The Austro-German advance in Galicia is still being prosecuted with success, except for the Russian victory on the San at Sieniawa. Reports from Vienna indicate the maneuvers designed to isolate Przemyśl are proceeding unchecked and that this fortress may soon be surrounded.

ITALIANS CAPTURE TOWN OF STORO AND BOMBARD RIVA

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 29, via Paris, 2.15 p. m.—The Italians after a severe fight along the frontier north of Lake Idro have captured the town of Storo and are now bombarding Riva.

On the eastern front, north of the Gulf of Trieste, havenet fighting is in progress south of Goritz. The Austrians are retreating slowly. Italian forces have arrived before Gradisca, about 16 miles from Trieste.

The Italian authorities issued an order last night prohibiting Austrians and Germans from leaving the country.

BRITISH STEAMER ELDER DEMPSTER TORPEDOED AND SUNK

LIVERPOOL, May 29, 1.04 p. m.—The Elder Dempster line steamer Ethiopia has been torpedoed and sunk.

The chief officer and 16 men of the Ethiopia have been picked up. The rest of the crew is supposed to be in boats.

STEAMER SAXONIA RESCUES CAPTAIN AND 16 OF CREW OF BRITISH STEAMER

FALMOUTH, May 29, 2.20 p. m.—The steamer Saxonia brought into this port late last night Capt. McDonald and 16 members of the crew of the Ethiopia. They were picked up while drifting about in a small boat. Sixteen other members of the crew, in another boat, have not been reported as yet.

The Ethiopia was proceeding down the channel at 9.30 o'clock last night when the report of a gun was heard and a shot crossed her bows. A submarine which appeared to be about 300 feet long came into sight. The Ethiopia attempted to escape, but two more shots were fired and the vessel was stopped.

The commander of the submarine gave the men on the Ethiopia five minutes in which to take to the boats and then torpedoed the steamer. She sank five minutes later.

The Ethiopia, of 2475 tons net, was built in 1906 and was owned in Liverpool. She was 340 feet long. She was last reported as arriving at Hull, England, on April 22 from Lagos. The Ethiopia was bound from Hull to

WILL OF DR. C. E. BOLLES

GERMAN REPLY NOT YET DELIVERED TO GERARD

Ambassador Says it Contains Request for Agreement on Facts in Lusitania Case

can lives should be lost.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—On the eve of Germany's reply to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania there are indications that President Wilson will take the position that if Germany wishes to conduct a long diplomatic negotiation she first shall suspend submarine warfare on American ships or those carrying American lives. It was expected here that the German note might be delivered any hour today to Ambassador Gerard. The first official despatches from Europe gave no intimation of the situation and officials were of the opinion that should the document be delivered to the American embassy today it might not reach Washington much before Monday. They had no official intimation of its contents.

The passing of three weeks, however, since the Lusitania was torpedoed has not diminished the tension in high official quarters, where the conviction prevails that President Wilson feels Germany should make an early disavowal of any intention that American lives should be lost.

Admit Hitting Guiltlight

The admission by the German admiralty that a German submarine torpedoed the American steamer Guilford without warning is taken to confirm the conclusion of the Washington government, reached before the Lusitania note was sent. Reports from Berlin state that the German submarine commander had said close investigation of the neutral or belligerent character of the Guilford was dangerous because she was in the company of two British patrol boats and was pointed out by officials as proof of their contention that German submarine commanders without visit and search, or at least warning, may subject all American vessels to the same risks as belligerent craft.

Ambassador Gerard reported today that while the German reply to the American note had not yet been delivered to him, he knew that it contained a request for an agreement on the facts in the Lusitania case.

WARNING TO MEXICANS

WASHINGTON, May 29.—President Wilson's forthcoming statement on the Mexican situation will contain a detailed review of conditions and serve a warning on the factional leaders that the United States will insist on an improvement of the internal situation.

While officials refused today to discuss what alternative the president has in mind it was broadly intimated that the administration is determined to take such steps as may be necessary. The statement has been written by President Wilson himself, on his typewriter in his study, and is said to contain about 1500 words. It will be forwarded to the various Mexican leaders through American agents. It is said to be based on the conclusion that conditions in Mexico have come to such a state that the United States as the southern republic's "next friend" must see to it that there is a change.

An embargo on the exportation of arms from the United States is understood to have been under consideration. The report to President Wilson by Duval West who recently returned from Mexico is said to have pictured the apparent inability of any faction to get command of the situation.

The president, however, it was understood today, did not determine on his plan on Mr. West's report alone, but took those facts in connection with much other data that has been coming to him for months.

American Red Cross supplies for the famine sufferers are to be concentrated in three great government warehouses at Galveston, Laredo and El Paso. Negotiations with Carranza and Villa in authorities to open the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City are progressing and the Red Cross authorities propose to have supplies ready.

Letters to the governor of every state, many prominent men and to some interested parties in Mexico, asking co-operation, were sent out today by Red Cross headquarters.

BELIEVE FIRE SET

County Authorities at Gilmanton Iron Works,
N. H. Investigate

GILMANTON IRON WORKS, N. H., May 29.—County Solicitor John M. McGeorge of Tilton, Sheriff Philbrick of Laconia, with the selectmen, yesterday investigated the conflagration which wiped out the business section of this town early yesterday morning and believe it was the work of an incendiary. There were at least two attempts made to burn certain buildings last night, they believe.

Mrs. Jennie Keyes, owner of one of the houses destroyed, was awakened about midnight and put out a fire in the rear of her home by dousing it with a few pails of water. It was about two hours later that Mrs. Keyes discovered the fire at the Osborne Price

buildings, which were the first to go. The county authorities are looking for Mrs. M. C. Tuttle, a former Boston resident, whose husband was once a member of the Boston police force, owing to her alleged threats to burn the Keyes building. She has lived here several years. Mrs. Tuttle was last seen driving toward Laconia at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Tuttle's son Charles, aged 11 years, was boarding at the house of Mrs. Keyes and, it is alleged, the two women were at odds over the boy. Tracks of a woman were found leading from the road to the back of the Price barn. A horse-drawn car was found back of the barn.

State Attorney Tuttle of Manchester conferred last night with the county officials regarding the case.

The total loss is put at $50,000. As there is no industry here, it is doubtful if any of the homes will be rebuilt.

Many people made homeless are being cared for by others, whose dwellings escaped the flames. The postoffice was moved to a nearby hotel. There was very little mail matter lost. Firemen were handicapped on account of no water supply and strong wind.

BIG THEFT OF BOOKS

BRYANT, ARRESTED IN BOSTON, CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF 192—POLICE RECOVER 400 IN ALL

BOSTON, May 29.—William H. Bryant, 28 years, of 119 West Lenox street, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Special Officer Traynor and Police Officer Manning of Division 2, on a charge of larceny of 192 books valued at $177 from the bookstore of David L. Nickerson at 212 Summer street.

The police claim that the arrest of Bryant followed a raid by them on several second-hand bookstores in the business section and that in all 400 books, most of them of the "do luxe" variety and valued at several hundreds of dollars, were recovered. It is charged that these books were stolen from large bookstores in this city, and that the man under arrest was responsible for the theft of some of them.

In connection with the alleged thefts by Bryant the police also took into custody, William L. Holworth of 47 Meridian street, Malden, who keeps a store at 65 Cornhill. He is charged with receiving stolen property.

The police of the City Hall station have been receiving reports for some time, they say, about the theft of books from downtown stores. Officers Traynor and Manning were assigned to the case and their investigation led them to suspect Bryant.

Several copies of a book named "Mary, Maryland" were stolen on Thursday from a wagon in Pemberton square and were later discovered, it is alleged, in a second-hand bookstore. As the result of information they received Bryant was arrested late yesterday afternoon at his place of employment.

It is believed by the police that the value they have placed on the books, and which is between $100 and $500, does not cover by any means their actual value. Many of the copies are expensively bound and not a few of the books are rare volumes.

They were piled in the office of Capt. Sullivan after their recovery to be used as evidence.

IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

BY GWEN SEARS

TO ACQUIRE BEAUTY OF BODY

For the stout woman who suffers in hot weather let me express the cheering thought that it is better to be plump and uncomfortable than thin and unhealthy. Isn't it easy to understand that a remedy strong enough to take off flesh quickly will also tear down muscles and tissues?

The only absolutely safe and sure way to acquire a beautiful, lithe body is to adopt diet and a well planned system of exercise. Success depends entirely upon perseverance. No matter how carefully the diet is planned it will amount to nothing unless it is religiously followed. First of all a taboo should be placed upon all fat meats. That means pork in all forms, fat meat, mutton, lamb, veal, fat poultry or game. Eat roast beef or steak but have it lean, and be sure that it is well cooked. Do not eat meat oftener than once a day. Eat plenty of eggs but drink no milk. Cut out all tea and coffee and substitute water or lemonade.

Eat all the vegetables you wish providing they are not prepared with a cream or butter sauce. Acid fruits are flesh reducers. Eat all the oranges or grapefruit you wish but do not counteract the effect of the acid with sugar. Absolutely all sweetened dishes must be banned, for sugar is one of the greatest single fattening agents known.

Take at least half an hour's walk every day and don't walk half heartedly. Start out briskly and maintain the pace until you reach your destination. If possible do your walking at the same time every day.

Sleep is fattening but of course you should get sufficient amount of sleep. Seven hours out of the twenty-four is enough for the healthy person but if very tired eight hours will do no harm.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY

TWO WITNESSES TELL OF SPREE AT HAVERHILL HOSPITAL

HAVERHILL, May 29.—The municipal council's hearing of charges filed by Alderman Albert E. Stickney, head of the health and charities department, against Miss Alice C. Marshall, superintendent of the Tuberculosis hospital here, took a sensational turn last night, when Mrs. Mary Lillis, a former nurse, who was called as a witness, refused to furnish the name of a man who, she said, had returned to the hospital with Miss Marshall in an automobile later than midnight. Mrs. Lillis said the man is a prominent resident of the city and has a wife and children.

Council aldermen and the mayor insisted that she tell the name and when she finally consented to write it on a pad for the mayor's private inspection the 660 persons who had crowded into the council chambers and city hall corridor howled protests and demanded that the name be made public. It did not come out.

Mrs. Lillis testified that while the superintendent was entertaining the duty nurse in the dining room she found a patient dead and upon reporting the death to Miss Marshall was warned against allowing it to become known to Miss Emma Cook, the dietitian, because Miss Cook would tell about it.

Witness said it was a frequent occurrence for the superintendent to return to the hospital between 10 p. m. and midnight after an auto ride, take her friends to the kitchen for luncheon and disturb the patients by talking in the corridors. Miss Marshall, she said, had given her beer in her room when she was on duty. Witness saw whiskey in the room, she continued, and had one time given Miss Marshall a drink of it when she said she was sick.

Ex-Dist. Atty. W. Slott Peters appeared to present the evidence for Alderman Stickney, and Judge John J. Ryan appeared for Miss Marshall. The hearing opened in the afternoon and at 10 last night only two witnesses had finished testimony. The council adjourned until 8 a. m. Tuesday morning, when Mrs. Lillis will complete her testimony.

Miss Margaret McElay, who was discharged, testified that she had seen liquor in the hospital, that there was no organization or discipline, and that one patient named Freeman had hugged, pushed, slapped and pounded Miss Marshall until he had left marks on her arms and legs. This had happened in different places in the hospital.

THE SPELLBINDER

The tumult and the shouting dies;
The board of trade and guests depart;
Still gleam the white ways radiant
eyes.

Along the taxpayer's homeward path,
For each bright gleam he'll settle yet,
That's one good bet—that's one best
bet!

The white way is a thing of beauty
and charm, and the show incidental to
its debut was a corker, but he who
dances must pay the fiddler, and the
taxpayer who danced yesterday will
pay for the fun when his tax bill comes
along.

From the standpoint of the humble
poll taxpayer, the show was well worth
the money; for it will have no effect on
the size of his tax bill, though the
white way which occasioned the grand
pageant will have to be paid for by the
property owners.

There is no getting away from the
fact that the white way is a most desirable improvement over the old article of street lighting, but just as the city signs up its contracts to pay for
it at a fine, fat figure, along comes Col.
Carmichael, back from Cincinnati, with
the cheerful information that in the
west there are white ways galore and
that the expense of their maintenance
is paid for without complaint by the subscribers, rather than out of the public pockets. In Lowell the limited residents of the outskirts who are afraid to venture
forth from his home at night on account of the dimly lighted streets in his neighborhood, and who have cried in vain, "Let there be light!" where it is
needed, will pay his proportionate share
toward maintaining the white way, just
like the down-town business man, who
no longer is required to burn extra
lights to make his place attractive.

"Those Neglected Schools"

At the legislature Monday, Mayor
Murphy representing the city in his
argument for the $700,000 high school
loan made several remarkable statements. His Honor is quoted as having
said: "The schools of Lowell have
been neglected for 20 years."

Within 20 years, His Honor was a
member of the school board and should
be able to recall that within that time,
the Lincoln, Bartlett, Washington
and Greenhalge schools have been built and additions built to the Green-halge, and if I remember rightly, to
the Bartlett. Then the vocational school was established taking up three
of the unused schools, all representing an expenditure of several hundred thousands. Just wherein the schools have been neglected is rather difficult to understand. The mayor is also quoted as having said: "The city
council and the school board are unanimous on the proposition. In 10 years when similar agitators have been started the city council and the school committee could not get together
on a definite plan."

These remarks recall the fact that only last spring when a demand was made to start an agitation for a new
high school, the one man whose support was most desired but which
couldn't be obtained, was Mayor Murphy himself. When asked why he could not use a portion of the money
which the city is permitted to borrow
within the debt limit Mayor Murphy
replied that three of the grammar
schools need attention very badly and
it was contemplated that this work
should be done within the debt limit.
The Pawlucket bridge, he said, would cost the city about $36,000 and block

paving and a sewer extension into Wigginville would take all the money
the city can raise. He also spoke of
the tuberculosis hospital situation,
and said that Dr. McLaughlin had
been quoted as saying that Lowell
would be one of the first cities to be
prosecuted unless a suitable tuberculosis hospital is erected within the
time limit specified by the state department of health.

The distance from the debt limit
July 1, according to His Honor, will be $202,000. But if all the matters mentioned by him are gone into beyond
the talk stage the debt limit will be shot to pieces. In mentioning the city's
needs His Honor neglected to state
that about July 1 the city will need to raise a fine big sum of money to pay
on the old temporary loan if it hasn't
it on hand. Relative to the contagious
disease hospital His Honor might have
mentioned that the former administration selected a site which his administration turned down and now his administration is going to purchase one
for some future administration to
turn down.

After being entertained at luncheon
at the girls' vocational school in the old Morrill school a few days ago the
members of the municipal council are
more keen than ever for a new school
for the girls. It is proposed to use the present Police street annex for the vocational school when the proposed new
high school has been completed. This
proposition while comparatively inex-
pensive will solve the needs of the vocational school and will give Principi-pal Foster an opportunity to develop
that institution along practical lines.

The Contagious Hospital

When the past administration attempted to live up to the law relative
to the contagious disease hospital a
howl went up on account of the site
selected and the members of this year's
government not only howled but upon
entering office undid all that their predecessors had done. The present administration attempted to put aside the
matter and did so as long as it could.
Now the members are howling for a hospital as lustily as if they had never
attempted to side-track it, and yet
they contemplate evading the law
again by selecting only a site this
year, allowing the main part of the
transaction to go over until another year. The members are howling for Alban J. McLaughlin, state commissioner of health expressed his opinion
of the Lowell city government in no
unmistakable manner. Dr. McLaughlin
scored the local city officials for
not making plans for a tuberculosis
hospital in this city. Lowell, he said,
has a population of more than 100,000
and maintained there was no excuse
for a city of this size not having a
tuberculosis hospital of its own and
particularly in view of the number of
deaths due to consumption and the
prevalence of the disease in this city.
Dr. McLaughlin declared that if a hospital is not built within the time
prescribed the matter will be referred to the attorney-general and the city of Lowell prosecuted.

There is no doubt that the state
commissioner meant exactly what he
said and judging from his remarks any attempt to fool him by making any spurge over the purchase of a site for
a hospital will not go. He is the kind
of man who must be shown and can

only be shown by the erection of a
permanent building.

Every Little Bit, etc.

Inspector Frank O'Hare of the health
department appreciates the words of
the song: "Every little bit added to
what you've got, makes a little bit
more," for while his pay has been increased, the increase is not as much
as it should be considering his valuable services to the department. Mayor Murphy having raised the salary of
about everyone else in the health department this year, should not forget
Inspector John Kearney, and Miss
Snow, the efficient stenographer of the
department, who appear to be about
the only ones not appreciated
by His Honor. Of course the young lady hasn't a vote yet, I say "yet" ad-
visedly; but that shouldn't make any difference.

Another Life Sacrificed

While the city was in gala attire
over its new white way and the board of trade was bustling on the plans for
the grand celebration in honor of the city's latest public improvement, the little Alfred Jarrett fell into the canal
at Ford street and was drowned, his
body being recovered a day later. A few days before a little Polish child
fell down the precipitous and unfenced
bank of the river in Front street and
was rescued from drowning by Agent
Gilmore of the Humane society, who
happened to be riding by at the time.
Notwithstanding the earnest advocacy
of the officials of the Trades and Labor
council before the municipal council
that some action be taken toward safe-
guarding the lives of children from the
unprotected waterways of the city, the council has done nothing as yet, being more concerned in white ways,
bridges, street extensions and other
improvements than in the less important matter of saving the lives of children.

At the close of the hearing over a
month ago Mayor Murphy who pre-
sided stated that the council would
take the matter under advisement.
Since that time apparently it has not
been thought of by the city fathers,
despite the fact that there have been
several narrow escapes and one death
within a month. Had the five foot wide fence with barbed wire at the top been
installed at Ford street as asked for
by the petitioners the life of the Jarrett boy would not have been sacrificed.

Burial Cemetery Trustees

The cemetery trustees surely are
making themselves "strong" even with
those who were opposed to the bill which created their office for they appear to be proceeding upon their
jobs in business-like manner. The only thing suggestive of politics that has
appeared at their meetings was induced by the mayor rather than by any of the members. Their little run-in with the purchasing agent will be watched with interest, and according
to public opinion is quite timely for as
a result of recent transactions at City Hall people are beginning to question the necessity of the supply department. The heads of departments have been sending in requisitions so worded
as to preclude competition, making the head of the supply department an errand boy rather than a purchasing agent
and it would be well to have the matter ironed out at this time. The cemetry department occupies a peculiar
position among the municipal departments. It is supported by its own receipts and takes no money out of the
annual budget.

It is for this reason, presumably,
that the cemetery trustees hold that
they are not accountable to the purchasing agent in making purchases for
their department. Of course, the trust
funds for the perpetual care of lots are
held in trust by the city and the municipality is responsible for them, while
the city owns the cemeteries and would
self-supporting. If it could be shown that the trustees of the cemetery are
exempt from the provisions of law relative to the purchasing agents department, then a similar contention could
be raised by the water department.
Let the purchasing agent hold up the bill for those trustees if he desires, but
don't hold up the trustees themselves,
for they will come in very nicely on Memorial day when the cemeteries are
crowded.

Lowell Day Celebration

Despite the bad weather, the Lowell
day celebration was a credit to the
board of trade, and was not entirely a
failure even if the weather was most
unpropitious. The volume of business
done by the merchants before the rain
descended gave evidence of what might
have happened had the day continued
fair and demonstrated the value of the board of trade's scheme. The celebration presented a most unusual mixture. It was a big public affair in which the city government appeared

MARIE ON PUBLIC NUISANCES

"What is the matter with your check?" asked Marie, as Marjorie rushed in one rainy day with a large
bruised spot just under one eye.

"Oh, an inconsiderate, impolite wom-
an jabbed her umbrella into my face,"
almost sobbed Marjorie, "and it is a
wonder she didn't put my eye out."

"Indeed it is," sympathized Marie.
"When a woman with an umbrella forges
ahead look out for your hat, your veil
and your eyes. It matters not whether
the dripping from the umbrella will
ruin your suit or whether you have
will keep your distance. The closed
umbrella too, is just as much a public
nuisance in the hands of an inconsider-
ate woman or man. Some people think
because the point of the umbrella is
out of their sight it is out of existence.
Consequently it is allowed to wreck
vengeance on all followers and it is little children to be within punching
distance of the ferrule, look out for his
eyes."

"All the apologies and explanations
in the world will not remedy the carelessness of this dangerous weapon.
Only the other day a woman your aunt
knows, was the victim of a violent
earache. She had attended a lecture
the evening before and had been the
protesting listener who had been forced
to take the breezes from the fan of the
woman seated next to her. This woman may have been nervous, and
she may have been very warm. One thing is certain she was a public
nuisance. She fanned violently with
her fan and then with her program
and great draughts of air were driven
into the ear of your aunt's friend. She really got most of the cooling and she
paid for it."

"There are many other nuisances
and they are every day encountered in
street cars and railway trains. Windows are raised or closed to suit the
whim of one individual and someone
else pays the bill. At the football
game, the baseball game, the lecture
and the theatre there is always the nuisance who makes a fuss or has
rest of the back of your seat and
frequently spoils your pleasure by
forcing you to object."

"There is only one thing to do,"
continued Marie. "Be polite and discussed but nevertheless, hold your own
against every public nuisance."

JUST BEFORE THE BIG PARADE

STARTED

A fire alarm which sounded at 7:54
o'clock last night, just before the big
parade, necessitated the clearing of a portion of the streets in order to allow
the fire apparatus to proceed. An ambulance call was made shortly before 8
o'clock, also, and the ambulance made
a slow run through Merrimack square.
The alarm from box 228 was for a fire
in the two and a half story lodging
house owned and conducted by Mrs.
Kate Welsh at 47 Hurd street. The
fire started in a room on the top floor
of the house while the occupants were
out to review the parade. The blaze
was discovered by a passerby and when the alarm was rung in the room was
blazing furiously and the entire house
was filled with smoke. Considerable water was used in extinguishing the
fire.

Telephone Alarm

At 10:40 o'clock a telephone alarm
was received for a fire in the same
house but this was quickly quenched.
It was necessary for the lodgers to
seek other quarters last night, so badly
was the house damaged.

Ambulance Call

The ambulance was called to the
Boott mills where Harry Anderson of 81
Bridge street had injured his head by
falling against a machine. He was removed to the Lowell hospital where it
was necessary to take several stitches
to close the wound.

The latest addition to the many beautiful monuments in the Catholic cemetery in Gorham street is the Saunders memorial, erected to the memory
of John F. Saunders. The memorial is of Westerly granite. The bottom base is nine feet long by five feet, three inches wide and one foot and two inches high. The die is seven feet long, three feet three inches length and three feet four inches in height. It is of composite design, plain and substantial. On the front are two large laurel wreaths with the name Saunders in raised letters in between. The memorial weighs 14 tons, the lower stone weighing 7 tons and the upper stone 6 tons. It was built by the John P. Meehan Co. of this city.

Letter No. 5 From the
Turner Centre Creamery

Few people realize that the most IMPORTANT FOOD ITEM in the average home is the apparently insignificant article of milk. This is especially true where there are children. Scientists everywhere have been telling us for years that milk is about the only perfect food. In proportion to its cost it has the highest food value. Mothers who give their growing children plenty of GOOD milk need not worry about the rest of the diet.

We are telling the people of Lowell that our milk is pasteurized
and bottled under the most sanitary conditions. It is rich, pure, and SAFE. Try it.

BATTLE IN AIR

Lieut. von Buelow Killed Near Fismes by French Airmen

PARIS, May 29, 5 a. m.—Aviator Lieut. von Buelow, believed to be a relative of Prince von Buelow, the former German Imperial chancellor, was killed near Fismes, according to the Allies in an air duel with a French aeroplane belonging to the newly formed rapid squadron M. S. 12. The French pilot, describing the battle said: "Wednesday morning I saw an Albatross machine coming from the German lines headed for Paris and I gave chase. He was 5000 feet up. I went up to 6000 feet, rapidly overhauling him, and the fight began. We were now less than 30 feet from the Albatross, but we were under such headway that we overshot him. I got a bullet in the shoulder, but it didn't prevent me from continuing the chase. The Germans tried to escape by dropping, but I flew over them again. Apparently one of them was wounded. Suddenly my lieutenant got in a volley at point blank range and the Albatross flipped forward, shooting nose downwards six thousand feet to the earth. We followed them with our eyes. When the machine struck the earth it seemed to crumple into a ball and bounded along the hillside like a wounded rabbit running. We followed them down, descending in spirals. The pilot lay some yards away, where he had been thrown out. The observer was crushed under the engine. In one of his pockets we found a paper bearing the name Lieut. von Buelow, Imperial Guards, Berlin. We found in the wrecked aeroplane ten large bombs and forty grenades. The pilot, given his choice of the Legion of Honor or the Military Medal, chose the latter.

The public is hereby notified that on and after June 2nd, 1915, each person taking baggage or other property from a point in one state to a point in another state must make a declaration of the value of such baggage or property when it is presented for checking. Each person, or his agent, must sign a declaration before baggage can be checked. This regulation is made following the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in connection with the so-called Cummins Amendment to the Interstate Commerce Act passed by the last Congress. Passengers are urged to allow more time than heretofore for the checking of baggage. Blank forms will be provided at all stations for passengers to sign. NO BAGGAGE WILL BE FORWARDED UNLESS THE PASSENGER, OR HIS AGENT SIGNS THE DECLARATION. Boston & Maine R. R. C. M. BURT, General Passenger Agent.

INTERESTING CEREMONIES AT MAINE MEMORIAL DEDICATION

Secretary Daniels' Boys On Maine Gun.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Jonathan and Frank Daniels, sons of the secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels, will participate in the ceremonies incident to the dedication of the Maine memorial at Arlington National cemetery Decoration day. The ensign will be run up and broken out by Jonathan Daniels, and after this the two boys will grasp the bayonets and run up the international code signal, spelling the word "Maine" on one halyard and 1915 on the other. Secretary Daniels, the father of these boys, will make a brief address. Present at the ceremonies will be Mrs. Adelaide Worth Bagley, whose son, Ensign Worth Bagley, was the first man who fell in the Spanish-American war; also Mrs. Josephus Daniels, daughter of Mrs. Bagley. In the accompanying illustration are shown Jonathan (on left) and Frank Daniels seated on one of the guns of the Maine.

R. posts, Ladies' auxiliaries, Spanish War Veterans and other patriotic organizations in attendance. Special music will be sung by the choir under the direction of Alexander Leggett, director. # BIG FIRE AT SALISBURY

RESIDENTS FOUGHT TO SAVE FARM BUILDINGS—TWO SQUARE MILES BURNED OVER

SALISBURY, May 29.—Fire in the woods here yesterday afternoon swept over a tract of about two square miles, destroying much standing timber and hundreds of cords prepared for the market. A barn and a toolhouse owned by Charles H. Jackson were also destroyed, with their contents. The fire started on land on the Rabbit road, which is owned by Henry P. Griffin, and on which a party of gypsies had been camping. The gypsies broke camp this morning, and it is thought that the embers of their fire were fanned by the strong wind into a blaze which spread in the woodland. The town fire department had to summon aid from Amesbury. A large number of townspeople fought the flames all the afternoon and saved several farm buildings that were threatened. The fire burned until it reached a clearing, where it went out for lack of material.

KENTUCKY HANDICAP

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 29.—At best a heavy track is promised today for the third annual running of the Kentucky handicap at Douglas park. Thirteen all-aged horses probably will start in the race which is over a mile and a quarter course. Though comparatively a new event in American turf annals the stake this year is said to be the richest for which all-aged thoroughbreds will contest. Ten thousand dollars has been added to the purse, making the race worth approximately $15,000. Roamer, Andrew Miller's crack eastern four-year-old, is accorded the longest odds, 127 pounds. Harry Payne Whitney's Bourbon, now running in the colors of L. E. Thompson, will carry 126 pounds, giving weight to all the other horses representing the west. As was the Kentucky Derby the handicap has resolved itself into a contest between the east and the west. Fifty seven entries originally were made.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Nearly all meetings of labor organizations scheduled for Monday night will be postponed. Business Agent Ross Hill of the Machinists' International spoke at the Saco-Lowell shops yesterday noon. Organizer N. V. McMahon visited Lawrence today for the purpose of conferring with the central body of that city. At the Carpenters' union business is reported to be brisk in the building lines and all members are steadily employed.

The board of trade is to be congratulated on its work in making the celebration a grand success. Now let's have some new industries. Organizer Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers, addressed the operatives of the Boot and Massachusetts mills yesterday.

The working people of Lowell turned out in large numbers for the parade there were between 75,000 and 100,000 on the streets. The formal opening of the American Guild club's new art is scheduled for Monday night to be held on Monday will be attended by several prominent guests besides the members.

Naumkeag Steam Cotton holds around 295. It comes from Salem (that 1200 bales are turning out) and that will not be long before the full complement of 2700 are installed.

The state board of conciliation and arbitration finds the loomfixers and weavers at the Whitman mill, New Bedford, as blameworthy for the existence of the strike there, and recommended in both instances that the strikers return to work. The board says the strikers proceeded against the advice of Mr. Hobbs, the business agent, and that a proper reason for the strike did not appear.

One of the old line of stocks that is beginning to show signs of strength long absent, is the Massachusetts mills. It has recently sold up to 117-1/2. This is within a fraction of its high point for the past three years. Lowell's cotton, according to balance sheet comparisons has failed to earn its dividend but in the past fifteen years the New England mills can better this showing.

Hollemakers The Billerica Hollemakers' union held its regular bi-monthly meeting in Travers Labor hall last night at which election of officers for the ensuing year took place. The Australian ballot system was used. The meeting was very successful and was addressed by a number of well known local speakers.

Attwill Says State's Rights Not Protected—Prorogation Halted

BOSTON, May 29.—Attorney-General Harry C. Attwill has hurried the passage of a bill which would protect the rights of the Massachusetts railroad camp this year and as a result the five railroad bills now before the governor have been dealt a terrific jolt and the legislature yesterday will have to sit again Tuesday and possibly may have to go through another series of railroad legislation battles. The attorney-general in a communication sent to the governor Thursday, attacked both the Boston & Maine reorganization bill and the four New England "bill" which are in the hands of the governor. In his communication the attorney-general protested against these bills on the ground that the rights of the state were not being properly cared for. He stated that the railroad people are on their knees begging for favors from the state, when in the same breath, they announce that they plan to repudiate a contract with the state, which, if they are allowed to break, will ruin, he says, the commonwealth's great docks in South Boston. Furthermore, he asserted that the repudiation of this contract by the railroad people will either force the state to break its contract with the Hamburg-American line or to dig deep into the pockets of the people each year to maintain its agreement. The attorney-general's chief objection to these railroad bills has grown out of the announcement of Boston & Maine road, that after June 20, it will cease to absorb the shifting charges to and from the commonwealth dock in South Boston. It is known that the attorney-general would force the railroad to absorb all of their shifting charges in Boston and thus save the commonwealth pier from becoming a "white elephant" on the state's hands, and also save shippers thousands of dollar annually. He would have clauses making provision for this absorption of shifting charges inserted in the bills, and would force the railroad to accept them or have the legislation asked for denied.

LOSS ABOUT $10,000

Blaze in West Fitchburg and Westminster Burned Over 500 Acres of Timber and Sprout Land

FITCHBURG, May 29.—A brush fire that started late yesterday afternoon burned over 500 acres of timber and sprout land in West Fitchburg and Westminster, causing damage estimated at $10,000. The fire started near the Westminster station. A large force of men from Westminster, a squad sent out of the central fire station in this city under Capt. Beer and men from the forestry department fought the fire, which was under control last night. The land burned over is owned by Crocker Burbank company, H. O. Irving, Daniel Ford, H. P. Lynde of this city, H. H. Roper and Ernest Vieweg of Westminster.

NEW STEAMSHIP LINES

Plans for Fast Service Between United States, South and Central America

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Plans for steamship lines between the United States and South America—the one element which all the delegates to the Pan-American financial conference agree is essential to closer relations between the Americas—were presented today by the transportation committee. A permanent committee of representatives of the United States, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, Ecuador and Peru is to work for the development of the plans as recommended. Two sub-committees, differing in proposals of procedure, were submitted.

One, signed by delegates Aldo of Argentina, Cavalcanti of Brazil, and Cosío of Uruguay proposes: A fast line of 10,000 ton steamers between the United States and Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo and Buenos Aires capable of making the voyage to Rio in 15 days.

That as compensation for services rendered, such ships be exempt for five years from all fiscal charges and enjoy all facilities granted any other vessels. Bids would be called for not later than December 31, 1915, would be acted upon within three months, and, if possible, awarded to the builder who gives earliest delivery; the North and South American governments would agree on the division of expenses.

It was agreed between the other members and Delegate Veraga of Chile that there should be two lines of fast steamers, one to serve Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina, and the other for Ecuador, Peru and Chile. Delegate Alzamora, while concurring in the report, did not plan for lack of authority from his government as was the case with Delegate Gonzalez of Ecuador.

Delegate Veraga, in a separate report made these proposals: Organization of a corporation with stock offered to public subscription, and any unsubscribed shares to be taken by the United States and Latin-American governments in preparation to be agreed upon later. That the corporation be organized under New York law. That the steamers shall be registered in different countries in proportion to capital subscribed. That vessels be of 3500 ton minimum and minimum speed of ten miles an hour.

That the board of directors be chosen by subscribing countries in preparation to their holdings. The reports were presented to the conference this morning by the entire transportation committee with the recommendation "that it is the unanimous conviction of the committee that such plans should be adopted as will most speedily establish direct, effective and permanent transportation facilities between the United States and the republics of South and Central America."

The Contractors Quite Busy— New Buildings in Progress— Real Estate Transactions

The most important building permit taken out at city hall during the past week was that issued to the Wamette Power company to cover the erection of a $60,000 building to be occupied by the United States Cartridge company. The new structure will be situated at the corner of Lawrence and Andrews streets and will be constructed of brick and wood with a concrete foundation. It will have a concrete of 50 feet on Lawrence street and will extend 350 feet on Andrews street. The entire building, which will be two stories in height, will be used by the Cartridge company as a manufacturing plant and the necessary equipment will be installed. The new building will be heated by steam by pipe connection with the heating system in the other buildings.

A large house to contain six apartments is to be constructed by James A. Brian at the corner of Vine and Appleton streets. The cost is estimated at $5000. Each apartment will consist of five rooms, pantry and bath. William W. Myers will build a handsome residence at 106 Highland avenue. The building will have one apartment of seven rooms, pantry and bath and will measure 20 by 30 feet. It will be heated by steam.

At 54 Georgia avenue, Patrick F. Mahoney will erect a dwelling of 3 rooms, pantry and bath at a cost of $4000. The building will have a foundation of stone and will be heated by steam.

A new house is to be erected in Hovey street by J. H. Gamble. It will have five rooms, pantry and bath and the cost will be $1500.

Grace Norton is to build a new one-

apartment house at 18 Inland street. The rooms will number eight besides pantry and bath and will be steam-heated. Cost, $2700.

At 19 Whitney avenue, Ledoit E. Kimball is to build a new garage at a cost of $100.

A new steel garage will be built by Henry T. Frenette in the rear of 16 Hale street. The garage will have a concrete foundation and the cost is placed at $75.

A concrete and wood garage is being constructed at 413 Walker street for Sarah McCauley at a cost of $200.

The ell on the rear of the house at 31 Beach street, property of Jennie L. Wyman, is being enlarged to provide additional room for the bath room.

Michael Ansara is bringing a portion of the third story of the rear part of his property at 93-100 Suffolk street over the two-story front. Two new toilets will be installed. The work will cost $500.

Sales by Hyam Bros.

Hyam Bros., real estate brokers, with offices at the corner of Market and Central streets, report the following sales for the week ending May 28, 1915: Papers have been passed on the transfer and sale of a home property situated at 53 Hadley street, just off the Princeton boulevard. There is a large hutchinson just in the rear of the house. Land to over 11,000 square feet is conveyed with the buildings. The sale was negotiated for Archie Green, and the buyer is Edward J. Allard. Mr. Allard buys for a home. Two other contracts conveying property in the Highlands have also been closed.

deceit and the rocks he given the appearance of jutting out from the hillside. But very excellent results may be achieved on flat surfaces if it is remembered to let the rocks appear to crop out on the surface rather than appear to be placed there for a purpose. The rock garden should have its highest point or beginning at some natural or artificial boundary—a wall, or better still, a clump of trees and shrubbery which will serve to mask its origin. From this vantage point it may extend in a natural way to the limits marked out for it; here an isolated boulder, here a group of less pretentious stones and again a group of large stones may find room in their pockets for a small tree. The extent may be two or three rods in width at one end and gradually narrow until at the other it becomes an occasional rock on the lawn.

DRYING-YARD FOR CLOTHES

The inventiveness of those who plan estates is a test in hiding the drying-yard for clothes. Good taste requires that this be an enclosure. When it is near the kitchen the problem is easily solved; for if there is not a natural barrier of shrubbery, it can be boldly screened by lattice-work. If it is necessary to locate it elsewhere, it should be surrounded by a wall of greenery, such as a hedge of Norway spruce or of hemlock. Either must be often clipped when young so as to insure a permanent dense growth near the ground.

PROTECTION AGAINST MOTHS

Moths in general are likely to affect only articles which are put away and left undisturbed for some little time. Apartments and closets that are frequently aired and swept are not apt to be seriously affected. In fact, airing and sunlight are probably the best as well as the oldest remedies.

POTTERY

Why not use pottery in your summer cottage or in your nursery? It is made in such wonderful patterns and is so artistic that it is fast replacing the china sets, especially for bungalow use. This is particularly true of the Paul Revere pottery which is made in all sorts of unique designs.

These ware appeals especially to the children for whom animal designs are much used. Dancing, running, jumping rabbits, chickens, ducks, and all sorts of little animals are put on porridge and bread-and-milk sets. The children become so attached to these dishes that if any piece is broken, it has to be sent back to be matched. The animals, children's names, and little mottoes are used for the little ones, while for the older ones there are conventional designs, landscapes, or flowers.

Whole sets of the pottery are often used in the summer cottages. For the tea service, there are quaint little Dutch tiles finished in gray, yellow, green, or other attractive colors.—House Beautiful.

STRAWBERRY DISTRICTS

A recent survey of the production and marketing of strawberries in the United States, made by the department of agriculture, indicates that the eight most important commercial strawberry districts are Central California, Ten-

ECONOMICAL BUNGALOW COTTAGE

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

An economical bungalow cottage to build, either in the city, suburb or on a lot in a country town or small village. This little bungalow has a living room across the front, dining room in rear, good pantry and large kitchen, combination stairway and piazza across the entire front, which is screened in for summer use and can be glazed for the winter and used as a sun room.

The second story is carefully planned. There is a full basement under entire house. First story is 9 feet high and second story 8 feet. Rooms are finished up to full height, in second story, with closets for each room. First story is finished in red gum, red oak or Washington fir, all of clear quality. Second story is pine to paint. Siding pine or Washington fir. Size, 26 feet wide by 28 feet deep over the main part. Cost to build, $2,850, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

nesses, Maryland, Delaware, Southern Louisiana, North and South Carolina, Virginia and Ozarks. In 1914, 1,205 carloads of strawberries were shipped from Central California. Lesser quantities were shipped from the other districts which are named in the order of their importance. From the Ozarks came 748 carloads last year.

The north, however, plays a more important part in the strawberry industry than these figures might indicate. Great quantities of berries are grown in the north in small patches and shipped to market by trolley, express, or in the producer's own wagon. Only a very small portion of northern-grown berries are concentrated into carload lots, the basis for the government survey. In the south, however, on the Pacific coast, where berries are shipped long distances it is economical to arrange to have them sent by carloads.

AN AMERICAN OPPORTUNITY

These are great times for American hotel-keepers. As the newspapers and magazines tell us with wearisome iteration, thousands of Americans who would like to go to Europe this summer will have to go to San Francisco or the Rockies, or some other place out of reach of the submarine and the Zep-pelins; and hundreds of thousands of good dollars will be poured out along American roads by prosperous tourists. The next two or three years will offer unprecedented opportunities to our hotels and tea-houses.—House Beautiful.

BABY RAMBLER ROSES

The Baby Rambler and Polyantha roses are very desirable for border gardens and flower beds, as well as to grow along the margins by taller roses in rose gardens. There are now a dozen desirable varieties of this type. They bloom over a long season and require practically no care except winter protection and the cutting off of the flowering branches as the blossoms fade. Louise Walter, Mrs. Cuthbert, Katherine Zeimet, and Orleans are four of the best varieties.

MEMORIAL DAY

We have had many memorial days in the passing of the years and on each one of them we have honored the dear departed and the living links that bind us with an exalted past, but never was its appeal more vital than now. This year we can readily understand what it means, and we can more thoroughly enter into its spirit for while the rest of the world is at war we enjoy the peace and liberty that are the direct fruits of American struggles and sacrifices. With gratitude for the past and with hope for the future we once again honor our heroes living and dead and consecrate ourselves anew to the ideals of American democracy.

Memorial day is a day of memories, and no nation can prosper and progress that does not hold sacred its history and traditions. Superficial observers have been inclined to censure our thoughtlessness, our irreverence and our materialism, but there is nothing to be censured in our observance of Memorial day. On that day, year after year, we take stock of our nationality and recall the great deeds of dark days that America may march onward in the light of freedom. On that day we pause and look back that the newer generations may realize what their fathers did to establish and preserve the ideal of democratic government.

What a blessed contrast we afford to the rest of the world this glorious Memorial day of May! Rapine, ruin and unutterable misery have swept the nations like a devouring flame; the war god is loose and humanity staggers beneath its blow. Once we, too, had great wars, one of which threatened to overthrow the triumphs of Washington and the great nation he established, but liberty triumphed, the nation was saved and America, the home of freedom, progressed in prosperity and peace. Out of this hellish struggle may dawn a purer democracy, and man's inhumanity to man may be a dream of the past.

Let us then once more heartily honor the dead who died for America and the thinning ranks of the living who alas are nearing the final bourne. Let us fly the flags and place wreaths on the graves to the strains of martial music and the booming of cannon. Let us bless the past and remember its story that we may be ready for any call that the future may make on our American manhood, our American patriotism and our unswerving loyalty and devotion to the stars and stripes.

OUR NAVY FLAWS

This is the day of the submarine as the most effective craft in modern naval tactics, and America is waking up to the fact. Congress has authorized the construction of 26 new submarines, and it has been officially announced that these will be the most effective of their kind in the navy of any great power. In the meantime there are revelations that warrant attention and immediate investigation, if our navy is not to be a collection of mechanical failures.

Recently this country was shocked by the loss of a submarine that, without warning, plunged to the bottom of Honolulu bay, carrying its crew to their death. A few days ago, naval maneuvers were held in the Atlantic, in which 12 submarines took part. Six of the under sea craft broke down, and at one time or another were unable to take their part in the war game. What would this mean if instead of playing at mimic war, the submarines were in reality proceeding against an enemy?

Secretary Daniels has declared his intention to make a full investigation into the causes of this regrettable condition. He will ascertain whether it is the result of faults of construction or whether it is due to defects in the method of reporting or making repairs. He has been commendably frank in his statements, concerning the question, and the comments on the case should not be pertinent. It is the American navy that will be investigated, and all America should help and encourage anything that would make its navy a better national defense.

Secretary Daniels points out that the submarine is still in the experimental stage, and that all of those which were in trouble were constructed prior to 1912. The faults should surely be discovered and eliminated before the 26 new submarines are constructed. Germany has done wonderful work with its submarines and has shown that in that country they have reached a high point of efficiency. We have the brains, the materials, the money, the time to investigate and plan fully; is there any good reason why our submarines should be inferior to those of any power on earth?

TIDY UP!

We have had a clean-up campaign that presumably had fine results; we have had a great rain to wash the streets and freshen the lawns and gardens; we have had all kinds of campaigns towards the cultivation of the city beautiful ideal. Let us now show practical results.

It is wonderful what even slight attention to the premises will do at this season. An hour spent by many citizens in the little lot before the door, or the garden at the side, or the lawn at the back, will have a splendid effect on the general appearance of the city.

If the grass plot before the door has not made a good showing this year, there is still time to help it along. Nothing will grow in the shady hollow under the trees. The vacant space at the side that you have used as a dump and that is littered with old cans and refuse will grow peas, beans, tomatoes and corn. The sunny spot under the parlor window will be ideal for a bed of geraniums or pansies. The way to have all these things is to try to have them. Merely looking at your uninviting premises and envying your neighbor will bring you nothing.

The general appearance of a city depends on the initiative and collective effort of its individual citizens. Lowell is too big for the competitive attempts that make North Billerica so beautiful and orderly, but we can have the same results without the competition, if our people respond to the call of the city beautiful. Now is the time to make the initial preparations for a better and more beautiful city in the long days of summer and fall.

FACTS FIRST.

Regarding the possible answer of Germany to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania, one man's guess is as good as another's, and most expressed opinions are founded on imagination. One declares that Germany's attitude will be defiant; another says it will be conciliatory, but only Germany really knows—and Germany is taking its time about it.

A novel prediction is made in a recent despatch from Amsterdam. It says that owing to the gravity of the situation, and the momentous possibilities that lie in it, Germany will not answer President Wilson's protests in the preliminary note, but will make a statement of facts, as Germany sees them, asking that this nation admit such facts. While there is little doubt here as to the real facts, such a policy is not undesirable. In any debate or discussion, there must be some common ground of argument, and if Germany sees the facts in one light and America in another, no exchange of diplomatic notes is likely to bring about an agreement.

Briefly, the facts as America sees them are: that the Lusitania—a passenger ship, while carrying many neutral passengers, was sunk by a German submarine in direct defiance of international law. It will be interesting to hear the statement of facts as Germany sees them. If Germany and this nation cannot find a set of facts to acknowledge in common, then all diplomatic parleying will be in vain.

EXPORT FRAUDS

To ship contraband to Germany is one thing; to defraud the United States is another. Yet both considerations may be combined in the one transaction. Indictments have been found by the federal grand jury against several prominent American business men who have been alleged guilty of filing false manifests covering certain shipments to Europe. In one case, shipments of rubber valued at $50,000 were concealed in barrels of resin and bales of cotton waste, and the fraud was discovered through the agency of the X-ray. Such actions are decidedly illegal, but they are to be condemned even on broader grounds as a breach of neutrality and a danger to our best interests in a national sense. American business expects the government to stand firmly behind it in any complications that may arise, but to make the issue clear with any foreign government, our hands must be clean. If England discovers contraband masquerading in a harmless guise, it will be all the harder for our legitimate shipments and shippers to get fair play. We must be square in our dealings if we expect our government to insist that foreign nations must be square with us. The issue is clear, and there is little excuse for violators of our shipping regulations.

PAYING THE PRICE

The allies declare confidently that they will capture the Dardanelles and

Constantinople, but it will be at a heavy cost. England is certainly paying the price, for in the sinking of the Lusitania her fifth great battleship has been destroyed at the mouth of the famous narrows. This sacrifice of ships and men was one of the most fruitful causes for criticism of Churchill's admiralty policy in England, and it would not be strange to find a cessation of attempts to silence the forts from the sea until the land forces progress further along the peninsula, silencing the forts in their way. With Austrian, German and Turkish submarines operating in the narrow channel, and around its mouth, and the mines that are sent adrift as quickly as others are swept up, the ships of the allied fleets run enormous risks. That six great battleships have been sunk and many put out of commission before anything important is achieved proves the difficulty of reducing the Dardanelles from the sea, or the cost of such reduction. Still, the allies show no indication of moderating the attack as yet, and the land forces seem to be gaining slowly but steadily.

The legislature has done well in letting the jitney question go over to the next general court. At present the jitney craze is too new and untried to afford any permanent information as to its workings, and it will take time to show its weaknesses and reveal what regulations are necessary to protect the public while being fair to the jitney operators.

The weather was perfect, enthusiasm ran high, and the belated "White Way" celebration went off with a bang. Everybody was happy and general satisfaction was the order of the day. Lowell is surely a bright city, now that our fine new lighting system is blazing away, and last night it was easy for those on the streets to believe that we are soon to enter a new era of prosperity. Let there be light!

When we think of the need for a new bridge at Pawtucketville, it might be well also to think of the collapse of the Chelmsford street bridge and the fire at Memorial hall; nothing is more dangerous in a community than a false sense of security.

What does Lowell do for its children in summer? They need playgrounds, ball grounds and swimming pools.

Which is the more necessary—the extension of Dummer street or the cleaning up of the Concord river?

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as inflexible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea of the joy of living until every bone, tissue, muscle and organ of the body is brought up to 100% efficiency, which my system does.

If you are sick or have any kind of stomach or intestinal trouble it will require a short term of curative feeding—then I balance the diet so as to give to the body all the elements of nourishment it requires according to your age and your occupation.

If medicine is needed in any case I prescribe only such remedies that do not conflict with the proper diet. I get results and this ends all argument.

Dr. NAUGHTON will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, MONDAY, MAY THE 31st, 1915, from 10.00 o'clock in the morning until 7.00 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

WARNING TO MEXICO

all the warning factions in Mexico that conditions in that country have become intolerable and that, unless they compose the situation soon, some other means may have to be employed to accomplish the result.

The first intimation of the president's determination to take this step came yesterday in his appeal issued as head of the American Red Cross, setting forth the need to secure thousands of internal disturbances, the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation, and urging contributions to relief funds.

Later the White House gave out the following: "When the president's appeal for aid for the Mexicans was issued, it was also stated at the executive offices that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

Hinting Interventions

High officials referred to the president's forthcoming pronouncement as not meaning immediate intervention and they emphasized the word "immediate." The impression in executive quarters was that one might expect to place responsibility for the present state of affairs squarely upon the military elements in the southern republic, which have overrun the country and appropriated its food supply or prevented the tilling of the soil. White anxious to continue the policy of allowing the Mexicans to settle their differences without outside interference, the president is said to be determined that the civilian population of the country shall not be starved in the meantime.

This statement has been prepared and will be issued after the cabinet meeting next Tuesday and then communicated to the leaders of all the Mexican factions.

Officials at the White House said that the president's statement contained, but denied that recognition of any faction was now contemplated. It was stated authoritatively that while friends of Carranza here had been pressing for recognition, the Washington government had not been impressed with the ability of any of the contending chiefs to restore order. The present action, it was said, was not intended to assist one faction at the expense of another, but to demand in effect, that the Mexicans arrive at an early settlement of their troubles or at least provide for the sustenance of the starving population.

Talk of intervention—friendly or humane, but still intervention—which has been dormant ever since the European war diverted attention from the situation nearer home, was indirectly revived by the White House statement.

The events of the last 24 hours—the seizure by Carranza authorities of large quantities of corn purchased by the international relief committee, and the inability of the authorities at Vera Cruz and Mexico City to provide transportation for supplies to succor the ever-increasing bread line—brought about the determination to act.

Report by West

Officials daily denied reports that Great Britain had been exerting pressure for the relief of conditions in Mexico. It was pointed out, however, that Du Val West, after spending three months investigating conditions in Mexico, reported in effect that none of the leaders had sufficient capacity to dominate the situation and it is said to have suggested that the United States must compel a settlement.

Mr. West reported on his mission last Tuesday to the president. He is the first man sent on a similar errand to Mexico who had a thorough acquaintance with the Mexican character. His report is understood to have been pessimistic and to have emphasized the fondness for loot rather than patriotism among the warring factions; the incapability of the Mexicans at present to appreciate what constitutional government means; the steady degradation of the economic situation there; the people being on the verge of starvation and no food whatever in sight.

Moreover he is said to have reported that no military development could be expected to bring immediate relief, because of the scarcity of arms and ammunition brought about by the sale of large quantities to Europe by American manufacturers.

The great hope of the American government now, it is said, is that its influence on the situation will be such as to bring about a coalition of the best elements to set up a provisional government which may be recognized.

The west report was a complete indictment of all the methods used by the leaders, and entirely discounted the altruism with which they have been credited in the United States. Leaders were charged with robbing granaries and barns, exporting livestock and foodstuffs to the United States and safely depositing the money received for these goods in American banks, where they may keep it in safety.

About 1 per cent. of the population was reported as "soldiering," but the remainder are driven off or discouraged from gainful occupation by the certainty that whatever they produce would be seized by some wandering band.

Instances were given where foreign and native residents were repeatedly held up for large sums of money for the support of the "armies," which sums would eventually revert to the strong boxes of one leader or another. Several cities were said to be under repeated levies for food and money for the combatants; while the strategic position was such that no one faction could hope to control the country.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Rosalind Sturtevant by her many friends, on Thursday evening at the home of her cousin, Miss Rowena Sturtevant, 21 Nesham street. It proved a most enjoyable affair for the 20 girls who were there to participate in the many features. The principal attraction seemed to be the dining room, which was prettily decorated, pink and white being the prevailing colors. In the center of the table was a very large keeple with a bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms. A line of pink ribbon was draped around the room from which many girls, useful as well as ornamental, were suspended. Miss Sturtevant was escorted into the room and amid showers of confetti, tried to get busy collecting her presents. An informal evening of music and games was then started. Miss Helen Osgood carried on the honors and was loudly applauded for her numerous and original recitations. The girls departed at a late hour, wishing the prospective bride continued success and prosperity.

Lynn Slaughtered Pow-

Monday—Noted Run-
ners to Appear

(Special to The Sun)
LYNN, May 29.—Dick Durning, left-handed pitcher extraordinary of the Lynn Park club, held the heavy hitting Lowell club to four scattered hits yesterday afternoon and incidentally shut them out in a one-sided argument by the score of 10-0.

Lynn had supreme command of the ball at all times and after the first inning not one Lowell player saw third base.

Lynn has a pitcher shown to so good advantage as Durning did yesterday and the Lowell hitters might just as well left their bats in the dugout as to carry them to the platter.

The Louisville led issue but one free walk and had the Lowell batters slashing at his sharp curves which broke over the outside corner of the plate.

He was given excellent support by his teammates.

Lynn on the other hand hammered the shots of one Bill Powers, last year's star pitcher of the New London Association circuit, for 17 hits with a total of 23 bases.

Lynn played like a team of champions and gobbled every attempt of Lowell to put men on the bases.

One bag was pilfered on Haught and it was a night's decision for Bransfield to decide.

Lowell's only hit was a home run by Harry Haught, a tower of strength behind the bat and his work yesterday stamped him as a player who could take no back water from any receiver in the league.

Edouard Fabre and Jim Henigan will start from scratch in the 10-mile race at Bunting park Monday afternoon.

Official Handicapper McGrath looked over the list of entries for this event Thursday night, and decided that Henigan should start on even terms with the Montreal flyer.

Henigan has won many races at the 10-mile distance, and his recent performance indicates speed of class.

Lowell fans remember Henigan's remarkable work at Bunting park last year, and many of them believe that Fabre will have a hard time making the race for the durable and speedy Dorchester lad.

Other men entered in the 10-mile event, with handicaps, are as follows: Dominic St. Paul, Dorchester Athletic association, 500 yards; Martin J. Silver, West Newton, 540 yards; Leroy A. Davis, Bunting club, Exeter, N.H., 620 yards; Albert Nebes, Lowell, 600 yards; Albert Ives, Dorchester, 680 yards; J. J. Callahan, Dorchester Athletic association, 500 yards; Charles Horne, same, 320 yards; Fred Nagie, same, 250 yards; George H. Goddard, Lowell, 450 yards.

Lowell boys competing in the various events are handicapped as follows: 100 yards dash—Fred Silcox, three yards; George P. Haggerty, 51-2 yards; 220 yards—Fred Silcox, 61-2 yards; Geo. P. Haggerty, 61-2 yards; 440 yards—Geo. P. Haggerty, 22 yds; Guy C. Randall, 16 yards; 880 yards—Guy C. Randall, 28 yards; John F. Laratt, 40 yards; 1-2 mile run—Guy C. Randall, 55 yards; John F. PIRATE CREW AT THE OLD GAME
OF UPSETTING EXPERT OPINION

CAREY CLARKE HINCHMAN WAGNER

PITTSBURGH, May 29.—Fred Clark's crew of Buccaneers seems to have upset the dope again. Picked for a second division berth by the experts, the Pirates are booming along, fighting and scrapping and behaving generally like pennant contenders.

There are many reasons for this unlooked for deportment of supposedly hopeless tailenders, but there are three potent reasons which stand out in relief. These are Hinchman, Carey and Wagner. Carey and Wagner, the veterans, are playing a wonderful game in the field, and while not so strong at bat, still they are making enough timely bingles to win games, more than which none could ask for.

Bill Hinchman, a newcomer, is batting and fielding like a veteran. His playing to date has been a revelation, and he is being generally hailed as the "find" of the year.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

In Hartford they are telling an interesting story about Al Bannwart, secretary of the Colonial league, holding up a string of five to form his auto parade there on opening day, to save expense. But Al claims one of the five owners doubled up on him when he came to paying off. This, of course, made Business Manager Hugh McKinnon of the Hartford club smile.

Walter Hapgood, in his "Along the Sport Trail" column in the Boston Herald writes the following interesting "dope":

"The experiment of running a minor league outside the pale of organized baseball, an experiment that has several times been tried in the past and always culminated in failure was formally inaugurated again last week with the opening games in the Colonial league. Conditions surrounding the debut of the Colonial league is an out-law organization are somewhat unique in that, instead of playing a lone hand as did the Tri-State and others that might be mentioned, the Colonial has the moral and financial support of the Federal league, which is today a bigger and more formidable power in the baseball world than O. R. or its spokesmen like to admit. Because of this Federal patronage it is believed that the Colonial league will go through the season—its friends predict for it a considerable measure of success—although this is to be a heart-breaking year for the minor leagues as a whole."

The lambasting which the Cardinals handed the New York Nationals has not affected the high regard of Miller Huggins for the capabilities of McGraw as manager of the latent power of the Giants.

New York will be right up in the thick of the fight before the season is over, declared Manager Miller recently, "and probably before a great deal will be finished. Mac has had a great deal to do with which to contend on account of injuries to his real standbys—players like Mathewson, Snodgrass, Merkle and Perritt. This Perritt is a grand pitcher. He will win his 20 games before the end of the campaign. McGraw's greatest weakness so far has been in pitching. Until the weather settles he cannot hope to remedy the evil. But when summer does come some of these early pacemakers had better take a slide track. You must remember that in spite of all at New York tough luck the team with 126 games of the scheduled 154 remaining, though in last place, is just six and one-half games behind the leading Phillies."

Strong rivalry on the part of the Federal league with the International league club in Newark has led to many reports recently that Newark was to be dropped from the International league circuit and the team transferred to some Connecticut city, Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport being variously named. The reports were revived today with Bridgeport given as the city likely to get the club.

WHITE WAY PARADE

had to dispense with their red fire sticks.

The lights that so changed the appearance of the streets as to make a fellow think he was in another city were turned on at 8.10 o'clock. Mayor Murphy turning the switch at city hall that set the thing in motion. The lights, 184 luminous arcs in all, covered over two miles of streets and expressions of delight were heard wherever the "pale moon" appeared above an ornamental pole.

The oldest resident could not remember when he had seen so many strangers in Lowell and so thoroughly appreciate this fact one had to but look in at the hotels and restaurants after the parade was over. It seemed mixup, but they got by all right and everything went pearly as a wedding bell.

The parade reached city hall at 8 o'clock. The Salem Cadet band had finished selections from "The Chimes of Normandy," and the applause when the band finished playing and the head line of the parade arrived was tremendous. Chief Marshal T. J. O'Donnell looked the pink of perfection and if there is man in Lowell who she his saddle well that man is Thomas J. O'Donnell. Bark of him rode Major Charles A. Stevens, chief of staff. There came the battalion of military and the eleven companies of the high school regiment. Beside them in two automobiles were the officials who were to set the wheels in motion. The first machine held Robert F. Marden, president of the board of trade, and Secretary John H. Murphy. The second machine held Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, and Commissioners William W. Duncan, James H. Carmichael, Charles J. Morse and Newell P. Putnam. It did not take them long to reach the platform where was located the silver switch and with little ceremony the mayor turned it. Flashlight powder that had been set in pans exploded and the effect was blinding. When it could see again the "white way" was shining and the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner."

Then the parade was again headed by a platoon of eight police, under the command of Lieut. Martin Condrick. Next in line was the Salem Cadet band. Then came Marshal Thomas J. O'Donnell, and if "Tom" was susceptible to flattery his hat wouldn't fit him today. He had as chief of staff, Major Charles A. Stevens, and about 20 mounted men from various military and civic organizations officiated as aides.

Then came the militia headed by the Sixth Regiment band, Z. I. Blissette as acting leader. Maj. Colby T. Kittredge had command of the battalion. A section of Battery C, with 20 men and a score of horses was commanded by Samuel J. Needham.

The high school regiment was commanded by Col. Alfred Warren, with Lieut. Col. Arthur McCarthy, and Majors Sidney C. Perkins and Elliott Rundlett. The boys made a fine appearance and were really the piece de resistance of the parade. The high school drum corps was all to the good.

Next came the officials and behind them the "Light Brigade," headed by Ted's band of Boston. The parade was made up of the men who installed the ornamental lights and it seemed as if they received even more than their share of applause en route. The twelve-horse outfit was a great attraction.

The Lowell Military band headed the automobile division and what that band didn't do to "Tipperary" was little. There were eighteen marches in the automobile division and about all of them were decorated with flowers, ribbons and flags. It was generally conceded that Vernon L. French had the most artistically decorated automobile in line. Concerns represented in the parade included Saunders' Market with 14 horse-drawn delivery wagons, loaded with groceries and vegetables. The drivers were dressed in white and the feature was a very pleasing one. It was a feature big enough for all the markets in town. Others represented were George A. Hill, electrician; Ervin E. Smith Co., Lowell Metal Ceiling Co., and the Boston Fish market.

The police and fire department were headed by the Lowell Cadet band. Sept. Edmund Welch was in command of the detachment of 50 men and Chief Edward F. Saunders commanded the fire department. There were 35 firemen in line and after them came the chief's auto driven by Harry Sanders and then followed several pieces of fire apparatus. It was nearly ten o'clock when the parade disbanded at the Middlesex street.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE

FOR THE LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

THE LITTLE BROWN SPARROW

Once upon a time a little brown sparrow sat on the branch of a tree sighing to himself and saying: "I wish I was as pretty as the robin or bluebird or that I could sing as well as a canary. I don't think I am any good."

A bird nearby heard the sparrow and said: "Don't think you are of no use. I am sure you can find happiness and make others happy too." The little sparrow thought a minute and then said: "I will try hard and see what I can do," and then it hopped off from the tree and began to sing as well as it knew how.

Soon it saw some crumbs on a window sill and flew to get them, singing as it flew. It would eat a crumb and then sing a bit. All at once it heard a noise and flew away but soon took courage and flew back again. There standing at a window was a little boy, and as the bird flew towards the crumbs, he clapped his hands and said: "I knew if we kept quiet it would come back and, oh, doesn't it sing pretty."

Now that pleased the sparrow and it began to chirp and chirp as happy as could be, saying to itself: "I am glad someone likes to hear me sing." Now every morning the bird comes to the window and sings as well as it is able and then it finds some nice crumbs to eat.

One day, as it was eating its breakfast, a bad boy threw a stone and it fell to the ground with a hurt leg but his kind boy friend had seen the bad boy throw the stone, ran down, picked up the bird, took it into the house and bandaged its leg. He kept the sparrow until it was well and then let it out to fly about with its friends.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—With Cornell virtually conceding the championship, having been defeated in every event on the program, interest in the final day's competition in the intercollegiate track and field meet today centered primarily on the fight for second place between Harvard and Yale and Pennsylvania.

Semi-final and final heats in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 120 and 220-yard hurdles and finals in the quarter and half-mile runs, together with the mile and two-mile races, were the track events on the schedule. In the field events—the hammer, shot, pole vault, high and broad jumps—the six best in yesterday's trials competed for the five places in every event.

Harvard's great showing in the trial track events made her the favorite for second place and she was also believed to have best chance to contest Cornell's claims to supremacy. The latter, however, is assured of many points in the field events, while the Crimson will have to fight out with strong competitors for all the points she makes.

WHITE WAY PARADE

Continued

desex street depot and everybody voted the affair a huge success.

Parade Notes
The fourteen teams from Saunders' market was a feature of the parade that everybody appreciated, and when it came to color the "white way" had nothing on the drivers.

Did you notice the skill and dexterity with which Peter Flood guided those six horses of the O. P. Davis stable through the intricate movements made necessary because of the semi-blockade? Those horses were practically strangers to each other, and Peter had to do all the entertaining. Mr. Flood is some whip.

What's the matter with the Metal Workers? They're all right.

The fellows who rode in French's auto allowed they had the best seats at the show.

The high school boys covered themselves with glory. Everybody was proud of them. Yet some of the companies had serious ranks.

Charlie Keyes, the auctioneer, is a pretty good judge of crowds, and Charlie estimated last night's crowd at about 100,000.

With his usual progressiveness, Mine Host Henry W. Garrity of the Old Washington tavern was there with the big league stuff. He staged an open air musical show on the balcony of his hostelry and gave amusement to a vast crowd. It was quite an elaborate affair and those favored with seats on the balcony, not only enjoyed the show but were favored with an excellent view of the parade.

Chief of Police McKenna of Lawrence and Mr. McKenna, Deputy Sheriff Martin Conway, Hon. James R. Casey, Joseph Jennings, ex-Congressman Thomas J. Corbett and many others.

According to Assistant City Messenger C. F. Cronin, more people visited city hall last evening than ever before.

The high school boys were given a great hand as they marched into Merrimack street from Cabot street. They made the corner in true military fashion.

City Clerk Flynn entertained a large number of visitors at his office during the progress of the parade.

The large crowd at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets greatly enjoyed the procession but were greatly annoyed by an over-enthusiastic celebrator, who insisted on sticking red fire into their faces.

Many of the out-of-town visitors were surprised to learn that the merchants did not keep their stores open last night.

That despite the spirit of cordiality and hospitality that was evident on all sides last evening, there was one place that it was not respected, and that was on the street cars where the "end seat hogs" were out in large numbers.

The battery from Lawrence made a fine appearance. Their trip over the road did not worry them in the least and they repeated it when the celebration was over.

City Messenger Monahan and his assistants were kept on the jump last night showing visitors through the municipal palace.

A city hall clerk remarked last night that he never thought there were so many people right here in Lowell who had not previously inspected city hall.

Secretary John Cull had charge of the mayor's office last night and was quite busy showing the silver swivel that was presented to the mayor.

The clerks in the city engineer's office were courteous and went back several times to turn on the lights to accommodate belated visitors.

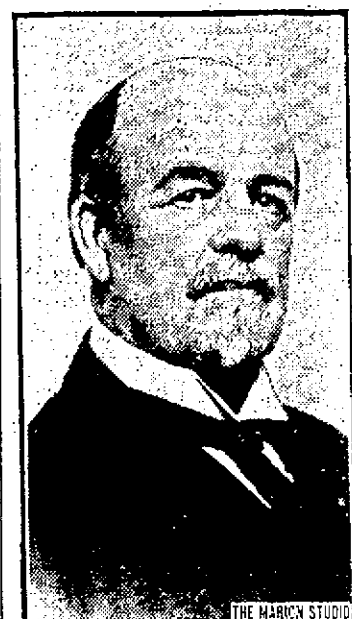

All of the hotels were well patronized after the parade and they deserved it, because they offered good attractions. Their menus were the best and the favors offered were much-proving, to say the least. There was good music and in some instances cabaret shows. The dining rooms, ice cream parlors and soda fountains did a prosperous business.

Among the out-of-town visitors who greatly enjoyed the white way celebration last evening was Edouard Fabre, the famous Canadian runner. Fabre came to Lowell to participate in the Bunting field games Monday. He is staying at the New American hotel. Tonight a reception in his honor will be held there at 8 o'clock and he will extend a glad hand to all who call.

The public service commission will give a hearing at 1 Benson street, Boston, Wednesday morning at 10.30 o'clock, on the extension of the car tracks in Varnum avenue. Residents of Varnum avenue met last night and made arrangements to attend the hearing. Members of the municipal council will also attend the hearing.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE
Col. William F. Page, C. S. B. of England, lectured on Christian Science at Colonial hall last night. The speaker was introduced by Elmore J. Chandler, president of the Christian Science Society. The speaker said: "Christian Science teaches us to worship God in His almightiness, in His fullness, in His infinity, not as some grand looking human being on a cloud or a throne, such a one cannot be omnipresent. Only as divine mind, and in His principle, life, truth and love can God be discerned. These terms refer to an absolute God and express the infinite."

Her Sons the First to Respond to Call to Arms in '61—Lowell Men Played Prominent Part in War of Rebellion

No city in the country has a prouder record in the war of rebellion than Lowell which sent out the earliest volunteers in response to the call to arms in '61, and whose citizens were the first to shed their blood for the old flag. During the war Lowell was ably represented by two generals, Butler and Ames while at Washington a Lowell man, Gustavus Fox directed the efforts of the navy.

The Lowell survivors of the conflict are organized into three Grand Army posts, whose ranks are slowly but surely thinning as the years roll by. Since the last Memorial day the ranks have been depleted to the extent of 25 well known member whose names are as follows: Anthony Rivers, Peter Donohoe, Edward S. Wheeler, John McVenus, Joseph F. Fuller, Roscovius Brown, William H. Ward, John M. Kingsbury, James Devlin, Joseph Keefe, George A. Abbott, David Carr, James B. Thompson, William A. Winslow, Chas. H. Frost, Thomas Burns, William H. Bent, James F. Smith, Edward Wheeler, James L. Gerish, George M. Foster, Richard Monahan, Jesse G. Courser, Patrick O'Brien, Benjamin Page, Charles E. Hadley, Wyatt Moulton and William McCoy.

Below is given a brief history of the three Grand Army posts of Lowell, as follows:

B. F. Butler Post 42
It was to be expected that the men who had risked their lives on the battlefield would organize and accordingly the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic was formed at Springfield, Ill., in 1866.

The B. F. Butler Post 42, G. A. R., of this city, held its first meeting January 29, 1868. The members had served in a great many regiments all over the country and had figured in practically every great battle of the war. The first place of meeting was in the old Mechanics hall in Post street and subsequently the Post met at the corner of Market and Central streets, but finally shifted to Memorial hall.

Benjamin F. Butler, for whom the post was named, was mustered in as a comrade in 1855 and was interested in the Grand Army until his death. The members are yearly growing less in number but those who remain are still loyal to the Grand Army and deeply and ever interested in the progress, prosperity and perpetuity of this republic.

The list of past commanders is as follows: George A. Marden, Alpha B. Farr, General Fiske, Charles H. Kimball, Charles H. Richardson, Edward W. Thompson, John A. C. Richardson, Albert L. Pindar, George W. Hanton, Major Charles A. Stott, George W. Worthen, Frank B. Peabody, John J. Dolan, James R. Fulton, Gen. C. R. Dolan, William H. L. Hayes, John Welch, Edward T. Rowell and George McIntire.

James A. Garfield Post 120, G. A. R., was named after the martyred president of the United States, is composed of men who played very prominent parts during the Civil War. While many of the members have died, others have moved out of the city and have been transferred to other posts.

When the call to arms was sounded in 1861 people flocked from all over the northern part of the country to fight in the Union cause and among the men who responded were the present members of Post 120, G. A. R. Inasmuch as many members belonged in other parts of the country prior to the war, all of the members of the post did not enlist in this state, but the majority of them fought in the Massachusetts regiments and participated in the principal battles of the war.

The post was formed on Oct. 28, 1881, and the first president of the organization was the late Charles H. Coburn, a prominent Lowell business man. At that time there were two active members, but many have been mustered out, while others have moved out of the city. Every year sees a thinning in the ranks, while the survivors are fast sinking under the weight of years. The memory of the dead, however,

is cherished by the Grand Army and at every Memorial day the graves of the veterans are decorated and memorial services held. Posts 42 and 120 cooperate in the keeping of a burial lot in the Lowell cemetery where the deceased brethren without means are laid at rest. These two posts have had this burial lot for about 15 years. The members of Post 120 meet every Wednesday night in the Mechanics bank building in Merrimack street. The attendance is usually very good and at the conclusion of the business meeting a social session is held. About four times a year camp fires are in order and those who have had the pleasure of being present at one of these are always ready to accept the invitation to another.

Very Interesting Demonstration as to Action of Wind by Col. Ames Relative to Sparks

One of the chief witnesses at yesterday afternoon's session of the superior court in the Tynsboro fire cases against the Boston & Maine railroad was Col. Butler Ames, who was called in as an expert. In the course of his testimony the colonel said that the wind which blew toward the river on the day of the fire went over the roof of the store building from west to east, and its course being obstructed by the building a reverse swirl was set in motion, which caused the sparks to be blown back, from east to west onto the building.

He said this was a law of nature just as immutable as the law of gravitation. While the colonel was testifying, cardboard models of the buildings drawn to scale, were produced, and an electric fan was set in motion, to blow in the corresponding direction, relatively to the models, to the direction of the wind on the day of the fire. Then smoke was blown through a tube made to resemble the smokestack of a locomotive, and the smoke was blown back from east to west, as Col. Ames had testified. The demonstration was the most unusual and interesting that has been seen in court for years.

John A. Stevens, a consulting engineer also testified as an expert, and his testimony covered a wide range from the difference in capacity of iron, between a locomotive spark and a cinder from the chimney of the factory, to conditions produced by the passing trains rounding a curve such as that at Tynsboro. At the close of yesterday afternoon's session court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

THIN GIRLS. Cut This Out

The expressions of happiness and gratitude of several of his young ladies patients for whom he prescribed the recently successful flesh-forming product, known as S-S-cream, is related by a physician in one of the medical publications, and it comes as a surprise to the ordinary layman to learn the heart throbs of distress which seems to affect so many young people who are abnormally thin. Also to know that the weight can be so readily increased by the use, regularly for a short time of this new treatment now obtainable at drugists in sealed packages with complete instructions for self-administration. ### LT. TOWERS SAYS U. S. SHIP WAS TORPEDOED

Made Examination and Took Affidavits of Captain Greene and Members of Crew

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Evidence forwarded by Ambassador Page to the state department today gathered by Lieut. John H. Towers, naval attaché at the American embassy at London, indicates that the American steamer Nebraskan was torpedoed by a submarine.

Lieut. Towers made a technical examination of the Nebraskan on her arrival at Liverpool and took statements and affidavits from Capt. Greene and members of the crew. The chief engineer stated that he saw the wake of a torpedo just before the vessel was attacked.

The detailed advice is being sent by mail but a summary of main features of the cable report was issued by the state department:

"The American ambassador in London informed the state department that the investigation of the Nebraskan incident by Lieut. Towers brings out the facts as follows:

Flag Hauled Down

"That the Nebraskan, had left Liverpool bound for Delaware breakwater on the afternoon of May 24, and was in water ballast. The words 'Nebraskan, New York' were painted on each side, amidst letters six feet high, and she flew the American flag continuously up to approximately 8.10 p. m., May 25, at which time the ship was about 40 miles southwest of Fastnet.

"The flag was then hauled down because the sun had set and the ship was considered at sea. The chief engineer of the ship at 8.24 p. m. observed a white streak in the water, perpendicular to the ship, on the starboard side, and a severe shock was almost instantly felt, followed by a violent explosion abreast hold No. 1.

"Hatch cover No. 1 was blown off, also cargo booms above the same, and the air was filled with oil and debris, the double bottom compartments below hold No. 1 having been used for tanks for fuel oil. Bottom plating and pieces of the side were blown up through two decks. The ship settled immediately by the head and officers and crew took to boats. After remaining off the ship about one hour they returned and headed the ship for Liverpool. Under orders of the British admiralty, a British naval trawler came up at midnight and remained with the Nebraskan until she reached the mouth of the Mersey.

"No one was seriously injured. The ambassador is sending by mail a detailed report of Lieut. Towers and the dispositions of three of the ship's officers taken by the consul at Liverpool.

Officials who read the report closely said it contained all the evidence of an attack by torpedo. There had been some doubt whether it was not a mine.

ETHIOPE TORPEDOED IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

German Dirigible Lost in North Sea—Italians Continue to Gain Ground—Capture Town of Storo and Bombard Riva

A member of Germany's under-sea fleet, which is prosecuting its most active and successful campaign of the war, has sent to the bottom another British merchantman. The Ethiope, of 2415 tons net, was torpedoed last night in the English channel, after her crew had been permitted to embark in small boats.

German Dirigible Lost

A German dirigible which raided Southend, on the Thames, three days ago, is believed to have been lost. A message to Geneva from Friedrichshafen, the home of the Zeppelins, states that the dirigible was struck by a shell, and on account of loss of gas was forced to descend in the North sea. The fate of her crew is unknown.

Italians Continue to Gain

Geneva advices represent the Italian armies as pushing further toward Trent and Trieste. The forces advancing in Trent are bombarding Riva, within 14 miles of that city, after having captured the town of Storo north of Lake Idro. In the invasion along the eastern end of the front, north of the Gulf of Trieste, the Italians have reached the vicinity of Gradisca, 14 miles from the city of Trieste.

FAHEY IN LINEUP FOR FIRST TIME THIS SEASON

no hits, no errors.
Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Second Inning
Houser worked Hoey for two strikes and then slipped one over the middle of the plate. Hoey's bat met the ball with a smack and a single was the result. Gleason tried to sacrifice Hoey along but popped one up to Egan. Dee took Orcutt's hard crack and threw to McCleskey forcing Hoey at second. Orcutt was speedy enough to foil all hopes for a double play. The Lynn center fielder was not speedy enough, however, to pluck the next station. He was thrown out on his attempt to steal. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Williams shot his fast ball through with great speed and fanned McCleskey. Stimpson's bat rapped against a curved offering but Porter trotted under it in deep right and Stimpson was out. The visiting boxman served a float to Dee and Shorty smacked the sphere to right for one base. Meyers made the third out on a foul fly which Haight took. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Third Inning

Noulton hit to center and Barrows misjudged the ball. Barrows claimed that he caught the fly before it touched the ground but the umpire allowed Noulton a hit. It was rank misjudgment on the part of the Lowell manager, and he didn't make the play look any better by kicking to the umpire.

Haight immediately sacrificed Moulton to second, Houser taking his slow grounder. Williams hit a high fly behind second base which Dee grabbed. Swayne showed some speed when he came in fast on Porter's fly to right and Lowell went to bat. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Mike Lynch ran over behind second base and took Egan's bounder. His throw beat the Lowell catcher by a stride. Gleason, the Lynn third sacker, performed another diamond feat, taking Houser's line drive while off his balance. Both plays were applauded. Swayne hanged the horse hide to left centre, the knock being good for a single. Fahey's drive was directly in Lynch's hands and the third inning was concluded without a score on either side. No runs, one hit, no errors.

BELIEVE FIRE SET

County Authorities at Gilmanton Iron Works,
N. H. Investigate

GILMANTON IRON WORKS, N. H., May 29.—County Solicitor John M. McGeorge of Tilton, Sheriff Philbrick of Laconia, with the selectmen, yesterday investigated the conflagration which wiped out the business section of this town early yesterday morning and believe it was the work of an incendiary. There were at least two attempts made to burn certain buildings last night, they believe.

Mrs. Jennie Keyes, owner of one of the houses destroyed, was awakened about midnight and put out a fire in the rear of her home by dousing it with a few pails of water. It was about two hours later that Mrs. Keyes discovered the fire at the Osborne Police buildings, which were the first to go. The county authorities are looking for Mrs. M. C. Tuttle, a former Boston resident, whose husband was once a member of the Boston police force, owing to her alleged threats to burn the Keyes building. She has lived here several years. Mrs. Tuttle was last seen driving toward Laconia at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Tuttle's son Charles, aged 11 years, was boarding at the house of Mrs. Keyes and, it is alleged, the two women were at odds over the boy. Tracks of a woman were found leading from the road to the back of the Price barn. A kerosene can was also found back of the barn.

State Attorney Tuttle of Manchester conferred last night with the county officials regarding the case. The total loss is put at $50,000. As there is no industry here, it is doubtful if any of the homes will be rebuilt.

Many people made homeless are being cared for by others, whose dwellings escaped the flames. The postoffice was moved to a nearby hotel. There was very little mail matter lost. Fire men were handicapped on account of no water supply and strong wind.

BIG THEFT OF BOOKS

BRYANT, ARRESTED IN BOSTON, CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF 192—POLICE RECOVER 400 IN ALL

BOSTON, May 29.—William R. Bryant, 25 years, of 119 West Lenox street, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Special Officer Traynor and Patrolman Manning of Division 2 on a charge of larceny of 192 books valued at $177 from the bookstore of David R. Nickerson at 212 Summer street.

The police claim that the arrest of Bryant followed a raid by them on several second-hand bookstores in the business section and that in all 400 books, most of them of the "de luxe" variety and valued at several hundreds of dollars, were recovered. It is charged that these books were stolen from large bookstores in this city, and that the man under arrest was responsible for the theft of some of them.

In connection with the alleged thefts by Bryant the police also took into custody, William L. Holworth of 47 Meridian street, Malden, who keeps a store at 66 Cornhill. He is charged with receiving stolen property.

The police of the City Hall station have been receiving reports for some time, they say, about the theft of books from downtown stores. Officers Traynor and Manning were assigned to the case and their investigation led them to suspect Bryant.

Several copies of a book named "Mary Moreland" were stolen on Thursday from a wagon in Pemberton square and were later discovered. It is alleged, in a second-hand bookstore. As the result of information they received Bryant was arrested late yesterday afternoon at his place of employment.

It is believed by the police that the value they have placed on the books, and which is between $100 and $500, does not cover by any means their actual value. Many of the copies are expensively bound and not a few of the books are rare volumes. They were piled in the office of Capt. Sullivan after their recovery to be used as evidence.

BY GWEN SEARS

TO ACQUIRE BEAUTY OF BODY

For the stout woman who suffers in hot weather let me express the cheering thought that it is better to be plump and uncomfortable than thin and unhealthy. Isn't it easy to understand that a remedy strong enough to take off flesh quickly will also lead down murder and disease?

The only absolutely safe and sure way to acquire a beautiful, lithe body is to adopt diet and a well planned system of exercise. Success depends entirely upon perseverance. No matter how carefully the diet is planned it will amount to nothing unless it is religiously followed. First of all a taboo should be placed upon all fat meats. That means pork in all forms, fat meat, mutton, lamb, veal, fat poultry or game. Eat roast beef or steak but have it lean, and be sure that it is well cooked. Do not eat meat oftener than once a day. Eat plenty of eggs but drink no milk. Cut out all tea and coffee and substitute water or lemonade.

Eat all the vegetables you wish providing they are not prepared with a cream or butter sauce. Acid fruits are flesh reducers. Eat all the oranges or grapefruit you wish but do not counteract the effect of the acid with sugar. Absolutely all sweetened dishes must be banned, for sugar is one of the greatest single fattening agents known.

Take at least half an hour's walk every day and don't walk half heartedly. Start out briskly and maintain the pace until you reach your destination. If possible do your walking at the same time every day.

Sleep is fattening but of course you should get sufficient amount of sleep. Seven hours out of the twenty-four is enough for the healthy person but if very tired eight hours will do no harm.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY

TWO WITNESSES TELL OF SPREES AT HAVERHILL HOSPITAL

HAVERHILL, May 29.—The municipal council's hearing of charges filed by Alderman Albert E. Stickney, head of the health and charities departments, against Miss Alice C. Marshall, superintendent of the Tuberculous hospital here, took a sensational turn last night, when Mrs. Mary Lillis, a former nurse, who was called as a witness, refused to furnish the name of a man who, she said, had returned to the hospital with Miss Marshall in an automobile later than midnight. Mrs. Lillis said the man is a prominent resident of the city and has a wife and children.

Council, aldermen and the mayor insisted that she tell the name and when she finally consented to write it on a pad for the mayor's private inspection the 600 persons who had crowded into the council chambers and city hall corridor howled protests and demanded that the name be made public. It did not come out.

Mrs. Lillis testified that while the superintendent was entertaining the duty nurse in the dining room she found a patient dead and upon reporting the death to Miss Marshall, was warned against allowing it to become known to Miss Emma Cook, the dietitian, because Miss Cook would tell about it.

Witness said it was a frequent occurrence for the superintendent to return to the hospital between 10 p. m. and midnight after an auto ride, take her friends to the kitchen for luncheon and disturb the patients by talking in the corridors. Miss Marshall, she said, had given her beer in her room when she was on duty. Witness saw whiskey in the room, she continued, and had one time given Miss Marshall a drink of it when she said she was sick. Ex-Dist. Atty. W. Stet. Peters appeared to present the evidence for Alderman Stickney, and Judge John J. Ryan appeared for Miss Marshall. The hearing opened in the afternoon and at 10 last night only two witnesses had finished testimony. The council adjourned until 8 a. m. Tuesday morning, when Mrs. Lillis will complete her testimony.

Miss Margaret McWay, who was dis-

charged, testified that she had seen liquor in the hospital, that there was no organization or discipline, and that one patient named Freeman had hugged, pushed, slapped and pounded Miss Marshall until he had left marks on her arms and legs. This had happened in different places in the hospital.

THE SPELLBINDER

The tumult and the shouting dies;
The board of trade and guests depart;
Still gleams the white way's radiant
eyes.

Along the taxpayer's homeward path,
For each bright gleam he'll settle yet,
That's one good bet—that's one best
bet!

The white way is a thing of beauty
and charm, and the show incidental to
its debut was a corker, but he who
dances must pay the fiddler, and the
taxpayer who danced yesterday will
pay for the fun when his tax bill comes
along.

From the standpoint of the humble
poll taxpayer, the show was well worth
the money, for it will have no effect on
the size of his tax bill, though the
white way which occasioned the grand
pageant will have to be paid for by the
property owners.

There is no getting away from the
fact that the white way is a most desirable improvement over the old article of street lighting, but just as the city signs up its contracts to pay for
it at a fine, fat figure, along comes Col.
Carmichael, back from Cincinnati, with
the cheerful information that in the
west there are white ways galore and
that the expense of their maintenance
is paid for without complaint by the abutters, rather than out of the public funds. In Lowell the timid resident of the outskirts who is afraid to venture
forth from his home at night, on account of the daily nightmarish state of his neighborhood, and who has cried in vain, "Let there be light" where it is
needed, will pay his proportionate share
toward maintaining the white way, just
like the down-town business man, who
no longer is required to burn extra
lights to make his place attractive.

"Those Neglected Schools"

At the legislature Monday, Mayor
Murphy representing the city in his
argument for the $300,000 high school
fund made several remarkable statements. His Honor is quoted as having
said: "The schools of Lowell have
been neglected for 20 years."

Within 20 years, His Honor was a member of the school board and should
be able to recall that within that time,
the Lincoln, Bartlett, Washington
and Greenhalge schools have been
built and additions built to the Green-
halge, and if I remember rightly, to
the Bartlett. Then the vocational
school was established taking up three
of the unused schools, all representing an expenditure of several hundred thousands. Just within the schools have been neglected is rather
difficult to understand. The mayor is
also quoted as having said: "The city
council and the school board are unanimous on the proposition. In other words, the school board and the school committee could not get together on a definite plan."

These remarks recall the fact that
only last spring when an attempt was made to start an agitation for a new
high school, the one man whose support was most desired, but which
could not be obtained, was Mayor Murphy himself. When asked why he could not use a portion of the money
which the city is permitted to borrow
within the debt limit Mayor Murphy
replied that three of the grammar
schools need attention very badly and
it was contemplated that this work
should be done within the debt limit.
The Pawtucket bridge, he said, would

cost the city about $50,000 and block
paving and a sewer extension into Wigginville would take all the money
the city can raise. He also spoke of
the tuberculosis hospital situation,
and said that Dr. McLaughlin had
been quoted as saying that Lowell
would be one of the first cities to be
prosecuted unless a suitable tuberculosis hospital is erected within the
time limit specified by the state department of health.

The distance from the debt limit
July 1, according to His Honor will be $202,000. But if all the matters mentioned by him are gone into, beyond
the talk stage the debt limit will be shot to pieces. In mentioning the city's
needs His Honor neglected to state
that about July 1 the city will need to dig up a fine big sum of money to pay
on the old temporary loan if it hasn't on hand. Balance to the contagious disease hospital His Honor might have
mentioned that the former administration selected a site which his administration turned down and now his administration is going to purchase one
for some future administration to
turn down.

After being entertained at luncheon
at the girls' vocational school in the
old Morrill school a few days ago the
members of the municipal council are
more keen than ever for a new school
for the girls. It is proposed to use the present Pudge street annex for the vocational school and the proposed new high school has been completed. This proposition while comparatively inex-
pensive will solve the needs of the vocational school and will give Principle Fisher an opportunity to develop
that institution along practical lines.

The Contagious Hospital

When the past administration attempted to live up to the law relative
to the contagious disease hospital a
howl went up on account of the site
selected and the members of this year's
government not only howled but upon
entering office undid all that their predecessors had done. The present administration attempted to put aside the
matter and did so as long as it could.
Now the members are howling for a
hospital as lustily as if they had never
attempted to side-track it, and yet
they contemplate evading the law
again by selecting only a site this
year, allowing the main part of the
transaction to go over until another
year. In the legislature last week, Dr.
John J. McLaughlin, state commissioner of health expressed his opinion
of the Lowell city government in no
unmistakable manner. Dr. McLaughlin severed the local city officials for
not making plans for a tuberculosis
hospital in this city. Lowell, he said,
has a population of more than 100,000
and maintained that there was no excuse
for a city of this size not having a
tuberculosis hospital of its own and
particularly in view of the number of
deaths due to consumption and the
prevalence of the disease in this city.
Dr. McLaughlin declared that if the hospital health built within the time
prescribed the matter will be referred
to the attorney-general and the city
of Lowell prosecuted.

There is no doubt that the state
commissioner meant exactly what he
said and judging from his remarks any
attempt to fool him by making a spurious over the purchase of a site for a hospital will not go. He is the kind
of man who must be shown and can

only be shown by the erection of a permanent building.

Every Little Bit, etc.

Inspector Frank O'Hare of the health
department appreciates the words of
the song: "Every little bit added to
what you've got, makes a little bit
more," for while his pay has been increased the increase is not as much
as it should be considering his valuable services to the department. Mayor Murphy having raised the salary of
about everyone else in the health department this year, should not forget
Inspector John Kearney, and Miss
Snow, the efficient stenographer of the
department, who appear to be about
the only ones not thus far favored
by His Honor. Of course the young lady hasn't a vote yet, I say "yet" ad-
visedly; but that shouldn't make any difference.

Another Life Sacrificed

While the city was in gala attire
over its new white way and the board
of trade was hustling on the plans for
the grand celebration in honor of the city's latest public improvement, little Alfred Jarrett fell into the canal
at Ford street and was drowned. His body being recovered a day later. A few days before a little Polish child
fell down the precipitous and unfenced
bank of the river in front street and
was rescued from drowning by Agent
Gilmore of the Humane society, who
happened to be riding by at the time.
Notwithstanding the earnest appeals of
the officials of the Trades and Labor
council before the municipal council
that some action be taken toward safe-
guarding the lives of children from the
unprotected waterways of the city, the
council has done nothing as yet, being more concerned in white ways,
bridges, street extensions and other
improvements than in the less important matter of saving the lives of children.

At the close of the hearing over a month ago Mayor Murphy who pre-
sided stated that the council would
take the matter under advisement.
Since that time apparently it has not
been thought of by the city, for despite the fact that there have been
several narrow escapes and one death
within a month. Had the five feet wire fence with barbed wire at the top been
installed at Ford street as asked for
by the petitioners the life of the Jarrett boy would not have been sacrificed.

Busy Cemetery Trustees

The cemetery trustees surely are
making themselves "strong" even with
those who were opposed to the bill
which created their offices for they
appear to be proceeding upon their
jobs in business-like manner. The only thing suggestive of politics that has
appeared at their meetings was injected by the mayor rather than by
any of the members. Their little run-in
with the purchasing agent will be watched with interest, and according
to public opinion is quite timely for as
a result of recent transactions at City Hall, people are beginning to question the necessity of the supply department. The heads of departments have been sending in requisitions so worded
as to preclude competition, making the
head of the supply department an en-
raged boy rather than a purchasing agent
and it would be well to have the matter ironed out at this time. The centery department occupies a peculiar
position among the municipal departments. It is supported by its own receipts and takes no money out of the
annual budget.

It is for this reason, presumably,
that the cemetery trustees hold that
they are not accountable to the purchasing agent in making purchases for

their department. Of course, the trust
funds for the perpetual care of lots are
held in trust by the city and the municipality is responsible for them, while
the city owns the cemeteries and would
have to support them if they were not
self-supporting. If it could be shown that the trustees of the cemetery are
exempt from the provisions of law relative to the purchasing agents department, then a similar contention could
be raised by the water department.
Let the purchasing agent hold up the
bill for those sections if he desires, but
don't hold up the trustees themselves,
for they will come in very nicely on Memorial day when the cemeteries are
crowded.

Lowell Day Celebration

Despite the bad weather, the Lowell
day celebration was a credit to the
board of trade, and was not entirely a
failure even if the weather was most
unpropitious. The volume of business
done by the merchants before the rain
descended gave evidence of what might
have happened had the day continued
fair and demonstrated the value of the board of trade's scheme. The celebration presented a most unusual situation. It was a big public affair in which the city government appeared

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

MARIE ON PUBLIC NUISANCES

"What is the matter with your cheeks?" asked Marie, as Marjorie rushed in one rainy day with a large bruised spot just under one eye.

"Oh, an inconsiderate, impolite woman jabbed her umbrella into my face," almost sobbed Marjorie, "and it is a wonder she didn't put my eye out!"

"Indeed it is," sympathized Marie. "When a woman with an umbrella forges ahead look out for your hat, your veil and your eyes. It matters not whether the dripping from the umbrella will ruin your suit or whether you have any rights, if you have any sense you will keep your distance. The closed umbrella, too, is just as much a public nuisance in the hands of an inconsiderate woman or man. Some people think because the point of the umbrella is out of their sight it is out of existence. Consequently it is allowed to wreck vengeance on all followers and, if a little child happens to be within punching distance of the ferrule, look out for his eyes."

"All the apologies and explanations in the world will not remedy the carelessness of this dangerous weapon. Only the other day a woman your aunt knows, was the victim of a violent earache. She had attended a lecture the evening before and had been the protesting listener who had been forced to take the breezes from the fan of the woman seated next to her. This woman may have been nervous and she may have been very warm. One thing is certain she was a public nuisance. She fanned violently with her fan and then with her program and great draughts of air were driven into the ear of your aunt's friend. She really got most of the cooling and she paid for it."

"There are many other nuisances and they are every day encountered in street cars and railway trains. Win-dows are raised or closed to suit the whim of one individual and someone else pays the bill. At the football game, the baseball game, the lecture and the theatre there is always the nuisance who makes a footstool or knee rest of the back of your seat and frequently spoils your pleasure by forcing you to object."

"There is only one thing to do," continued Marie. "Be polite and dignified but nevertheless hold your own against every public nuisance."

FIRE ON HURD STREET

LODGING HOUSE BADLY CUTTED
JUST BEFORE THE BIG PARADE
STARTED

A fire alarm which sounded at 7.51 o'clock last night, just before the big parade, necessitated the clearing of a portion of the streets in order to move the fire apparatus to proceed. An ambulance call was made shortly before 8 o'clock, also, and the ambulance made a slow run through Merrimack square. The alarm from box 228 was for a fire in the two and a half story lodging house owned and conducted by Mrs. Kate Welsh at 11 Hurd street. The fire started in a room on the top floor of the house while the occupants were out to review the parade. The blaze was discovered by a passerby and when the alarm was rung in the roof was blazing furiously and the entire house was filled with smoke. Considerable water was used in extinguishing the fire.

Telephone Alarm

At 10.40 o'clock a telephone alarm was received for a fire in the same house but this was quickly quenched. It was necessary for the lodgers to seek other quarters last night, so badly was the house damaged.

Ambulance Call

The ambulance was called to the foot mills where Harry Anderson of 51 Bridge street had injured his head by falling against a machine. He was removed to the Lowell hospital where it was necessary to take several stitches to close the wound.

VIEW OF THE MONUMENT

The latest addition to the many beautiful monuments in the Catholic cemetery in Gorham street is the Saunders memorial, erected to the memory of John F. Saunders. The memorial is of Western granite. The bottom base is nine feet long by five feet, three inches wide and one foot and two inches high. The die is seven feet long, three feet three inches in length and three feet four inches in height. It is of composite design, plain and substantial. On the front are two large laurel wreaths with the name Saunders in raised letters in between. The memorial weighs 14 tons, the lower stone weighing 7 tons and the upper stone 6 tons. It was built by the John P. McLean Co., of this city.

Letter No. 5 From the Turner Centre Creamery

Few people realize that the most IMPORTANT FOOD ITEM in the average home is the apparently insignificant article of milk. This is especially true where there are children. Scientists everywhere have been telling us for years that milk is about the only perfect food. In proportion to its cost it has the highest food value. Mothers who give their growing children plenty of GOOD milk need not worry about the rest of the diet.

We are telling the people of Lowell that our milk is pasteurized and bottled under the most sanitary conditions. It is rich, pure, and SAFE. Try it.

NEW STEAMSHIP LINES

Plans for Fast Service Between United States, South and Cen- tral America

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Plans for steamship lines between the United States and South America—the one element which all the delegates to the Pan-American financial conference agree is essential to closer relations between the two continents—were today by the transportation committee

A permanent committee of representatives of the United States, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, Ecuador and Peru to work for the development of the plans was recommended. Two sub-committee reports, differing only in proposals of procedure, were submitted.

One, signed by delegates Aldao of Argentina, Cavalcanti of Brazil, and Cosío of Uruguay proposes:

A fast line of 10,000 ton steamers between the United States and Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo and Buenos Aires capable of making the voyage to Rio in 10 days.

That as compensation for services rendered, such ships be exempt for five years from the 10 per cent tonnage tax under New York law.

That the steamers shall be registered in different countries in proportion to capital subscribed.

That vessels be of 5000 ton minimum and minimum speed of ten miles a hour.

That the board of directors be chosen by subscribing countries in proportion to capital subscribed.

Bids would be called for not later than December 31, 1915, would be acted upon within three months, and, if possible, would be awarded to the lowest bidder with the earliest delivery. The North and South American governments would agree on the division of expense.

It was agreed between the members and Delegate Veraga of Chile

Local members of the Royal Arcanum and their families are looking forward with great expectation to the Memorial service to be conducted by Lowell council, 8, next Thursday evening, June 3. The memorial services have always strongly appealed to the members of the order, but this year the program is of especial attraction, and a record-breaking attendance is anticipated.

Rev. Cuth E. Fisher will be the speaker of the occasion and the music will be furnished by the famous Mendelssohn quartet of Boston. The committee in charge of arrangements is as follows: John S. Jackson, P. R.

BUILDING AND REALTY

The Contractors Quite Busy—
New Buildings in Progress—
Real Estate Transactions

The most important building permit taken out at city hall during the past week was that issued to the Wamsutter Power company to cover the erection of a $60,000 building to be occupied by the United States Cartridge company. The new structure will be situated at the corner of Lawrence and Andrews streets and will be constructed of brick and wood with a concrete foundation. It will have a coverage of 50 feet on Lawrence street and will extend 350 feet on Andrews street. The entire building, which will be two stories in height, will be used by the Cartridge company as a manufacturing plant and the necessary equipment will be installed. The new building will be heated by steam by pipe connection with the heating system in the other buildings.

A large house to contain six apartments is to be constructed by James A. Brien at the corner of Vine and Appleton streets. The cost is estimated at $5000. Each apartment will consist of five rooms, pantry and bath. William W. Myers will build a handsome residence at 106 Highland avenue. The building will have one apartment of seven rooms, pantry and bath and will measure 25 by 30 feet. It will be heated by steam.

At 54 Georgia avenue, Patrick F. Mahoney will erect a dwelling of 8 rooms, pantry and bath at a cost of $4000. The building will have a foundation of stone and will be heated by steam.

A new house is to be erected in Hovey street by J. H. Gamble. It will have five rooms, pantry and bath and the cost will be $1500.

Grace Norton is to build a new one-

apartment house at 18 Inland street. The rooms will number eight besides pantry and bath and will be steam-heated. Cost, $2100.

At 15 Whitney avenue, Ledoit E. Kimball is to build a new garage at a cost of $100.

A new steel garage will be built by Henry T. Frenette in the rear of 18 Inland street. The garage will have a concrete foundation and the cost is placed at $75.

A concrete and wood garage is being constructed at 413 Walker street for Sarah McCarthy at a cost of $200.

The ell on the rear of the house at 21 Beech street, property of Jennie A. Wyman, is being enlarged to provide additional room for the bath room.

Michael Ansara is bringing a portion of the third story of the rear part of his property at 95-100 Suffolk street over the two-story front. Two new toilets will be installed. The work will cost $500.

Byam Bros. real estate brokers, with offices at the corner of Market and Central streets, report the following sales for the week ending May 28, 1915:

Papers have been passed on the transfer and sale of a home property situated at 55 Hildreth street, just off the Princeton boulevard. There is a large henhouse just in the rear of the house. Land over 11,000 square feet is conveyed with the buildings. The sale was negotiated for Archie Green, and the buyer is Edward J. Allard. Mr. Allard buys for a home. Two other contracts conveying property in the Highlands have also been closed.

THE ROCK GARDEN

The Rock Garden, to be successful, must be along the lines approved by nature. It must not, in any point, resemble a piece of masonry or other formal construction. The most satisfactory location for it is at the foot of a gentle slope, where it can climb the declivity and the rocks be given the appearance of jutting out from the hillside. But very excellent results may be achieved on flat surfaces if it is remembered to let the rocks appear to creep out on the surface rather than appear to be placed there for a purpose. The rock garden should have its highest point or beginning at some natural or artificial boundary—a wall, or better still, a clump of trees and shrubbery which will serve to mask its origin. From this vantage point it may extend in a natural way to the limits marked out for it; here an isolated boulder, here a group of less pretentious stones and again a group of large stones may find room in their pockets for a small tree. The extent may be two or three rods in width at one end and gradually narrow until at the other it becomes an occasional rock on the lawn.

DRYING-YARD FOR CLOTHES

The inventiveness of those who plan estates is put to a test in hiding the drying-yard for clothes. Good taste requires that this be an enclosure. When it is near the kitchen the problem is easily solved; for if there is not a natural barrier of shrubbery, it can be hidden by lattice-work. If it is necessary to locate it elsewhere, it should be surrounded by a wall of greenery, such as a hedge of Norway spruce or of hemlock. Either must be often clipped when young so as to insure a permanent dense growth near the ground.

PROTECTION AGAINST MOTHS

Moths in general are likely to affect only articles which are put away and left undisturbed for some little time. Apartments and closets that are frequently aired and swept are not apt to be seriously affected. In fact, airing and sunlight are probably the best as well as the oldest remedies.

POTTERY

Why not use pottery in your summer cottage or in your nursery? It is made in such wonderful patterns and is so artistic that it is fast replacing the china sets, especially for bungalow use. This is particularly true of the Paul Revere pottery which is made in all sorts of unique designs.

This ware appeals especially to the children, for whom animal designs are much used. Dancing, running, jumping rabbits, chickens, ducks, and all sorts of little animals are put on porridge and bread-and-milk sets. The children become so attached to these dishes that if any article is broken, it has to be sent back to be matched. The animals, children's names, and little mottoes are used for the little ones, while for the older ones there are conventional designs, landscapes, or flowers.

Whole sets of the pottery are often used in the summer cottages. For the tea service, there are quaint little Dutch tiles finished in gray, yellow, green, or other attractive colors.—House Beautiful.

STRAWBERRY DISTRICTS

A recent survey of the production and marketing of strawberries in the United States, made by the department of agriculture, indicates that the eight most important commercial strawberry districts are Central California, Ten-

ECONOMICAL BUNGALOW COTTAGE

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

An economical bungalow cottage to build, either in the city, suburb or on a lot in a country town or small village. This little bungalow has a living room across the front, dining room in rear, good pantry and large kitchen, combination stairway and piazza across the entire front, which is screened in for summer use and can be glazed for the winter and used as a sun room.

The second story is carefully planned. There is a full basement under entire house. First story is 9 feet high and second story 8 feet. Rooms are finished up to full height, in second story, with closets for each room. First story is finished in red gum, red oak or Washington fir, all of clear quality. Second story is pine to palm, Southern pine or Washington fir. Size, 26 feet wide by 28 feet deep over the main part. Cost to build, $2,850, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

nessee, Maryland, Delaware, Southern Louisiana, North and South Carolina, Virginia and Ozarks. In 1911, 1,905 carloads of strawberries were shipped from Central California. Lesser quantities were shipped from the other districts which are named in the order of their importance. From the Ozarks came 748 carloads last year. The north, however, plays a more important part in the strawberry industry than these figures might indicate. Great quantities of berries are grown in the north in small patches and shipped to market by trolley, express, or in the producer's own wagon. Only a very small portion of northern grown berries are concentrated into carload lots, the basis for the government survey. In the south, however, on the Pacific coast, where berries are shipped long distances it is economical to arrange to have them sent by carloads.

AN AMERICAN OPPORTUNITY

These are great times for American hotel-keepers. As the newspapers and magazines tell us with wearisome iteration, thousands of Americans who would like to go to Europe this summer will have to go to San Francisco or the Rockies, or some other place out of reach of the submarine and the Zeppelin; and hundreds of thousands of good dollars will be poured out along American roads by prosperous tourists. The next two or three years will offer unprecedented opportunities to our hotels and tea-houses.—House Beautiful.

BABY RAMBLER ROSES

The Baby Rambler and Polyantha roses are very desirable for border gardens and flower beds, as well as to grow along the margins by taller roses in rose gardens. There are now a dozen desirable varieties of this type. They bloom over a long season and require practically no care except winter protection and the cutting off of the flowering branches as the blossoms fade. Louise Walter, Mrs. Cuthbert, Katherine Zeimet, and Orleans are four of the best varieties.

MEMORIAL DAY

We have had many memorial days in the passing of the years and on each one of them we have honored the dear departed and the living links that bind us with an exalted past, but never was its appeal more vital than now. This year we can readily understand what it means, and we can more thoroughly enter into its spirit for while the rest of the world is at war we enjoy the peace and liberty that are the direct fruits of American struggles and sacrifices. With gratitude for the past and with hope for the future we once again honor our heroes living and dead and consecrate ourselves anew to the ideals of American democracy.

Memorial day is a day of memories, and no nation can prosper and progress that does not hold sacred its history and traditions. Superficial observers have been inclined to censure our thoughtlessness, our irreverence and our materialism, but there is nothing to be censured in our observance of Memorial day. On that day, year after year, we take stock of our nationality and recall the great deeds of dark days that America may march onward in the light of freedom. On that day we pause and look back that the newer generations may realize what their fathers did to establish and preserve the ideal of democratic government.

What a blessed contrast we afford to the rest of the world this glorious Memorial day of May! Raping, ruin and unutterable misery have swept the nations like a devouring flame; the war god is loose and humanity staggers beneath its blow. Once we, too, had great wars, one of which threatened to overthrow the triumphs of Washington and the great nation he established, but liberty triumphed, the nation was saved and America, the home of freedom, progressed in prosperity and peace. Out of this hellish struggle may dawn a purer democracy, and man's inhumanity to man may be a dream of the past.

Let us then once more heartily honor the dead who died for America and the thinning ranks of the living who alas are nearing the final bourne. Let us fly the flags and place wreaths on the graves to the strains of martial music and the booming of cannon. Let us bless the past and remember its story that we may be ready for any call that the future may make on our American manhood, our American patriotism and our unswerving loyalty and devotion to the stars and stripes.

OUR NAVY FLAWS

This is the day of the submarine as the most effective craft in modern naval tactics, and America is waking up to the fact. Congress has authorized the construction of 26 new submarines, and it has been officially announced that these will be the most effective of their kind in the navy of any great power. In the meantime there are revelations that warrant attention and immediate investigation, if our navy is not to be a collection of mechanical failures.

Recently this country was shocked by the loss of a submarine that, without warning, plunged to the bottom of Honolulu bay, carrying its crew to their death. A few days ago, naval maneuvers were held in the Atlantic, in which 12 submarines took part. Six of the under sea craft broke down, and at one time or another were unable to take their part in the war game. What would this mean if instead of playing at mimic war, the submarines were in reality proceeding against an enemy?

Secretary Daniels has declared his intention to make a full investigation into the causes of this regrettable condition. He will ascertain whether it is the result of faults of construction or whether it is due to defects in the method of reporting or making repairs. He has been commendably frank in his statements, concerning the question, and the comments on the case should not be partisan. It is the American navy that will be investigated, and all America should help and encourage anything that would make its navy a better national defense.

Secretary Daniels points out that the submarine is still in the experimental stage, and that all of those which were in trouble were constructed prior to 1912. The faults should surely be discovered and eliminated before the 26 new submarines are constructed. Germany has done wonderful work with its submarines and has shown that in that country they have reached a high point of efficiency. We have the brains, the materials, the money, the time to investigate and plan fully; is there any good reason why our submarines should be inferior to those of any power on earth?

TIDY UP!

We have had a clean-up campaign that presumably had fine results; we have had a great rain to wash the streets and freshen the lawns and gardens; we have had all kinds of campaigns towards the cultivation of the city beautiful ideal. Let us now show practical results.

It is wonderful what even slight attention to the premises will do at this season. An hour spent by many citizens in the little lot before the door, or the garden at the side, or the lawn at the back, will have a splendid effect on the general appearance of the city.

If the grass plot before the door has not made a good showing this year, there is still time to help it along. Nothing will grow in the shady hollow under the trees. The vacant space at the side that you have used as a dump and that is littered with old cans and refuse will grow peas, beans, tomatoes and corn. The sunny spot under the parlor window will be ideal for a bed of geraniums or pansies. The way to have all these things is to try to have them. Merely looking at your uninviting premises and envying your neighbor will bring you nothing.

The general appearance of a city depends on the initiative and collective effort of its individual citizens. Lowell is too big for the competitive attempts that make North Billerica so beautiful and orderly, but we can have the same results without the competition, if our people respond to the call of the city beautiful. Now is the time to make the initial preparations for a better and more beautiful city in the long days of summer and fall.

FACTS FIRST.

Regarding the possible answer of Germany to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania, one man's guess is as good as another's, and most expressed opinions are founded on imagination. One declares that Germany's attitude will be defiant; another says it will be conciliatory, but only Germany really knows—and Germany is taking its time about it.

A novel prediction is made in a recent despatch from Amsterdam. It says that owing to the gravity of the situation, and the momentous possibilities that lie in it, Germany will not answer President Wilson's protests in the preliminary note, but will make a statement of facts, as Germany sees them, asking that this nation admit such facts. While there is little doubt here as to the real facts, such a policy is not undesirable. In any debate or discussion, there must be some common ground of argument, and if Germany sees the facts in one light and America in another, no exchange of diplomatic notes is likely to bring about an agreement.

Briefly, the facts as America sees them are: that the Lusitania—a passenger ship, while carrying many neutral passengers, was sunk by a German submarine in direct defiance of international law. It will be interesting to hear the statement of facts as Germany sees them. If Germany and this nation cannot find a set of facts to acknowledge in common, then all diplomatic parleying will be in vain.

EXPORT FRAUDS

To ship contraband to Germany is one thing; to defraud the United States is another. Yet both considerations may be combined in the one transaction. Indictments have been found by the federal grand jury against several prominent American business men who have been alleged guilty of filing false manifests covering certain shipments to Europe. In one case, shipments of rubber valued at $50,000 were concealed in barrels of resin and bales of cotton waste, and the fraud was discovered through the agency of the X-ray. Such actions are decidedly illegal, but they are to be condemned even on broader grounds as a breach of neutrality and a danger to our best interests in a national sense. American business expects the government to stand firmly behind it in any complications that may arise, but to make the issue clear with any foreign government, our hands must be clean. If England discovers contraband masquerading in a harmless guise, it will be all the harder for our legitimate shipments and shippers to get fair play. We must be square in our dealings if we expect our government to insist that foreign nations must be square with us. This issue is clear, and there is little excuse for violators of our shipping regulations.

Constantinople, but it will be at a heavy cost. England is certainly paying the price, for in the sinking of the Lusitania her fifth great battleship has been destroyed at the mouth of the famous narrows. This sacrifice of ships and men was one of the most fruitful causes for criticism of Churchill's admiralty policy in England, and it would not be strange to find a cessation of attempts to silence the forts from the sea until the land forces progress further along the peninsula, silencing the forts in their way. With Austrian, German and Turkish submarines operating in the narrow channel, and around its mouth, and the mines that are sent adrift as quickly as others are swept up, the ships of the allied fleets run enormous risks. That six great battleships have been sunk and many put out of commission before anything important is achieved proves the difficulty of reducing the Dardanelles from the sea, or the cost of such reduction. Still, the allies show no indication of moderating the attack as yet, and the land forces seem to be gaining slowly but steadily.

The legislature has done well in letting the jitney question go over to the next general court. At present the jitney craze is too new and untied to afford any permanent information as to its workings, and it will take time to show its weaknesses and reveal what regulations are necessary to protect the public while being fair to the jitney operators.

The weather was perfect, enthusiasm ran high, and the belated "White Way" celebration went off with a bang. Everybody was happy and general satisfaction was the order of the day. Lowell is surely a bright city, now that our fine new lighting system is blazing away, and last night it was easy for those on the streets to believe that we are soon to enter a new era of prosperity. Let there be light!

When we think of the need for a new bridge at Pawtucketville, it might be well also to think of the collapse of the Chelmsford street bridge and the fire at Memorial hall; nothing is more dangerous in a community than a false sense of security.

What does Lowell do for its children in summer? They need playgrounds, ball grounds and swimming pools.

Which is the more necessary—the extension of Dummer street or the cleaning up of the Concord river?

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At last evening's meeting of Wamelet lodge, 25, K. of P., it was announced that Deputy Grand Chancellor I. W. The regular meeting of Busy Bee circle, Daughters of Liberty, was held last evening at the home of Mrs. A. Dexter on East Merrimack street, with Mrs. Charles Richardson presiding. Following the transaction of important business, a beautiful supper was served. Whist was also enjoyed. The circle has been invited to attend the Memorial service at the First Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at 2.30.

One Day Only

Monday, May 31st

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

To all who call at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Monday, May 31, I will give Consultations, Diagnosis of Disease, and Examinations, Absolutely Free of Charge.

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as infallible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

You have no idea of the joy of living until every bone, tissue, muscle and organ of the body is brought up to 100% efficiency, which my system does.

If you are sick or have any kind of stomach or intestinal trouble it will require a short term of curative feeding—then, I balance the diet so as to give to the body all the elements of nourishment. It requires according to your age and your occupation.

If medicine is needed in any case I prescribe only such remedies that do not conflict with the proper diet.

I get results and this ends all argument.

Dr. NAUGHTON will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, MONDAY, MAY THE 31st, 1915, from 7.00 o'clock in the morning until 7.00 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

WARNING TO MEXICO

all the warring factions in Mexico that conditions in that country have become intolerable and that, unless they compose the situation soon, some other means may have to be employed to accomplish the result.

The first intimation of the president's determination to take this step came yesterday in his appeal issued as head of the American Red Cross, asking for help. "Due to several years of internal disturbance, the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation," and urging contributions to relief funds.

Later the White House gave out the following: "When the president's appeal for aid for the Mexicans was issued, it was also stated at the executive offices that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

Hinting Intervention

High officials referred to the president's forthcoming pronouncement as not meaning immediate intervention and they emphasized the word "immediate." The impression in executive quarters was that on purpose was issued to place responsibility for the present state of affairs squarely upon the military elements in the southern republic, which have overrun the country and appropriated its food supply or prevented the filling of the toll.

While anxious to continue the policy of allowing the Mexicans to settle their differences without outside interference, the president is said to be determined that the civilian population of the country shall not be starved in the meantime.

This statement has been prepared and will be issued after the cabinet meeting next Tuesday and then communicated to the leaders of all the Mexican factions.

Officials at the White House and state department declined to say what the president's statement contained, but denied that recognition of any faction was now contemplated. It was stated authoritatively that while friends of Carranza here had been pressing for recognition, the Washington government had not been impressed with the ability of any of the contending chiefs to restore order.

The present action, it was said, was not intended to assist one faction at the expense of another, but to demand in effect, that the Mexicans arrive at an early settlement of their troubles or at least provide for the sustenance of the starving population.

Talk of intervention—friendly or hostile, but still intervention—which has been dormant ever since the European war diverted attention from the situation nearer home, was immediately revived by the White House statement.

The events of the last 24 hours—the seizure by Carranza authorities of large quantities of corn purchased by the international relief committee, and the inability of the authorities at Vera Cruz and Mexico City to provide transportation for supplies to succor the ever-increasing bread line—brought about the determination to act.

Report by West

Officials flatly denied reports that Great Britain had been exerting pressure for the relief of conditions in Mexico. It was pointed out, however, that Du Val West, after spending three months investigating conditions in Mexico, reported in effect that none of the leaders had sufficient capacity to dominate the situation and is said to have suggested that the United States must compel a settlement.

Mr. West reported on his mission last Tuesday to the president. He is the first man sent on a similar errand to Mexico who had a thorough acquaintance with the Mexican character.

His report is understood to have been pessimistic and to have emphasized the fondness for loot rather than patriotism among the warring factions; the incapability of the Mexicans at present to appreciate what constitutional government means; the steady degradation of the economic situation there; the people being on the verge of starvation and no food whatever in sight.

Moreover he is said to have reported that no military development could be expected to bring immediate relief, because of the scarcity of arms and ammunition brought about by the sale of large quantities to Europe by American manufacturers.

The great hope of the American government now, it is said, is that its influence on the situation will be such as to bring about a coalition of the best elements to set up a provisional government which may be recognized.

The worst report was a complete indictment of all the methods used by the leaders and entirely discounted the altruism with which they have been credited in the United States. Leaders were charged with robbing granaries and barns, exporting livestock and foodstuffs to the United States and safely depositing the money received for these goods in American banks, where they may keep it in safety.

About 1 per cent of the population was reported as "soldiering," but the remainder are driven off or discouraged from gainful occupation by the certainty that whatever they produced would be seized by some wandering band.

Instances were given where foreign and native residents were repeatedly held up for large sums of money for the support of the "armies," which sums would eventually revert to the strong boxes of one leader or another. Several cities were said to be under repeated levies for food and money for the combatants, while the strategic position was such that no one faction could hope to control the country.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Pauline Sturtevant by her many friends, on Thursday evening at the home of her cousin, Miss Rowena Sturtevant, 24 Nesmith street. It proved a most enjoyable affair for the 20 girls who were there to participate in the many features. The principal attraction seemed to be the dining room, which was prettily decorated, pink and white being the prevailing colors. In the center of the table was a very large centerpiece with a bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms. A line of pink ribbon was draped around the room from which many gifts, useful presents. An informal evening of music and games was then started. Miss Helen Osgood carried off the honors and was loudly applauded for her numerous and original recitations. The girls departed at a late hour, wishing the prospective bride continued success and prosperity.

Lynn Slaughtered Pow-
ers' Offerings and
Humiliated Local ClubProgram for Big Meet Monday—Noted Run-
ners to Appear

(Special to The Sun)

LYNN, May 29.—Dick Durning, left-handed pitcher extraordinary of the Ocean Park stars, held the heavy hitting Lowell club to four scattered hits yesterday afternoon and incidentally shut them out in a one-sided argument by the score of 12-0. Durning had supreme command of the ball at all times and after the first inning not one Lowell player saw third base.

Seldom has a Lynn pitcher shown to so good advantage as Durning did yesterday. The Lowell hitters might just as well have left their bats in the dug-out as to carry them to the plate. The Louisville lad issued but one free walk and had the Lowell batters washing at his sharp curves which broke over the outside corner of the plate. He was given excellent support by his teammates.

Lynn on the other hand hammered the shots of one Bill Powers, last year's star pitcher of the New London champions of the now dead Eastern Association circuit, for 17 hits with a total of 23 bases. Powers early in the game gave up trying and lobbed the ball up to the Lynn hitters who profitably proceeded to drive their batting averages. It was Powers' debut with Lowell and if yesterday's game is a sample of his work he will acquire his walking ticket.

Every Lynn player secured one or more base hits, except porter, Mike Lynch, Wheat Orcutt and Allie Moulton securing three line safeties each off the offerings of Powers, with Lynch playing the stellar role with a three-bagger. In addition to hammering the ball so that the horsehide was almost egg-shaped, Lynn also run wild on the bases, stealing nine bases on Greenhauge and Ryan. In this department of the game Orcutt was the principal parlor-trick, securing three cushions, while Gleason, who had a close race with the outfielders with two to his credit, one being on the head end of a double steal with Orcutt.

Lynn played like a team of champions and gobbled every attempt of Lowell to put men on the bases. Durning was given excellent support, although one error was charged to Mike Lynch for fizzling Edgar's shot hit in the fifth inning. This, however, did not do any material damage as two men were down when Mike slipped up. Harry Haight was a tower of strength behind the bat and his work yesterday stamped him as a backstop that will take no back water from any receiver in the league.

One bag was pilfered on Haight and it was a mighty close decision for Haight to decide. Haight ate up the fielding stunt of the day in the sixth inning, when he ran into deep right field and with his back to the ball caught Gleason's hard smash with his gloved hand. It was a magnificent piece of work and Barrows was given a cap on by the bleachers.

OFFICIALS FOR FOOTBALL GAMES

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Officials for the more important football games next fall were chosen last night at a meeting of the Inter-Collegiate football rules' sub-committee on officials. James A. Babbitt of Haverford college presided.

Tufts of Brown will referee and Philz, also of Brown, will umpire the Yale-Harvard game, while Dr. Williams, Pennsylvania, will be field judge and Morice, Pennsylvania, head linesman. At the Princeton-Harvard contest, Langford of Trinity will referee. Williams, umpire; Pendleton, Bowdoin, will act as field judge and G. N. Barthart as linesman.

For the Yale-Princeton game the officials will be: Tufts, referee; Marshall, umpire; Morice, field judge; Pendleton, linesman.

A Vudor Shade will make a sleeping room of your piazza. The Thompson Hardware Co. are sole agents.

Edouard Fabre and Jim Henigan will start from scratch in the 10-mile race at Bunting park Monday afternoon.

Official handicapper McGrath looked over the list of entries for this event Thursday night, and decided that Henigan should start on even terms with the Montreal flyer.

Henigan has won many races at the 10-mile distance, and his recent performances indicate speed of Cliff Horne's calibre. In fact, track experts are of the opinion that Henigan can defeat Horne at the present time.

Lowell fans remember Henigan's remarkable work at Bunting park last year, and many of them believe that Fabre will have a hard time making the pace for the durable and speedy Dorchester lad.

Other men entered in the 10-mile event, with handicaps, are as follows: Dominick St. Paul, Dorchester Athletic association, 500 yards; Martin J. Silver, West Newton, 640 yards; J. H. Davis, Bunting club, Exeter, N. H., 620 yards; Albert Nebes, Lowell, 600 yards; J. J. Callahan, Dorchester Athletic association, 500 yards; Charles Horne, same, 320 yards; Fred Nagle, same, 250 yards; George H. Goddard, Lowell, 450 yards.

Lowell boys competing in the various events are handicapped as follows:

100 yards dash—Fred Silcox, three yards; George F. Haggerty, 5-12 yards; 220 yards—Fred Silcox, 6-12 yards; Geo. F. Haggerty, 10 yards; 440 yards—Geo. F. Haggerty, 22 yds; Guy C. Randall, 16 yards; 880 yards—Guy C. Randall, 28 yards; John F. Larratt, 40 yards; One-mile run—Guy C. Randall, 65 yards; John F. Larratt, 90 yards; Ten-mile run—Albert Nebes, 600 yards; Geo. H. Goddard, 450 yards.

There is much interest about town in the reception to be given Fabre at the new American house tonight by the municipal council and business men of the city.

PIRATE CREW AT THE OLD GAME OF UPSETTING EXPERT OPINION

PITTSBURGH, May 29.—Fred Clark's crew of Buccaneers seems to have upset the dope again. Picked for a second division berth by the experts, the Pirates are booming along, fighting and scrapping and behaving generally like pennant-contenders. There are many reasons for this unlooked for deportment of supposedly hopeless tailenders, but there are three potent reasons which stand out in relief. These are Hinchman, Carey and Wagner. Carey and Wagner, the veterans, are playing a wonderful game in the field, and while not so strong at bat, still they are making enough timely bingles to win games, more than which none could ask for. Bill Hinchman, a newcomer, is batting and fielding like a veteran. His playing to date has been a revelation, and he is being generally hailed as the "find" of the year.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

In Hartford they are telling an interesting story about Al Bannwart, secretary of the Colonial league, holding up a string of jitneys to form his auto parade there on opening day, to save expenses. But Al claims one of the jitney owners doubled up on him when he came to paying off. This, of course, made Business Manager Hugh McKinnon of the Hartford club smile.

Walter Haggood, in his "Along the Sport Trail" column in the Boston Herald writes the following interesting "dope":

The experiment of turning a minor league outside the pale of organized baseball, an experiment that has several times been tried in the past and always culminated in failure, was formally inaugurated again last week with the opening games in the Colonial league. Conditions surrounding the de-law organization are somewhat unique in that, instead of playing a lone hand as did the Tri-State and others that might be mentioned, the Colonial has the moral and financial support of the Federal league, which is today a bigger and more formidable power in the baseball world than O. B. or its spokesmen like to admit. Because of this Federal patronage it is believed that the Colonial league will go through the season—its friends predict for it a considerable measure of success—even though this is to be a hot bed of rivalry for the minor leagues as a whole.

The lambasting which the Cardinals have meted out to the New York Nationals has not affected the high regard of Bill Haggood for the capabilities of McGraw as a manager of the latent power of the Giants.

New York will be right up in the thick of the fight before the season opens," declared Midget Miller recently, "and probably before the season is half finished. Mac has had a great deal to which to contend on account of injuries to his real standbys—players like Mathewson, Snodgrass, Merkle and Perritt. This Perritt is a grand pitcher. He will win his 30 games before the end of the campaign. McGraw's greatest weakness so far has been in pitching. Until the weather settles he cannot hope to remedy the evil. But when summer does come some of these early pace-makers had better take a slide track. You must remember that in spite of all New York tough luck the team, with 156 games of the scheduled 161 remaining, though in last place, is just six and one-half games behind the leading Phillies."

Strong rivalry on the part of the Federal league with the International league club in Newark has led to many reports recently that Newark was to be dropped from the International league circuit and the team transferred to some Connecticut city. Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport being variously named. The reports are revived today with Bridgeport given as the city likely to get the club.

Inquiries in Newark and of International league officials failed to reveal any present basis for the rumors, but in other quarters usually well informed as to impending baseball developments it has predicted that an International league circuit change was not unlikely before the season began to wane, with the probability that Bridgeport or some other Connecticut town would be asked to take over the Newark franchise. It was not believed, however, that any immediate switch in the circuit was impending.

There is one thing which the umpires in the circuit should be instructed not to allow, and that is expressions of profanity on the ball field. This has happened several times this season at Riverside park, and yesterday when a protest was made from the Lewiston bench against a decision of the umpire, the expression was audible in the grandstand, even after the umpire had cautioned the men on the bench to quit wrangling.

Umpires should be made to enforce the laws of decency at least, and if a heavy fine were imposed on each and every player who so forgot himself as to resort to profanity on the ball field there would soon be a stop to the practice. It not only demoralizes the game, but such talk is disgusting to everyone in the park, and especially to women who happen to be in the grandstand.

Umpire Keeler made a serious mistake when he allowed the incident in yesterday's game to go by unnoticed. It may be all right for a player to register a kick when he thinks he has just caused, but it can be done with better effect than by resorting to profanity.—Lawrence Telegram.

Is it any wonder that the attendance in Lawrence is not any too satisfactory? The lean crowds may be blamed to conditions generally or to sundry other reasons, but the fact remains that this year's schedule committee did as much to hurt the attendance here as anything else. Lawrence is at home for seven games in a row, which is, by far, too much for any club to be at home. It may be all right for the Boston clubs, but not with New England league cities. Too much baseball is as bad as too little.—Lawrence Tribune.

The Worcester Gazette says:

"Lawrence and Lowell look the best of the teams which have played here. The former have four wonderful pitchers, two great hitters in Luster and Warner, and a dangerous batsman in Mahoney. This sums up the main points of strength. Lowell has a hard-hitting team, one of the kind that is apt to break up a game at any time. They have not been getting good pitching, however, except from Gleaser, and their work in the field has been ragged."

WARNING TO MEXICANS TODAY'S STOCK MARKET GRAND ARMY PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Must Devise "Some Other Means" of Settlement, Says Pres. Wilson —Hints at Intervention

WASHINGTON, May 28.—President Wilson's forthcoming statement on the Mexican situation will contain a detailed review of conditions and serve as a warning to the factional leaders that the United States will insist on an improvement of the international situation. While officials refused today to discuss what alternative the president has in mind it was broadly intimated that the administration is determined to take such steps as may be necessary.

The statement has been written by President Wilson, himself, on his typewriter in his study, and is said to contain about 1500 words. It will be forwarded to the various Mexican leaders through American agents. It is said to be based on the conclusion that conditions in Mexico have come to such a state that the United States as the southern republics' "next friend" must see to it that there is a change.

An embargo on the exportation of arms from the United States is understood to have been under consideration. The report to President Wilson by Duval West who recently returned from Mexico is said to have pictured the apparent inability of any faction to get command of the situation.

The president, however, it was understood today, did not determine on his part Mr. West's report alone, but took those facts in connection with much other data that has been coming to him for months.

American Red Cross supplies for the famine sufferers are to be concentrated in three great government warehouses at Galveston, Laredo and El Paso.

Negotiations with Carranza and Villa authorities to open the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City are progressing and the Red Cross authorities propose to have supplies ready.

Letters to the governor of every state, many prominent men and some interested parties in Mexico, asking co-operation, were sent out today by Red Cross headquarters.

TRADING AT STANDSTILL

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION AND IMPENDING HOLIDAYS CAUSED HALT—CLOSING FIRM

NEW YORK, May 28.—Trading in stocks was almost at a standstill today, the impending holidays, coupled with the probability of the publication of Germany's reply in the interim making for increased caution. Prices tended lower in the early dealings, war shares and other specialties scoring declines of 1 to almost 3 points. United States Steel fluctuated within a point and other favorites moved more narrowly. Reading and Rock Island fell a point and Missouri Pacific steadied on further deposits of notes under the extension plan. The list showed general improvement later. The closing was firm. Bonds were easy.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 28.—Cotton futures opened steady, July, 9.35; October, 9.72; December, 9.94; January, 10.01; March, 10.14. Futures closed steady, July, 9.37; October, 9.72; December, 9.95; January, 9.95; March, 10.23. Spot quiet, middling, 9.60. No sales.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, May 28.—Zinc stocks continued to move freely but at lower prices on the local exchange today and there was some demand for a few copper favorites. Other stocks were dull and generally lower. The close was irregular. American Zinc, 47; Copper Range, 61 1/2; North Butte, 30 1/4; Grandby, 79.

RECORD FOR SHELTER

BOSTON, May 28.—Another record price for prime western shelter was reported today at 23 1/2 cents a pound for spot delivery. June shipments have sold at 23 cents. The "brass specials" grade of shelter has been booked at 25 cents on some business and the asking price has now been advanced to 27 cents a pound.

Dauss was to pitch in the double header with St. Louis today, and he asked the marriage license clerk to keep the wedding a secret, as he feared he would be nervous if the baseball crowd knew he had just been married. The wedding was a double ceremony, a sister of the bride being married at the same time.

SALISBURY WATER SUPPLY

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, May 28.—The state gas and electric light commission has authorized the Salisbury Water Supply company, the new corporation that has taken over the business of the Artesian Water company at the beach, to issue 350 shares of preferred stock, 350 shares of common stock and $70,000 in bonds to finance the undertaking. The new company asked for $50,000 in common stock and the same amount of preferred stock and bonds to the amount of $100,000. While cutting down the amount the commission says it may consider the matter further when the plans of the company are more fully carried out so that the actual expense incurred may be more definitely determined. The company plans to supply water to the beach and the town and a sewerage system at the beach as well as financing the projects.

GRAND ARMY PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY

DR. C. B. SANDERS, Chief Marshal Memorial Day Parade

HIS SERVICE IN THE CIVIL WAR

Dr. Charles B. Sanders, who will act as chief marshal of the Memorial Day parade is one of the best known physicians of this city. He is a member of Post 185 and one of the oldest physicians in Lowell.

Dr. Sanders was born in Lowell in 1841 and received his early education in this city. Later he attended the Berwick academy and graduated in medicine from Dowdell college.

On Aug. 11, 1862, he enlisted in the 13th New Hampshire regiment, in which he served 18 months, and then got a commission as first lieutenant in the 30th U. S. (colored) regiment. With his company of 56 men the young lieutenant was prominent in the battle of Crater, where he was made prisoner, being kept at Columbia, S. C., as a prisoner of war for seven months.

Dr. Sanders was mustered out of the service on Dec. 23, 1865, and in 1869 he returned to Lowell to practice his profession. After being away from Lowell for a number of years, the doctor returned to his native city some 22 years ago and has remained here since, serving for many years on the pension board, from which he retired a few years ago. In the Memorial Day parade the doctor will wear the sash which he wore at the Crater battle, and which he keeps and cherishes with the greatest pride.

On Monday next, over 50 years after the close of the Civil war, 120 veterans, or thereabout, of that war, will participate in the annual Memorial day parade, a day of memory as unique as it is beautiful. At a season when nature is fairest and sweetest, and the promise that seed time and harvest shall not fail is again renewed in a land of beauty and plenty and peace, we pause for a time to consider the sacrifice which made us what we are, and to express in flowers, as it were, our gratitude to the heroes who sleep beneath the mounds hallowed by their dust. The Civil war veterans will not be the only ones to join in the parade, but they are foremost to claim our attention, because we remember the long-ago, when the national life was imperilled. Fifty years have changed the boys of sixties, and as they place their tributes over the hearts of their comrades of yore, visions of the past rise before their fading sight and they are young again. This one thing we notice most of all is that each year the line grows shorter, and were it left to these men the beautiful custom of strewing flowers would soon wane, but as one by one they pass their places are taken by scores of younger men and women who will not suffer their memories to be forgotten. The general orders of the chief marshal, the G. A. R. posts and the Spanish War Veterans, for the observance of Memorial day are appended:

LATE WAR NEWS

no important changes in France or Belgium. Italians Advancing Armies of Italy are drawing nearer Trent and Trieste, the principal cities of the territory over which Italy went to war. Little news of the campaign is received from Italy, on account of a rigid censorship that dispatches from Geneva state that the Austrians are advancing. Near Goritz the Austrians offered determined resistance, leading to fierce bayonet fighting. In Trieste anti-Italian disorders are reported and the municipal authorities are said to have fled.

50,000 Turkish Troops Turkey now has about 50,000 soldiers on Gallipoli peninsula. It is estimated at Athens and is bringing in reinforcements from Syria, concentrating her efforts on the defense of Constantinople. On this account offensive operations in the Caucasus have been abandoned and the Russian army is pressing forward steadily from the Province of Van. The Turks are said to be threatened with a shortage of ammunition.

Austro-German Advance The Austro-German advance in Galicia is still being prosecuted with success, except for the Russian victory on the San at Sienawa. Reports from Vienna indicate the maneuvers are proceeding unchecked and that this fortress may soon be surrounded.

ITALIANS CAPTURE TOWN OF STORO AND ROMBARO RIVA GENEVA, Switzerland, May 29, via Paris, 2:15 p. m.—The Italians after a severe fight along the frontier north of Lake Jora have captured the town of Storo and are now bombarding Riva.

On the eastern front, north of the Gulf of Trieste, bayonet fighting is in progress.

STEAMER SAXONIA RESCUES CAPTAIN AND 16 OF CREW OF BRITISH STEAMER FALMOUTH, May 29, 2:20 p. m.—The steamer Saxonia brought into this port late last night Capt. McDonough and 16 members of the crew of the Ethiope, which was picked up by the Ethiope. They were picked up while drifting about in a small boat. Sixteen other members of the crew, in another boat, have not been reported as yet.

The Ethiope was proceeding down the channel at 9:30 o'clock last night when the report of a gun was heard and a shot crossed her bows. A submarine which appeared to be about 300 feet long came into sight. The Ethiope attempted to escape, but two more shots were fired and the vessel was stopped.

The commander of the submarine gave the men on the Ethiope five minutes in which to take to the boats and then torpedoed the steamer. She sank five minutes later.

The Ethiope, of 2475 tons net, was built in 1906 and was owned in Liverpool. She was 340 feet long. She was last reported as arriving at Hull, England, on April 22 from Lagos. The Ethiope was bound from Hull to progress south of Goritz. The Austrians are retreating slowly. Italian forces have arrived before Gradisca, about 16 miles from Trieste.

The Italian authorities issued an order last night prohibiting Austrians and Germans from leaving the country.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Eyes aid much in making a woman beautiful if their color is all right, but many eyes are lacking in the eyelash fringe and eyebrows. You may improve this condition, however, says Hortense. The ones who have heavy brows want to get rid of them, and the ones who haven't wish for them.

An application of olive oil each night will help to make them gray, and the following is good but you must be careful and not let any enter the eye: Vaseline, two ounces; tincture of cartharides, one-eighth of an ounce; oil of lavender, 15 drops; oil of rosemary, 15 drops.

Mix thoroughly and apply to the eyebrows with a tiny toothbrush once a day, until the growth is sufficiently stimulated, and then apply less often. The ointment may be used for the eyelashes, also, but should be very carefully applied as it will inflame the eyes if it gets into them.

What English women long ago used to call the "beauty bath" is undergoing a revival, says Hortense. Although its list of ingredients sounds very portentous, its results, as so soothing and whitening the skin, are quite remarkable.

For thin, nervous women it is especially good, as it soothes and quiets the nerves and besides has nourishing qualities which are unsurpassed. Here is the formula: Pulverized lupin seeds, 12 ounces; oatmeal, 8 ounces; barley, 8 ounces; bran 1/2 pounds; rice, 4 ounces; orange, 2 ounces; gilly flower, 2 ounces; lavender, 2 ounces.

Mix and let boil in rain water for three-quarters of an hour, then strain and add a small amount to your bath water in which you have dissolved one-half ounce of bicarbonate of soda and one-half ounce of borax. Take this bath twice a week and do not use soap.

Almost every woman has her own particular remedy for her summer complexion inconveniences like sunburn and freckles. Here is Hortense's advice to protect your complexion. For sunburn she says to use milk with a little cucumber juice squeezed into it. After bathing, riding or golf have a bowl of milk brought to you with some crushed cucumber floating in it.

Then take an interesting novel in one hand and a small pouge in the other, and as you read, dab. That is, dip the sponge in the bowl and dab it over your face and as soon as it dries dab some more. It is really a most cooling and beautifying process.

For red or rough hands use plenty

of oatmeal when

SPANISH WAR VETERANS' UNION

General Ames Camp Is Prosperous — Under
Commander Mitchell

Sketch of Its Origin
and Progress—Present Members

Among the leading and fast growing Spanish War Veteran associations of the state is Adelbert Ames camp of this city, which, with a membership of nearly 150 has attained a standard and influence in this community that is rarely reached by an organization of its kind.

Adelbert Ames camp was instituted shortly after the muster out of the Sixth regiment in January, 1899. At that time a number of officers and non-commissioned officers associated and agreed to call a meeting of the discharged men for the purpose of forming a Spanish War Veterans' camp. Early in that year a meeting of 30 veterans was held in Memorial hall with Sergt. Lewis G. Hinton as temporary chairman and at that time the camp was organized and the following officers elected to guide its course: Captain, William F. McGee; first lieutenant, Alexander D. Mitchell; second lieutenant, Frank Boyle; adjutant, Frank Dodge; treasurer, Philip McNulty.

The first meetings were held in the hall over the Wamsott National bank at the corner of Middlesex and Thordike streets. After three months, however, quarters were engaged in Wyman's Exchange, where camp meetings were regularly held until rooms were secured in Memorial hall in 1903. From that time until the fire on March 1 of this year meetings were held in Memorial hall.

During the administration of Commander Philip McNulty the camp became affiliated with the national body of Spanish War Veterans, then known as the National Spanish War Veterans. In 1903 there was a reorganization of several of the national organizations and they were then named "United Spanish War Veterans." Frank Dodge was the first commander under the new organization. At this time the Department of Massachusetts was organized. Robert Crowley was the first department commander. Frank Dodge the first department adjutant and James N. Greig the first department quartermaster. The following camp commanders in succession were Michael H. Harrington, 1904; James N. Greig, 1905-06; Mark Bentley, 1907; Edwin E. Nowlan, 1908; Gilbert E. Sutherland, 1909-10-11; Frank Hotchkiss, 1912; Gilbert W. Hunt, 1913-14; and Alexander D. Mitchell, 1915.

From an organization of 50 members the camp has steadily grown and today boasts of a membership of about 150. Since the first of the year when Commander Mitchell took charge, 20 new members have been initiated. Commander Mitchell has proven to be one of the hardest workers the camp ever had and has been instrumental in the large increase in its membership. He is still struggling to induce men who were in the service of the United States between May 1, 1898, and January, 1902, to join the camp and make it the best and strongest in the state. The financial condition of the organization is especially strong at the present time, having a large relief fund besides the regular treasury.

Meetings are held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The officers of the camp for 1915 are: Commander, Alexander D. Mitchell; senior vice commander, Thomas F. Muldoon; junior vice commander, A. D. Mitten; adjutant, Bert W. Chandler; quartermaster, William M. Prescott; sergeant major, Arthur S. Coburn; Q. M. Sergt. Eugene Aldrich; trustees, Frank Dodge, Elgin J. Bill and Charles L. Faneuf; historian, Walter L. Cutler; chaplain, Frank Boyle; officer of day, Carl E. Laubach; officer of guard, Albert E. Richardson; senior color sergeant, Fred E. Nichols; junior color sergeant, George E. Everett; patriotic instructor, John P. Cryan.

Germany Again Tells Shippers to be Careful
in War Zone

WASHINGTON, May 29.—An urgent warning to American shipping against traversing the naval war zone incautiously, which took the form of a letter displayed as conspicuously as possible, including illumination at night, was communicated to the state department today by the German government through the American embassy at Berlin.

The German warning was announced in the following statement made public by the state department: "The American ambassador at Berlin has been informed by the German foreign office, that in view of the fact that during the past few weeks, it has repeatedly occurred that neutral ships have been sunk in the waters designated as an area of maritime war by German admiralty on February 4, 1915, and specially in one case where it was established that the sinking was traceable to an attack by a German submarine, which took the neutral ship for an English vessel in the darkness, on account of the inadequate illumination of its neutral distinctive markings, it recommended that American shipping circles again be warned against traversing the area of maritime war incautiously and, also, be urged to make the neutral markings as plain as possible and especially to have them illuminated promptly and sufficiently at night."

BILL IN EQUITY

Officials of Harvard College Ask Instructions on Will

BOSTON, May 29.—A bill in equity, asking instructions to the court in carrying out an agreement with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to take up certain work provided for in the will of Gordon McKay, was filed in the supreme court today by officials of Harvard college.

Mr. McKay, who died 12 years ago, left virtually his entire estate to Harvard to maintain a separate school for instruction in arts and sciences, particularly in those relating to applied science. The fund at present amounts to $550,000. The college, unable immediately to carry out the provisions of the will, arranged for the Institute of Technology to take up the work. The court is now requested to pass upon the legality of the transfer of the fund from the college to the institute.

PARTIDGE-BERRIES

Botanical Expert After Investigation in Newfoundland Reports Government Should Make Sale on Industry

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 29.—In the course of an effort to develop the trade in the berries known in Newfoundland as partidge-berry, the government today made public a report of an investigation conducted by G. S. Torrey of Harvard college, a botanical expert. Mr. Torrey finds that this berry which is entirely different from the American "partidge-berry," is a variety of the cranberry of American commerce.

It is identical with the fox berry of Nova Scotia and the mountain or rock cranberry of the United States and is known in the Chicago market as the lingen berry.

The berries grow in great quantities on the moorlands of the colony and always have been used locally. Ten years ago they were introduced to the export trade, and last year about 5000 barrels were shipped out of the colony. They have found particular favor with the Scandinavian population of several cities in the United States. Mr. Torrey expresses the opinion that with careful supervision of the moors, intelligent cultivation and development of markets, the government should be able to make the sale of the berries an important industry.

WHITE WAY PARADE
AN IMPOSING FEATURE

Big Turnout and Many Features
Viewed by Immense Crowds—
New Lights Appreciated

More than 100,000 persons, men, women and children, witnessed the opening of Lowell's "white way" last night. It was the biggest crowd ever seen in the streets of Lowell and enthusiasm was at concert pitch. The tooting of automobile horns and the shouting indulged in by the multitude was almost deafening when the lights were turned on. First they flickered a bit, then glowed softly and then burst forth in

TURKISH TROOPS ON THE GALLI POLI PENINSULA NUMBER 50,000

LONDON, May 29, 12.03 p. m.—The Turkish troops defending the Gallipoli peninsula against the landing forces of the allies number 50,000, according to the correspondent at Athens of the Renter Telegram Co.

The Turks, remaining on the defensive in the Caucasus, are concentrating all their efforts on the Dardanelles, whither reinforcements are being brought from Syria. The supplies of ammunition, both for the infantry and the artillery, are reported to be decreasing rapidly, with no prospect of being replenished.

Reports reaching Athens from Sofia set forth that Bulgaria is holding to neutrality, but the leaders of the opposition party believe that if Rumania intervenes in the war Bulgaria will follow suit.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING ALONG SAN IN GALICIA—ALLIES ADVANCE

LONDON, May 29, 11.52 a. m.—The reply of the Imperial German government to the note of the United States concerning the sinking of the Lusitania is awaited with interest in England. The belief is general that Berlin will endeavor to gain time by the discussion of debatable points in the question at issue.

Terrific fighting is continuing along the river San, in Galicia, with the Austro-German hosts making progress except at Sleniava, 50 miles north of Przemyśl, where, according to the claims of Petrograd and the admissions of Vienna, an Austria-Hungarian line is being thrown back across the river to the west bank. In this action the Russians assert that they captured several thousand prisoners and a number of guns.

In the Caucasus the Russians, now in occupation of the city of Van, in Turkish Armenia, are steadily advancing against the Turks.

The latest report given out by French army headquarters dwell on the British advance toward La Bassée and further French progress in the most difficult sector of the Lens-Arras line. Near Ennui, a little to the north of Arras, a formidable German fortress bars the road to the eastward. The French have captured a part of this work, which is known as the "labyrinth" and they are now endeavoring totally to reduce it. The Germans are fighting stoutly to prevent allied progress in this direction and have made no less than seven sanguinary assaults on the new French position at Angres. Berlin reports that the battle at Ablain-St. Nazaire is still raging.

LEADING BATTERS

Luderus Leads National,
Cobb American—Tom
Daly Second

CHICAGO, May 29.—Every team in the National league except St. Louis, has a representative among the ten leading hitters, according to averages published here today. Including the games of last Wednesday, Boston leads in the number, with three. Fred Luderus, Philadelphia, continues to set the pace with a percentage of .360. Then come T. Clarke, Cincinnati, .350; Good, Chicago, .344; Connolly, Boston, .331; Grog, Cincinnati, .326; Daubert, Brooklyn, .327; J. Smith, Boston, .326; Merkle, New York, .325; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, .315; Rudolph, Boston, .310.

Chicago and Cincinnati are tied for the leadership in club batting at .251. Bresnahan's eleven thefts still are a high water mark. Sauer, Chicago, holds scoring honors with 28.

With five victories and no defeats, Pierce of Chicago leads the pitchers. Combs, Brooklyn, is credited with three wins and no losses; and Standridge, Chicago, Meadows, St. Louis, and Lovander, Chicago, each two and none.

Cobb ran his average up from .400 to .427 in the past week and has accumulated 12 stolen bases, leading his rivals of the American league as well in runs scored—a total of 41. Following Cobb, the leaders in batting are: Daly, Chicago, .421; Russell, Chicago, .400; Fournier, Chicago, .378; Jackson, Cleveland, .355; Crawford, Detroit, .341; Ruth, Boston, .333; Kavanagh, Detroit, .332; Lejole, Philadelphia, .307; Shotton, St. Louis, .306; Strunk, Philadelphia and McInnis, Philadelphia, tied for tenth at .305. Detroit with 255 and Chicago with 260 lead the clubs.

Credited with four victories and no defeats, Renz, Chicago, ranks first among the pitchers. Jones of Cleveland, has won 1 and lost none; Faber, Chicago, 2 and 1; and Fisher, New York 6 and 1.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET

CORNELL VIRTUALLY CONCEDED
THE CHAMPIONSHIP—FIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—With Cornell virtually conceding the championship, having men qualified in every event on the program, interest in the final day's competition in the intercollegiate track and field meet today centered primarily on the fight for the other positions between Harvard, Yale and Pennsylvania.

Semi-final and final heats in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 120 and 220-yard hurdles and finals in the quarter and half-mile runs, together with the mile and two-mile races, were the track events on the schedule. In the field events—the hammer, shot, pole vault, high and broad jump—the six best in yesterday's trials competed for the five places in every event.

Harvard's great showing in the trial track events made her the favorite for second place and she was also believed to have best chance to contest Cornell's claims to supremacy. The latter, however, is assured of many points in the field events, while the Crimson will have to fight it out with strong competitors for all the points she makes.

WHITE WAY PARADE

Continued

glesex street depot and everybody voted the affair a huge success.

Parade Notes
The fourteen teams from Saunders' market was a feature of the parade that everybody appreciated, and when it came to color the "white way" had nothing on the drivers.

Did you notice the skill and dexterity with which Peter Finel guided those six horses of the U. P. Davis stable through the intricate movements made necessary because of the semi-blockade? Those horses were practically strangers to each other, and Peter had to do all the entertaining. Mr. Flood is some whip.

What's the matter with the Metal Workers? They're all right.

The fellows who rode in French's auto allowed they had the best seats at the show.

The high school boys covered themselves with glory. Everybody was proud of them. Yet some of the companies had suffered ranks.

Charlie Koyes, the auctioneer, is a pretty good judge of crowds, and Charlie estimated last night's crowd at about 100,000.

With his usual progressiveness, Mine Host Henry W. Garrity of the Old Washington tavern was there with the big league show. He staged an open air minstrel show on the balcony of his hostelry and gave amusement to a vast crowd. It was quite an elaborate affair and those favored with seats on the balcony not only enjoyed the show but were favored with an excellent view of the parade. Those so favored included Chief of Police McKenna of Lawrence and Mrs. McKenna, Deputy Sheriff Martin Conway, Hon. James B. Casey, Joseph Jennings, ex-Councilman Thomas J. Corbett and many others.

According to Assistant City Messenger C. F. Cronin, more people visited city hall last evening than ever before. The high school boys were given a great hand as they marched into Merrimack street from Cabot street. They made the corner in true military fashion.

City Clerk Flynn entertained a large number of visitors at his office during the progress of the parade.

The large crowd at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets greatly enjoyed the procession but were slightly annoyed by an over-enthusiastic celebration, who insisted on sticking red fire into their faces.

Many of the out-of-town visitors were surprised to learn that the merchants did not keep their stores open last night.

That despite the spirit of cordiality and hospitality that was evident on all that it was not respected, and that was on the street corners where the "end seal hogs" were out in large numbers.

The battery from Lawrence made a fine appearance. Their trip over the road did not worry them in the least and they repeated it when the celebration was over.

City Messenger Monahan and his assistants were kept on the jump last night showing visitors through the municipal palace.

A city hall clerk remarked last night that he never thought there were so many people right here in Lowell who had not previously inspected city hall.

Secretary John Cull had charge of the mayor's office last night and was kept quite busy showing the silver switch that was presented to the mayor.

The clerks in the city engineer's office were very courteous and went back several times to turn on the lights to accommodate belated visitors.

All of the hotels were well patronized after the parade and they deserved it, because they offered good attractions. Their menus were the best and the favors offered were mirth-provoking, to say the least. There was good music, and in some instances cabaret shows, the dining rooms, ice cream parlors and soda fountains did a prosperous business.

Among the out-of-town visitors who greatly enjoyed the white way celebration last evening was Edouard Fabre, the famous Canadian runner. Fabre came to Lowell to participate in the Bunting field games Monday. He is staying at the New American hotel. Tonight a reception in his honor will be held there at 8 o'clock and he will extend a glad hand to all who call.

The public service commission will give a hearing at 1 Beacon street, Boston, Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, on the extension of the car tracks in Varnum avenue. Residents made arrangements to attend the hearing. Members of the municipal council will also attend the hearing.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE
Col. William F. Felt, C. S. B., of England, lectured on Christian Science at Colonial hall last night. The speaker was introduced by Elmore J. Chamberlain, who is in the teaching of Christian Science. The speaker said:

Christian Science teaches us to worship God in His aloneness. In His fullness, in His infinity, as some of the grand looking human beings on earth, or a throne, such a one cannot be omnipresent. Only as divine mind, truth, principle, life, truth, and love can God be discerned. These terms refer to one absolute God and express the infinite.

Her Sons the First to Respond to Call to Arms in '61—Lowell Men Played Prominent Part in War of Rebellion

No city in the country has a prouder record in the war of rebellion than Lowell which sent out the earliest volunteers in response to the call to arms in '61, and whose citizens were the first to shed their blood for the old flag. During the war Lowell was ably represented by two generals, Butler and Ames while at Washington, a Lowell man, Gustavus Fox directed the efforts of the navy.

The Lowell survivors of the conflict are organized into three Grand Army posts, whose ranks are slowly but surely thinning as the years roll by. Since the last Memorial day the ranks have been depleted to the extent of 23 well known member whose names are as follows:

Anthony Rivers, Peter Donohoe, Edward S. Wheeler, John McManus, Joseph F. Fuller, Roscovian Brown, William H. Ward, John M. Kingsbury, James Dealin, Joseph Keefe, George A. Abbott, David Carr, James B. Thompson, William A. Winslow, Chas. H. Frost, Thomas Burns, William H. Bent, James F. Smith, Edward Wheeler, James L. Gerish, George M. Foster, Richard Monahan, Jesse G. Courser, Patrick O'Brien, Benjamin Page, Charles R. Hadley, Wyatt Moulton and William McCoy.

Below is given a brief history of the three Grand Army posts of Lowell as follows:

It was to be expected that the men who had risked their lives on the battlefield would organize and accordingly the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic was formed at Springfield, Ill., in 1865.

The B. F. Butler, Post 42, G. A. R. of this city, held its first meeting January 20, 1885. The members had served in a great many regiments all over the country and had figured in many of the great battles of the war. The first place of meeting was the old Mechanics hall in Dutton street and subsequently the post met at the corner of Market and Central streets, but finally shifted to Memorial hall.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, for whom the post was named, was mustered in as a comrade in 1855 and was interested in the Grand Army until his death. The members are yearly growing less in number but those who remain are still loyal to the Grand Army and its principles. They are interested in the progress, prosperity and perpetuity of this republic.

The list of past commanders is as follows: George A. Marden, Alpha B. Farr, General Fiske, Charles H. Kimball, Charles H. Richardson, Edward W. Thompson, John A. G. Richardson, Albert L. Pindar, George W. Hunt, Major Charles A. Stott, George W. Worthen, Frank B. Peabody, John J. Dolan, William H. Fulton, Gen. C. A. R. Dimen, William H. Hayes, John Welch, Edward T. Rowell and George McIntire.

James A. Garfield, Post 120, G. A. R., which was named after the martyred president of the United States, is composed of men who played very prominent parts during the Civil war. While many of the members have died, others have moved out of the city and have been transferred to other posts.

When the call to arms was sounded in 1861 people flocked from all over the northern part of the country to fight in the Union cause and the abolition of slavery and among the men who responded were the present members of Post 120, G. A. R. Inasmuch as many members belonged in other parts of the country prior to the war, all of the members of the post did not enlist in this state, but the majority of them fought in the Massachusetts regiments and participated in the principal battles of the war.

The post was formed on Oct. 28, 1881, and the first president of the organization was the late Charles H. Coburn, a prominent Lowell business man. At one time there were 105 active members, but many have been mustered out while others have moved out of the city. Every year sees a thinning in the ranks, while the survivors are fast fading under the weight of years. The memory of the dead, however, is cherished by the Grand Army and at every Memorial day the graves of the veterans are decorated and memorial services held. Posts 42 and 120 cooperate in the keeping of a burial lot in the Lowell cemetery where the deceased brethren without means are laid to rest. These two posts have had this burial lot for about 15 years.

The members of Post 120 meet every Wednesday night in the Mechanics bank building in Merrimack street. The attendance is usually very good and at the conclusion of the business meeting a social session is held. About four times a year camp fires are in order and those who have had the pleasure of being present at one of these are always ready to accept the invitation to another.

The department of Massachusetts Grand Army of the Republic granted a charter to J. P. Mansfield and others, and the Ladd & Whitney post No. 155, G. A. R. was instituted Wednesday, April 14, 1886, by Lend Wales, department inspector, in Pythian hall. One hundred and ninety comrades who answered to their names were mustered and obligated; of this number 79 were received by transfer from other G. A. R. posts and 111 were Civil war veterans who had never joined the Grand Army before.

The following comrades were elected and installed as officers of the post by Department Commander Richard F. Tobin: Dr. George E. Pinkham, commander; J. Hamilton, senior vice commander; C. M. Fisk, junior vice commander; C. M. Fisk, quartermaster; Samuel George, officer of the day; J. A. Pevey, officer of guard; Geo. H. Richardson, adjutant.

A recess until Friday evening was declared and at that time 21 new members were received.

The following comrades have served as commanders since the inception of the post: Dr. George E. Pinkham, 1886; Charles H. Richardson, 1887-1894; A. A. Davis, 1895; F. S. Pevey, 1895; J. D. S. and six transfers were received, making the post 217 members, 122 recruits and 95 from other G. A. R. posts.

A month after the inception of the post the members were moved to the new quarters in Post 120 hall for about a year, holding meetings every Thursday evening. On July 28, 1887, the post secured for its headquarters the upper floor of Wyman's Exchange and changed its meeting night to Wednesday. The post was obliged to vacate the rooms in Wyman's Exchange on Jan. 1, 1909, and new quarters were taken up over Cook, Taylor & Co.'s store in Central street, but like the hall it had previously occupied, the comrades have many weary flights of stairs that become more difficult to climb every year.

The year 1933 was eventful. Early in January the post with many G. A. R. posts of the city and vicinity assisted at the burial services of a distinguished member of the order, Gen. Benjamin F. Butler. The dedication of Memorial building followed, and the assignment of the three posts to quarters in the building was made.

LT. TOWERS SAYS U. S. SHIP WAS TORPEDOED

Made Examination and Took Affidavits of Captain Greene and Members of Crew

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Evidence forwarded by Ambassador Page to the state department today gathered by Lieut. John H. Towers, naval attaché at the American embassy at London, indicates that the American steamer Nebraska was torpedoed by a submarine.

Lieut. Towers made a technical examination of the Nebraska on her arrival at Liverpool and took statements and affidavits from Capt. Greene and members of the crew. The chief engineer stated that he saw the wake of a torpedo just before the vessel was attacked.

The detailed advice is being sent by mail but a summary of main features of the cable report was issued by the state department.

"The American ambassador in London informed the state department that the investigation of the Nebraska incident by Lieut. Towers brings out the facts as follows:

Flag Hauled Down

"That the Nebraska had left Liverpool bound for Delaware breakwater on the afternoon of May 24 and was in water ballast. The words 'Nebraska' were painted on each side amidships in letters six feet high, and she flew the American flag continuously up to approximately 8.10 p. m. May 25, at which time the ship was about 40 miles southwest of Fastnet.

"The flag was then hauled down because the sun had set and the ship was considered at sea. The chief engineer of the ship at 8.24 p. m. observed a white streak in the water, perpendicular to the ship, on the starboard side, and a severe shock was almost instantly felt, followed by a violent explosion abreast hold No. 1.

"Hatch cover No. 1 was blown off, also cargo booms above the same, and the air was filled with oil and debris. The double bottom compartments below hold No. 1 having been used for tanks for fuel oil. Bottom plating and pieces of the side were blown up through two decks. The ship settled immediately by the head and officers and crew took to boats. After remaining off the ship about one hour they returned and headed the ship for Liverpool. Under orders of the British admiralty, a British naval trawler came up at midnight and remained with the Nebraska until she reached the mouth of the Mersey.

"No one was seriously injured. The ambassador is sending by mail a detailed report of Lieut. Towers' examination of the ship's officers and depositions of three of the ship's officers taken by the consul at Liverpool.

"Officials who read the report closely said it contained all the evidence of an attack by torpedo. There had been some doubt whether it was not a mine.

Smiles adorned the faces of Long Louis Pieler and his crew of Lynn Shoemakers today as they tucked themselves in their private auto bus and headed for Lowell. "We're on our way to Lowell," stated Mike Lynch in answer to a query as to the team's cheery spirits.

Who could blame the Lynn club for smiling as it rolled along the highway toward Lowell? After that laughter down at Ocean Park yesterday the local team must have appeared an awful cinder for the visitors.

Something is wrong with the Lowell team, there can be no question about that. We have hitters enough or at least they have been hitting thus far but aside from the Barrows team can not be called worthy of more than passing notice.

If Lowell falls off in its batting, there'll be nothing to it but the cellar. The club's superior hitting is all that has kept it even up where it stands to date. Inside baseball has been at its best, and the simplest of baseball maneuvers have seldom been resorted to in a tight place. "Hit the ball as hard as you can and let it go at that," seems to be the policy of the Lowell team.

A fair sized crowd turned out in spite of the cool weather. In fact, McGleskey wore a sweater beneath his baseball shirt. "Kittie" Brandfield, who is called along the circuit the best umpire in the league, was on hand today with the indicator. "Snubber" Green, who was not in uniform and seemed to be the bench with the fore finger of his right hand banded up as a result of the injury received yesterday, "Snubber" has had hard luck so far this season.

Jack Halstein made his first appearance today in a Lynn uniform. The former Lowell first baseman, one of the most popular players who ever represented this city, looked to be in the line of contention as he renewed old acquaintances.

At the call of play the lineups were:

LOWELL
Swayne 2b
Fahey 3b
Stimpson 1b
Barrows lf
Dee ss
Meyers 1b
Houser p

LYNN
Porter 1b
Lynch 3b
Halstein 2b
Hoy 1b
Greene lf
McGleskey 2b
Orcutt 3b
Moulton 1b
Williams p

First Inning
Porter, Lynn's speed boy, went down before Houser's sweeping curve. Lynch showed a single into right field near the foul line. Halstein put up a short Texas leaguer into right. Swayne came in hard and it looked as though he could gather in the fly but it went just out of his reach although he touched it with his glove. Lynch halted between first and second and Swayne's throw to Dee forced out Stimpson. If he had not been there, Stimpson would have been out on a close play. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Swayne met the same fate as befell Lynch's lead-off man. Both strikeouts were surprising, for Porter, as well as Swayne, are good men with the stick. Barrows rolled a weak grounder in the box and went down at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Second Inning
Houser worked Hoy for two strikes and then slipped one over the middle of the plate. Hoy's bat met the ball with a smack and a single was the result. Gleason tried to sacrifice Hoy along but popped one up to Egan. Dee took Orcutt's hard crack and threw to McGleskey forcing Hoy at second. Orcutt was speedy enough to follow all hopes for a double play. The Lynn center fielder was not speedy enough, however, to puffer the next station. He was thrown out on his attempt to steal. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Williams shot his fast ball through with great speed and fanned McGleskey. Stimpson's bat rapped against a curved offering but Porter trotted under it in deep right and Stimpson was out. The visiting baseman served a floater up to Dee and Shorty smacked the sphere to right for one base. Meyers made the third out on a foul fly which Halght took. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Third Inning
Moulton hit to centre and Barrows misjudged the ball. Barrows claimed that he caught the fly before it touched the ground but the umpire allowed Moulton a hit. It was rank misjudgment on the part of the Lowell manager, and he didn't make the play look any better by kicking in the umpire. Halght immediately sacrificed Moulton to second, Houser taking his slow grounder. Williams hit a high fly behind second base which Dee grabbed. Swayne showed some speed when he came in fast on Porter's fly to right and Lowell went to bat. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Mike Lynch ran over behind second base and took Egan's grounder. His strike. Gleason, the Lynn third sacker, performed another diamond feat, taking Houser's line drive while off his balance. Both plays were applauded. Swayne batted the horse hide to left centre, the knock being good for a single. Fahey's drive was directly in Lynch's hands and the third inning was concluded without a score on either side. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Fourth Inning
Louis Pieler was in his usual place on the third base bleachers line and the third base bleachers in his neighborhood did a magnificent job of their customary salute. Lynch drew three bad ones and then Houser forced him to ground out to the box, the pitcher making the assist. Halstein sent up a fly which Barrows grabbed up without difficulty. McGleskey was in front of Hoy's fast traveling grounder and Mc's stop and throw were all that could be asked for. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Orcutt jogged in and caught Barrows' sky scraper in short centre. Williams hopped into the air and pulled down McGleskey's high grounder, pegging the Lowell second baseman at the initial drop. Stimpson was called out on strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Fifth Inning
Stimpson collected Gleason's fly in right field much to the amusement of the crowd. Houser did a nice job on Orcutt's hard smash to the box, knocking it down and then recovering it and throwing it to the base before the Shoemakers' centerfielder could reach it safely. Houser issued the first pass of the game to Moulton. Moulton thought that he could steal a base, but Egan's sure peg caught him 10 feet off second. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Dee allowed two good ones to go by and then swung at a bad offering with a grounder to Williams the result. Dee's extinction was easy. Meyers fared little better for Lynch grabbed his grounder and pegged to first for another put-out. Gleason booted Egan's grounder, allowing the local catcher a life at first. It was the first error of the game. Lynch canned under Houser's high fly and the inning was over. No runs, no hits, one error.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Sixth Inning
Halght hit to Dee, the ball creeping close to the diamond. Dee's throw was high but the big first baseman yanked the runner. Williams took three healthy swings but had hard work to get even a foul. Porter drove the ball along the first base line to the right field fence and sprouted to second on the clip. McGleskey took Lynch's infield fly much to the satisfaction of the local rooters. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Swayne jolted until Williams served him four bad ones. Fahey laid down a bunt to Gleason with intention of sacing. Halght Swayne but Gleason's ball throw gained Howard a place on the first sack. Barrows sacrificed both runners along with a bunt to Williams. McGleskey hit to Williams and while Swayne was being run down between third and home and was finally put out at the plate, Fahey went to third and McGleskey to second. Stimpson closed the inning with a fly to Orcutt. It was a poor inning from a very propitious opening. Long Louis yelled: "If they can't get runs in an inning like that, they can't ever beat us." No runs, no hits, one error.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Seventh Inning
Fahey made a beautiful stop of Halstein's difficult grounder, but his wild heave to Meyers spoiled it all. The ball rolled to the first base bleachers and Halstein went to second. Halstein scampered to third while McGleskey was throwing out Hoy at first. Gleason hit to McGleskey. Me was too eager to make the throw to the plate and the ball slipped out of his hands as he drew back for the peg. Halstein scored easily while Gleason was safe at first. Orcutt then doubled to the left-field fence, sending Gleason to third. Moulton drove the ball to center for a long single, scoring both Gleason and Orcutt. A double play was the result when Halght hit to Houser, the pitcher throwing to McGleskey at second, forcing out Moulton, and Me's peg getting the Lynn catcher at first. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

Gleason jabbed over and took Dee's high foul fly. Orcutt made a wonderful catch of Meyers' long drive to center. "Wheat" took the drive over his shoulder while on the run. Egan broke up the monster with a single to left. Halstein muffed Gleason's throw when Houser hit to the third baseman. The pitcher was safe at first while Egan scooted around to third. Houser and Egan attempted a double steal. Egan was called out at the plate and the Lowell players saved at Umpire Brandfield. The play came about like this: Halght stood at the plate with his left foot blocking the runner. Egan leaped to the plate and was tagged after he had passed it and on his way to the Lowell bench. Brandfield called him out, saying that the plate had never been touched. No runs, one hit, one error.

Score: Lynn 3, Lowell 0.

Eighth Inning
Williams opened the eighth with a drive to left centre which went for three bases. Porter then scored him with a single to left. Lynch hit to Houser. The pitcher threw to Dee forcing out Porter and Dee's peg to Meyers completed another double play. Halstein smote the ball to Fahey and was out by a stride on Howard's fine peg. One run, two hits, no errors.

Swayne was out when he hit to Lynch. Mike's throw to first was bad but Halstein made a nice pickout. Fahey's grounder to Lynch was bad and rolled away from his glove and into left field. Barrows' grounder forced Fahey at second. Gleason squeezed McGleskey's fly and the eighth frame was over. No runs, no hits, one error.

Score: Lowell 0, Lynn 4.

Ninth Inning
Meyers gathered in Hoy's foul fly. Dee booted Gleason's grounder. Orcutt was called out on a very close play when he hit to Dee. Houser then walked Moulton. Halght hit to McGleskey and Moulton was forced at second. No runs, no hits, one error.

Moulton and Halstein were the factors in Stimpson's put-out on his grounder. Dee fled out to Orcutt. Dee's error led to left. Orcutt dropped Egan's drive to center. Meyers was on third and Egan on second.

McMahon, batting for Houser, grounded to Lynch. No runs, one hit, one error.

Final score: Lynn 4, Lowell 0.

ETHIOPE TORPEDOED IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

German Dirigible Lost in North Sea—Italians Continue to Gain Ground—Capture Town of Storo and Bombard Riva

A member of Germany's under-sea fleet, which is prosecuting its most active and successful campaign of the war, has sent to the bottom another British merchantman. The Ethiopie, of 2475 tons net, was torpedoed last night in the English channel, after her crew had been permitted to embark in small boats.

German Dirigible Lost

A German dirigible, which was seen on the Thames, three days ago, is believed to have been lost. A message to Geneva from Friedrichshafen, the home of the Zeppelins, states that the dirigible was struck by a shell, and, on account of loss of gas was forced to descend in the North Sea. The fate of her crew is unknown.

Italians Continue to Gain

Genoa notices represent the Italian armies as pushing further toward Trent and Trieste. The forces advancing in Trent are bombarding Riva, within 14 miles of that city, after having captured the town of Storo north of Lake Iseo. In the invasion along the eastern end of the front, north of the Gulf of Trieste, the Italians have reached the vicinity of Gradisca, 14 miles from the city of Trieste.

BELIEVE FIRE SET

County Authorities at Gilmanton Iron Works,
N. H. Investigate

GILMANTON IRON WORKS, N. H., May 23.—County Solicitor John M. Meserve of Tilton, Sheriff Philbrick of Leconia, with the selectmen, yesterday investigated the conflagration which wiped out the business section of this town early yesterday morning and believe it was the work of an incendiary. There were at least two attempts made to burn certain buildings last night, they believe.

Mrs. Jennie Keyes, owner of one of the houses destroyed, was awakened about midnight and put out a fire in the rear of her home by dousing it with a few pails of water. It was about two hours later that Mrs. Keyes discovered the fire at the Osborne Price

buildings, which were the first to go. The county authorities are looking for Mrs. M. C. Tuttle, a former Boston resident, whose husband was once a member of the Boston police force, owing to her alleged threats to burn the Keyes building. She has lived here several years. Mrs. Tuttle was last seen driving toward Laconia at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Tuttle's son Charles, aged 11 years, was boarding at the house of Mrs. Keyes and, it is alleged, the two women were at odds over the boy. Tracks of a woman were found leading from the road to the back of the Price barn. A kerosene can was also found back of the barn.

State Attorney Tuttle of Manchester conferred last night with the county officials regarding the case.

The total loss is put at $50,000. As there is no industry here, it is doubtful if any of the homes will be rebuilt.

Many people made homeless are being cared for by others, whose dwellings escaped the flames. The postoffice was moved to a nearby hotel. There was very little mail matter lost. Firemen were handicapped on account of no water supply and strong wind.

BIG THEFT OF BOOKS

BRYANT, ARRESTED IN BOSTON, CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF 192—POLICE RECOVER 400 IN ALL

BOSTON, May 29.—William R. Bryant, 28 years, of 119 West Lenox street, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Special Officer Travers and Patrolman Manning of Division 2 on a charge of larceny of 192 books valued at $177 from the bookstore of David B. Nickerson at 212 Summer street.

The police claim that the arrest of Bryant followed a raid by them on several second-hand bookstores in the business section and that in all 400 books, most of them of the "de luxe" variety and valued at several hundreds of dollars, were recovered. It is charged that these books were stolen from large bookstores in this city, and that the man under arrest was responsible for the theft of some of them.

In connection with the alleged thefts by Bryant the police also took into custody, William L. Holworth of 47 Meridian street, Malden, who keeps a store at 66 Cornhill. He is charged with receiving stolen property.

The police of the City Hall station have been receiving reports for some time, they say, about the theft of books from downtown stores. Officers Travers and Manning were assigned to the case and their investigation led them to suspect Bryant.

Several copies of a book named "Mary Moreland" were stolen on Thursday from a wagon in Pemberton square and were later discovered. It is alleged in a second-hand bookstore. As the result of information they received Bryant was arrested late yesterday afternoon at his place of employment.

It is believed by the police that the value they have placed on the books, and which is between $400 and $500, does not cover by any means their actual value. Many of the copies are extensively bound and not a few of the books are rare volumes.

They were piled in the office of Capt. Sullivan after their recovery to be used as evidence.

BY GWEN BEARS

TO ACQUIRE BEAUTY OF BODY

For the stout woman who suffers in hot weather let me express the cheering thought that it is better to be plump and uncomfortable than thin and unhealthy. Isn't it easy to understand that a remedy strong enough to take off flesh quickly will also tear down muscles and tissues? The only absolutely safe and sure way to acquire a beautiful, lithe body is to adopt diet and a well planned system of exercise. Success depends entirely upon perseverance. No matter how carefully the diet is planned it will amount to nothing unless it is religiously followed. First of all a taboo should be placed upon all fat meats. That means pork in all forms, fat meat, mutton, lamb, veal, fat poultry or game. Eat roast beef or steak but have it lean, and be sure that it is well cooked. Do not eat meat oftener than once a day. Eat plenty of eggs but drink no milk. Cut out all tea and coffee and substitute water or lemonade. Eat all the vegetables you wish providing they are not prepared with a cream or butter sauce. Acid fruits are flesh reducers. Eat all the oranges or grapefruit you wish but do not counteract the effect of the acid with sugar. Absolutely all sweetened dishes must be banned, for sugar is one of the greatest single fattening agents known. Take at least half an hour's walk every day and don't walk half heartedly. Start out briskly and maintain the pace until you reach your destination. If possible do your walking at the same time every day. Sleep is fattening but of course you should get sufficient amount of sleep. Seven hours out of the twenty-four is enough for the healthy person but if very tired eight hours will do no harm.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY

TWO WITNESSES TELL OF SPREES AT HAVERHILL HOSPITAL

HAVERHILL, May 29.—The municipal council's hearing of charges filed by Alderman Albert E. Stickney, head of the health and charities departments, against Miss Alice C. Marshall, superintendent of the Tuberculosis hospital here, took a sensational turn last night, when Mrs. Mary Lillis, a former nurse, who was called as a witness, refused to furnish the name of a man who, she said, had returned to the hospital with Miss Marshall in an automobile later than midnight. Mrs. Lillis said the man is a prominent resident of the city and has a wife and children.

Council, aldermen and the mayor insisted that she tell the name and when she finally consented to write it on a pad for the mayor's private inspection the 609 persons who had crowded into the council chambers and city hall corridor howled protests and demanded that the name be made public. It did not come out.

Mrs. Lillis testified that while the superintendent was entertaining the duty nurse in the dining room she found a patient dead and upon reporting the death to Miss Marshall was warned against allowing it to become known to Miss Emma Cook, the dietitian, because Miss Cook would tell about it. Witness said it was a frequent occurrence for the superintendent to return to the hospital between 10 p. m. and midnight after an auto ride, take her friends in the kitchen for luncheon and disturb the patients by talking in the corridors. Miss Marshall, she said, had given her beer in her room when she was on duty. Witness saw whisky in the room, she continued, and had one time given Miss Marshall a drink of it when she said she was sick.

Ex-Dist. Atty. W. Scott Peters appeared to present the evidence for Alderman Stickney, and Judge John J. Ryan appeared for Miss Marshall.

The hearing opened in the afternoon and at 10 last night only two witnesses had finished testimony. The council adjourned until 8 a. m. Tuesday morning, when Mrs. Lillis will complete her testimony.

Miss Margaret McLay, who was discharged, testified that she had seen liquor in the hospital, that there was no organization or discipline, and that one patient named Freeman had hugged, pushed, slapped and pounded Miss Marshall until he had left marks on her arms and legs. This had happened in different places in the hospital.

THE SPELLBINDER

The tumult and the shouting dies;
The board of trade and guests depart;
Still gleam the white way's radiant
eyes.

Along the taxpayer's homeward path,
For each bright gleam he'll settle yet,
That's one good bet—that's one best
bet!

The white way is a thing of beauty
and charm, and the show incidental to
its debut was a corker, but he who
dances must pay the fiddler, and the
taxpayer who danced yesterday will
pay for the fun when his tax bill comes
along.

From the standpoint of the humble
poll taxpayer, the show was well worth
the money, for it will have no effect on
the size of his tax bill, though the
white way which occasioned the grand
pageant will have to be paid for by the
property owners.

There is no getting away from the
fact that the white way is a most desirable improvement over the old arrangement of street lighting, but just as the city signs up its contracts to pay for it
at a fine, fat figure, along comes Col.
Carmichael, back from Cincinnati, with
the cheerful information that in the
west there are white ways galore and
that the expense of their maintenance
is paid for without complaint by the patrons, rather than out of the public funds. In Lowell the board of trade of the outskirts who is afraid to venture
forth from his home at night on account of the dimly lighted streets in
his neighborhood, and who has cried in
vain, "Let there be light," where it is
needed, will pay his proportionate share
toward maintaining the white way, just
like the down-town business man, who
no longer is required to turn extra
lights to make his place attractive.

"Those Neglected Schools"

At the legislature Monday, Mayor
Murphy representing the city in his
argument for the $700,000 high school
loan made several remarkable statements. His Honor is quoted as having said: "The schools of Lowell have been neglected for 20 years."

Within 20 years, His Honor was a member of the school board and should
be able to recall that within that time,
the Lincoln, Bartlett, Washington
and Greenhalge schools have been
built and additions built to the Green-halge, and I remember rightly, to the Bartlett. Then the vocational school was established taking up three
of the unused schools, all representing an expenditure of several hundred thousands. Just wherein the
schools have been neglected is rather
difficult to understand. The mayor is
also quoted as having said: "The city council and the school board resident of years when similar agitations have
been started the city council and the
school committee could not get together
on a definite plan."

These remarks recall the fact that
only last spring when an attempt was
made to start an agitation for a new
high school, the one man whose support was most desired but who
couldn't be obtained, was Mayor Murphy himself. When asked why he could not use a portion of the money
which the city is permitted to borrow
within the debt limit Mayor Murphy
replied that three of the grammar
schools need attention very badly and
it was contemplated that this debt
should be done within the debt limit.
"The Pawtucket bridge, he said, would

cost the city about $50,000 and block
paying and a sewer extension into Wickinville would take all the money
the city can raise. He also spoke of
the tuberculosis hospital situation,
and said that Dr. McLaughlin had voted as saying that Lowell
would be one of the first cities to be
prosecuted unless a suitable tuberculosis hospital is erected within the
time limit specified by the state department of health.

The distance from the debt limit
July 1, according to His Honor will be $302,000. But if all the matters mentioned by him are gone into, how
the talk stage the debt limit will be all
shot to pieces. In mentioning the city's
needs His Honor neglected to state
that about July 1 the city will need to pay up a fine big sum of money to pay
on the old temporary loan if it hasn't
it on hand. Relative to the contagious
disease hospital His Honor might have
mentioned that the former administration selected a site which his administration turned down and now his administration is going to purchase one
for some future administration to
turn down.

After being entertained at luncheon
at the girls' vocational school in the
old Morrill school a few days ago the
members of the municipal council are
more keen than ever for a new school
for the girls. It is proposed to use the present Paige street annex for the vocational school when the proposed new
high school has been completed. This proposition while comparatively inex-
pensive will solve the needs of the vocational school and will give Principle Fisher an opportunity to develop
that institution along practical lines.

The Contagious Hospital

When the past administration attempted to live up to the law relative
to the contagious disease hospital a
howl went up on account of the site
selected and the members of this year's
government not only howled but upon
entering office undid all that their predecessors had done. The present administration attempted to put aside the
matter and did so as long as it could.
Now the members are howling for a hospital as justly as if they had never
attempted to side-track it, and yet
they contemplate evading the law
again by selecting only a site this
year, allowing the main part of the
transaction to go over until another
year. In the legislature last week, Dr.
Allan J. McLaughlin, state commissioner of health expressed his opinion
of the Lowell city government in no
unmistakable manner. Dr. McLaughlin
scored the local city officials for
not making plans for a tuberculosis
hospital in this city. Lowell, he said,
has a population of more than 100,000
and maintained there was no excuse
for a city of this size not having a
tuberculosis hospital of its own and
particularly in view of the number of
deaths due to consumption and the spread of the disease in this city.
Dr. McLaughlin declared that if the
hospital is not built within the time
prescribed the matter will be referred
to the attorney-general and the city
of Lowell prosecuted.

There is no doubt that the state
commissioner meant exactly what he
said and judging from his remarks any
attempt to fool him by making a
spurge over the purchase of a site for
a hospital will not go. He is the kind
of man who must be shown and can

only be shown by the erection of a permanent building.

Every Little Bit, etc.

Inspector Frank O'Hare of the health
department appreciates the words of
the song: "Every little bit added to
what you've got, makes a little bit
more," for while his pay has been increased the increase is not as much
as it should be considering his valuable services to the department. May-
or Murphy having raised the salary of
about everyone else in the health department this year, should not forget
Inspector John Kearney and Miss
Snow, the efficient stenographer of the
department, who appear to be about
the only ones not thus far favored
by His Honor. Of course the young lady hasn't a vote yet, I say "yet" ad-
visedly; but that shouldn't make any difference.

Another Life Sacrificed

While the city was in gala attire
over its new white way and the board
of trade was hustling on the plans for
the grand celebration in honor of the
city's latest public improvement, little Alfred Jarrett fell into the canal
at Ford street and was drowned, his
body being recovered a day later. A few days before a little Polish child
fell down the precipitous and unfenced
bank of the river in Front street and
was rescued from drowning by Agent
Gillmore of the Humane society, who happened to be riding by at the time.
Notwithstanding the earnest appeals of
the officials of the Trades and Labor
council before the municipal council
that some action be taken toward safe-
guarding the lives of children from the
unprotected waterways of the city, the
council has done nothing as yet, being more concerned in white ways,
bridges, street extensions and other
improvements than in the less important matter of saving the lives of children.

At the close of the hearing over a month ago Mayor Murphy, who pre-
sided stated that the council would
study the matter under advisement.
Since that time apparently it has not
been thought of by the city fathers,
despite the fact that there have been
several narrow escapes and one death
within a month. Had the five foot wire
fence with barbed wire at the top been
installed at Ford street as asked for
by the petitioners the life of the Jar-
rett boy would not have been sacrificed.

Duty Cemetery Trustees

The cemetery trustees surely are
making themselves "strong" even with
those who were opposed to the bill
which created their offices for they
appear to be proceeding upon their own in business-like manner. The only thing suggestive of politics that has
appeared at their meetings was inspected by the mayor rather than by
any of the members. Their little run-ing in business-like manner. The only

chasing agent in making purchases for
their department. Of course, the trust
funds for the perpetual care of lots are
held in trust by the city and the municipality is responsible for them, while
the city owns the cemeteries and would
have to support them if they were not
self-supporting. If it could be shown that the trustees of the cemetery are
exempt from the provisions of law relative to the purchasing agents department, then a similar contention could
be made by the water department.
Let the purchasing agent hold up the
bill for those sections if he desires, but
don't hold up the trustees themselves
for they will come in very nicely on Memorial day when the cemeteries are
crowded.

Lowell Day Celebration

Despite the bad weather, the Lowell
day celebration was a credit to the
board of trade, and was not entirely a
failure even if the weather was most
unpropitious. The volume of business
done by the merchants before the rain
had happened gave evidence of what might have happened had the day continued
fair and demonstrated the value of the
board of trade's scheme. The celebration presented a most unusual situation. It was a big public affair in which the city government appeared

only as guests, taking no part in the arrangements, spending no money on it,
and in fact declining even to contribute a band concert toward it. Yet it was an unprecedented success. Before it is too late, why not interest the board of trade in the coming Fourth of July celebration to insure its success?

The Concrete Mixer

After wasting a lot of more or less valuable time and perhaps a little money, the municipal council has ordered the purchase of a concrete mixer, something which, it is a fair bet, some of the members, Charlie Morse excepted, of course, couldn't tell from a stone crusher or a steam roller. The members made two trips out of town to inspect the stone crusher. Some of them went way down to Jewett City, Conn.
but because their visit was unexpected
the mixer wasn't mixing and they didn't see it work. Then the others took a trip to Salem to see the mixer
mix, but they got mixed on the location of the Salem mixer and only encountered it while on their way back, when again it was not in operation. The voted to buy the mixer and now let us hope it will save the city the work that has been done by outsiders.

THE SPELLBINDER.

FIRE ON HURD STREET

JUST BEFORE THE BIG PARADE
STARTED

A fire alarm which sounded at 7.54
o'clock last night, just before the big
parade, necessitated the clearing of a portion of the streets in order to allow
the fire apparatus to proceed. An ambulance call was made shortly before 5
o'clock, also, and the ambulance made
a slow run through Merrimack square.
The alarm from box 228 was for a fire
in the two and a half story lodging
house owned and conducted by Mrs.
Kate Welsh at 47 Hurd street. The
fire started in a room on the top floor
of the house while the occupants were
out to review the parade. The blaze
was discovered by a passerby and when
the alarm was rung in the roof was
blazing furiously and the entire house
was filled with smoke. Considerable
water was used in extinguishing the
fire.

Telephone Alarm

At 10.40 o'clock a telephone alarm
was received for a fire in the same
house but this was quickly quenched.
It was necessary for the lodgers to
seek other quarters last night, so badly
was the house damaged.

Ambulance Call

The ambulance was called to the
Boott mills where Harry Anderson of 34
Bridge street had injured his head by
falling against a machine. He was removed to the Lowell hospital where it
was necessary to take several stitches
to close the wound.

BOY SCOUTS, TROOP 10

GREAT MINSTREL SHOW IN ST.
ANNE'S PARISH HOUSE—ALEX.
WILLIAMS DIRECTED

Troop 10, Boy Scouts, entertained
last evening with a splendid minstrel show in St. Anne's parish house. The numerous clever jokes, well rendered solos and chorus work pleased the large audience immensely and the boys are to be congratulated for their fine showing. Music was furnished by St.
Anne's Symphony orchestra and Miss Amy Williams served as accompanist for the vocal numbers. Alex. Williams directed.

Host Vandenberg was intercom-
municator and the end men were as follows:
Tambos—W. Mansur, "Sodas"; S. Vandenberg, "Fuzzy"; L. Clayton, "Snowball"; Edw. Kilpatrick, Bones—A.
Redway, "Beets"; E. Hobson, "Fink";
J. Sawyer, "Bones"; F. Timmins.

The program was as follows: "Back to the Carolina You Love," Robert Burns; "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier," John Parker Sawyer; "I'm Neptune, King of the Sea," N. W. Matthews, Jr.; "And the Little Old Ford Ramblin' Right Along," Thomas Day-son; "The Song of the Old Minstrel Sang," Fred Timmons; "When You Wore a Tulip," Richard Baron; "Back to Michigan," Leslie Clayton; "Tokio," Arthur Gayton Pollard; "He Comes Up Smiling," Albert S. Redway; mandolin solo, "Flower Song," Fred Rolfe;
"Good-Bye, Rose," Philip Lord; "Tip-Top Tipterary Mary," Daniel Martin;
"Can't You Hear Me Calling," Caroline; Archie Lavallee; "There's a Little Spark of Love," Edw. Freeman;
"Back to Dixie Land," Edw. Kilpatrick. The program closed with "America," as the grand finale.

MARIE ON PUBLIC NUISANCES

"What is the matter with your
cheek?" asked Marie, as Marjorie rushed in one rainy day with a large
bruised spot just under one eye.

"Oh, an inconsiderate, impolite wom-
an jabbed her umbrella into my face,"

almost sobbed Marjorie, "and it is a
wonder she didn't put my eye out."

"Indeed it is," sympathized Marie.

"When a woman with an umbrella forges
ahead look out for your hat, your veil
and your eyes. It matters not whether
the dripping from the umbrella will
ruin your suit or whether you have
will keep your distance. The closed
umbrella too, is just as much a public
nuisance in the hands of an inconsider-
ate woman or man. Some people think
because the point of the umbrella is
out of their sight it is out of existence.
Consequently it is allowed to wreck
vengeance on all followers and, if a little child happens to be within punching
distance of the ferrule, look out for his
eyes."

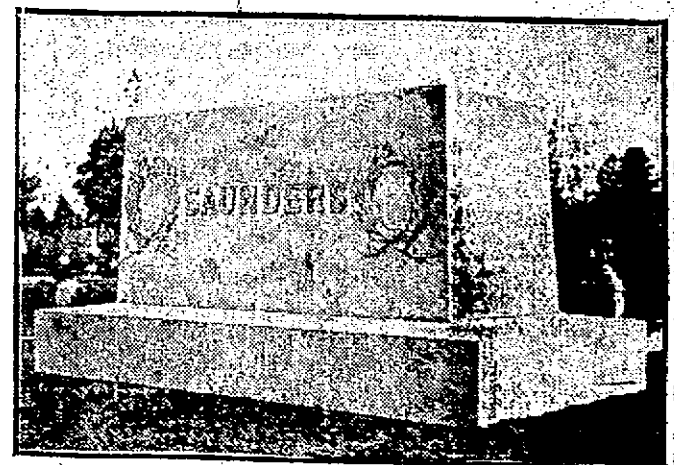

"All the apologies and explanations
in the world will not remedy the carelessness of this dangerous weapon.
Only the other day a woman your aunt

knows, was the victim of a violent savage. She had attended a lecture
the evening before and had been the
protesting listener who had been forced
to take the breezes from the fan of the
woman seated next to her. This
woman may have been nervous and
she may have been very warm. One thing is certain she was a public
nuisance. She fanned violently with
her fan and then with her program
and great draughts of air were driven
into the ear of your aunt's friend. She really got most of the cooling and she
paid for it."

"There are many other nuisances
and they are every-day encountered in
street cars and railway trains. Windows are raised or closed to suit the
whim of one individual and someone
else pays the bill. At the football
game, the baseball game, the lecture
and the theatre there is always the
nuisance who makes a footrest or knee
rest of the back of your seat and
frequently spoils your pleasure by
forcing you to object."

"There is only one thing to do,"
continued Marie. "Be polite and dignified but nevertheless, hold your own
against every public nuisance."

FITTING MONUMENT ERECTED TO MEMORY OF JOHN F. SAUNDERS

VIEW OF THE MONUMENT

The latest addition to the many beautiful monuments in the Catholic cemetery in Gorham street is the Saunders memorial, erected to the memory of John F. Saunders. The memorial is of Westerly granite. The bottom base is nine feet long by five feet, three inches wide and one foot and two inches high. The dial is seven feet long, three feet three inches in length and three feet four inches in height. It is of composite design, plain and substantial. On the front are two large laurel wreaths with the name Saunders in raised letters in between. The memorial weighs 14 tons, the lower stone weighing 7 tons and the upper stone 6 tons. It was built by the John P. Meehan Co., of this city.

Letter No. 5 From the Turner Centre Creamery

Few people realize that the most IMPORTANT FOOD ITEM in the average home is the apparently insignificant article of milk. This is especially true where there are children. Scientists everywhere have been telling us for years that milk is about the only perfect food. In proportion to its cost it has the highest food value. Mothers who give their growing children plenty of GOOD milk need not worry
about the rest of the diet.

We are telling the people of Lowell that our milk is pasteurized
and bottled under the most sanitary conditions. It is rich, pure, and SAFE. Try it.

BATTLE IN AIR FOR MEMORIAL SUNDAY

Lieut. von Buelow Killed Near Fismes by French Airmen

PARIS, May 23, 5 a. m.—Aviator Lieut. von Buelow, believed to be a relative of Prince von Buelow, the former German Imperial chancellor, was killed near Fismes, according to the Matin in an air duel with a French aeroplane belonging to the newly formed rapid squadron M. S. 12. The French pilot, describing the battle said:

Wednesday morning I saw an Albatross machine coming from the German lines headed for Paris and I gave chase. He was 5000 feet up. I went up to 5000 feet, rapidly overhauling him, and the fight began. We were now less than 20 feet from the Albatross, but we were under such headway that we overtook him. I got a bullet in the shoulder, but it did not prevent me from continuing the chase.

The Germans tried to escape by dropping, but I flew over them again. Apparently one of them was wounded. Suddenly my lieutenant got in a volley at point blank range and the Albatross tipped forward, shooting nose downwards six thousand feet to the earth. We followed them with our eyes. When the machine struck the earth it seemed to crumple into a ball and bounded along the hillside like a wounded rabbit running. We followed them down, descending in spirals. The pilot lay some yards away, where he had been thrown out. The observer was crushed under the engine. In one of his pockets we found a paper bearing the name 'Lieut. von Buelow, Imperial Guards, Berlin.' We found in the wrecked aeroplane ten large bombs and forty grenades.

The pilot, given his choice of the Legion of Honor, or the Military Medal, chose the latter.

BIG FIRE AT SALISBURY

RESIDENTS FOUGHT TO SAVE FARM BUILDINGS—TWO SQUARE MILES BURNED OVER

SALISBURY, May 23.—Fire in the woods here yesterday afternoon swept over a tract of about two square miles, destroying much standing timber and hundreds of cords prepared for the market. A barn and a toolhouse owned by Charles H. Jackson were also destroyed, with their contents.

The fire started on land on the Rabbit road, which is owned by Henry P. Griffin, and on which a party of gypsies had been camping. The gypsies broke camp this morning, and it is thought that the embers of their fire were fanned by the strong wind into a blaze which spread to the woodland.

The town fire department had to summon aid from Amesbury. A large number of townspeople fought the flames all the afternoon and saved several farm buildings that were threatened. The fire burned until it reached a clearing, where it went out for lack of material.

Checking of Baggage

The public is hereby notified that on and after June 2nd, 1915, each person checking baggage or other property from a point in one state to a point in another state must make a declaration of the value of such baggage or property when it is presented for checking. Each person, or his agent, must sign a declaration before baggage can be checked.

This regulation is made following the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in connection with the so-called Commis Amendment to the Interstate Commerce Act passed by the last Congress.

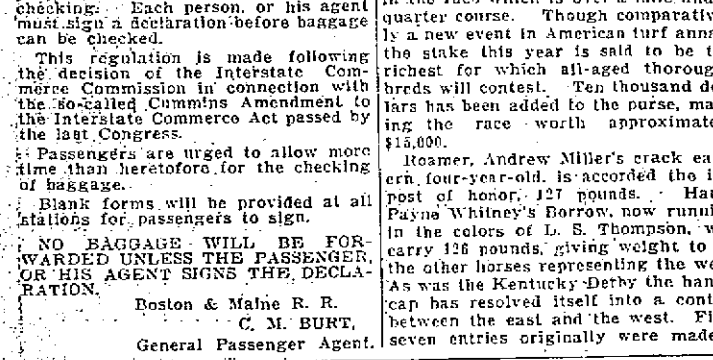

Passengers are urged to allow more time than heretofore for the checking of baggage.

Blank forms will be provided at all stations for passengers to sign.

NO BAGGAGE WILL BE FORWARDED UNLESS THE PASSENGER OR HIS AGENT SIGNS THE DECLARATION.

Secretary Daniels, the father of these boys, will make a brief address. Present at the ceremonies will be Mrs. Adelaide Worth Bagley, whose son, Ensign Worth Bagley, was the first man who fell in the Spanish-American war; also Mrs. Josephus Daniels, daughter of Mrs. Bagley. In the accompanying illustration are shown Jonathan (on left) and Frank Daniels seated on one of the guns of the Maine.

A well attended meeting of Local 26, Cotton Weavers, was held last night at Trades & Labor hall. The session was presided over by President Bolisvert and seven applications for membership were received.

Woolen Spinners Organizer

The Woolen Spinners met and organized last night in Trades & Labor hall with 33 applications for membership. On June 1, when the charter for the new organization is expected, an open meeting will be held, and several out-of-town speakers will address the members. The initiation fee was voted upon unanimously and among the members who addressed the meeting were Organizers J. P. McMahon, John Mahoney, President Frank Warlock of the Trades & Labor council and Timothy Rourke, chairman of the organizing committee.

Machinists' Union

Cotton Spinners' hall in Middle street was taxed to capacity last night when the Machinists' union held an open meeting, with International Vice President Frank Jennings as the principal speaker. Mr. Jennings, who is kept on the move about all the time, is in a position to get at bed rock facts regarding trade conditions and he said that the demand for machinists throughout New England and the entire country was never greater than at the present time. The boom, he said, although caused by war orders, will not be temporary but permanent.

Boiler Makers

The Billaire Boiler Makers' union held its regular bi-monthly meeting in Trades & Labor hall last night at which election of officers for the ensuing year took place. The Australian ballot system was used. The meeting was very successful and was addressed by a number of well known local speakers.

RAPS R. R. BILLS TAKE BODIES FROM F-4

LARGE HOLE IN SIDE OF SUNKEN SUBMARINE—HULK NOW WITHIN 24 FEET OF SURFACE

HONOLULU, May 23.—Owing to the discovery of a large hole in the side of the submarine F-4, submerged since March 29 on the floor of the ocean outside the harbor here, an attempt was made today to remove from the vessel the bodies of its crew of 21 men to prevent possible mutilation by fish.

The hulk is now within 24 feet of the surface.

Towing and lifting operations were halted, divers prepared to enter the hulk and a barge was made ready to receive the bodies.

The hole in the submarine, according to divers who made an inspection late yesterday, is at the point of juncture of the vessel's forward and middle compartments. They removed a quantity of bedding from the hole and brought it to the surface.

Naval officers said the hole probably was caused by constant pounding of the hulk on the ocean bed in the heavy seas of the last few days.

The fire started near the Westminster station. A large force of men from Westminster, and squad from the Central fire station in this city under Capt. Beer and men from the forestry department fought the fire, which was under control last night. The land burned over is owned by Crocker Burbank company, H. O. Irving, Daniel Ford, H. P. Lynde of this city, H. H. Roper and Ernest Vleweg of Westminster.

Newman to indictments charging them with having defrauded the United States by filing false manifests in connection with an alleged effort to get contraband war material to Germany by concealing rubber in cotton waste and barrels of resin. The first two were fined $500 each and Newman $200.

Harry R. Salomon, jointly indicted with the others, pleaded not guilty.

DIGGS-CAMINETTI CASE

Famous "White Slave" Convictions to Come Up Before Supreme Court Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The supreme court was petitioned yesterday to review the conviction in the California federal courts of F. Drex Caminetti, son of A. Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, on charges of violating the white slave law.

Ex-Senator Bailey of Texas will bring the case up Tuesday and a decision is expected June 14. A similar application may be made on the latter date on behalf of Maury I. Diggs.

Caminetti and Diggs were convicted after a sensational trial. Appeals to higher courts were unsuccessful.

The case is the first to come before the court in which the issue is whether the law applies to cases involving no element of profit or coercion.

NICOTINE 40% NEW STEAMSHIP LINES

Plans for Fast Service Between United States, South and Central America

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Plans for steamship lines between the United States and South America—the one element which all the delegates to the Pan-American financial conference agree is essential to closer relations between the Americas—were presented today by the transportation committee. A permanent committee of representatives of the United States, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, Ecuador and Peru to work for the development of the plans was recommended. Two sub-committee reports, differing only in proposals of procedure, were submitted.

One, signed by delegates Abnau of Argentina, Cavalcanti of Brazil, and Cosio of Uruguay, proposed:

A fast line of 10,000 ton steamers between the United States and Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo and Buenos Aires capable of making the voyage to Rio in 15 days.

That as compensation for services rendered, such ships be exempt for five years from all fiscal charges and enjoy all facilities granted any other vessels.

Bids would be called for not later than December 31, 1915, would be acted upon within three months, and if possible, awarded to the bidder who gives earliest delivery; the North and South American governments would agree on the division of expense.

It was agreed between the other members and Delegate Veraga of Chile that there should be two lines of fast steamers, one to serve Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina, and the other for Ecuador, Peru and Chile. Delegate Alzamora, while concurring in the report, did not sign it for lack of authority from his government as was the case with Delegate Gonzales of Ecuador.

Delegate Veraga, in a separate report made these proposals:

Organization of a corporation with stock offered to public subscription, and any unsubscribed shares to be taken by the United States and Latin-American governments in preparation to be agreed upon later.

That the corporation be organized under New York law.

That the steamers shall be registered in different countries in proportion to capital subscribed.

That vessels be of 5000 ton minimum and minimum speed of ten miles an hour.

That the board of directors be chosen by subscribing countries in preparation to their holdings.

The reports were presented to the conference this morning by the entire transportation committee with the recommendation "that it is the unanimous conviction of the committee that such plans should be adopted as will most speedily establish direct, effective and permanent transportation facilities between the United States and the republics of South and Central America."

BUILDING AND REALTY

The Contractors Quite Busy—
New Buildings in Progress—
Real Estate Transactions

The most important building permit taken out at city hall during the past week was that issued to the Wamest Power company to cover the erection of a $50,000 building to be occupied by the United States Cartridge company. The new structure will be situated at the corner of Lawrence and Andrews streets and will be constructed of brick and wood with a concrete foundation. It will have a frontage of 50 feet on Lawrence street and will extend 50 feet on Andrews street. The entire building, which will be two stories in height, will be used by the Cartridge company as a manufacturing plant and the necessary equipment will be installed. The new building will be heated by steam by pipe connection with the heating system in the other buildings.

A large house to contain six apartments is to be constructed by James A. Brien at the corner of Vine and Appleton streets. The cost is estimated at $6500. Each apartment will consist of five rooms, pantry and bath. William W. Myers will build a handsome residence at 108 Highland avenue. The building will have one apartment of seven rooms, pantry and bath and will measure 29 by 30 feet. It will be heated by steam.

At 54 Georgia avenue, Patrick F. Mahoney will erect a dwelling of 8 rooms, pantry and bath at a cost of $4000. The building will have a foundation of stone and will be heated by steam.

A new house is to be erected in Howe street by J. H. Gamble. It will have five rooms, pantry and bath and the cost will be $1500.

or better still, a clump of trees and shrubbery which will serve to mask its origin. From this vantage point it may extend in a natural way to the limits marked out for it; here an isolated building, here a group of less pretentious stones and again a group of large stones may find room in their pockets for a small tree. The extent may be two or three rods in width at one end and gradually narrow until at the other it becomes an occasional rock on the lawn.

DRYING-YARD FOR CLOTHES
The inventiveness of those who plan estates is put to a test in hiding the drying-yard for clothes. Good taste requires that it be an enclosure. When it is near the kitchen the problem is easily solved; for if there is not a natural barrier of shrubbery, it can be boldly screened by lattice-work. If it is necessary to locate it elsewhere, it should be surrounded by a wall of greenery, such as a hedge of Norway spruce or of hemlock. Either must be often clipped when young so as to insure a permanent dense growth near the ground.

PROTECTION AGAINST MOTHS
Moths in general are likely to affect only articles which are put away and left undisturbed for some little time. Apartments and closets that are frequently aired and swept are not apt to be seriously affected. In fact, airing and sunlight are probably the best as well as the oldest remedies.

POTTERY
Why not use pottery in your summer cottage or in your nursery? It is made in such wonderful patterns and is so artistic that it is fast replacing the china sets, especially for bungalow use. This is particularly true of the Paul Revere pottery which is made in all sorts of unique designs.

This ware appeals especially to the children, for whom animal designs are much used. Dancing, running, jumping rabbits, chickens, ducks, and all sorts of little animals are put on porridge and bread-and-milk dishes. The children become so attached to these dishes that if any piece is broken, it has to be sent back to be matched. The animals, children's names, and little mottoes are used for the little ones, while for the older ones there are conventional designs, landscapes, or flowers.

Whole sets of the pottery are often used in the summer cottages. For the tea service, there are quaint little Dutch tiles finished in gray, yellow, green, or other attractive colors.—House Beautiful.

AN AMERICAN OPPORTUNITY
These are great times for American hotel-keepers. As the newspapers and magazines tell us with wearisome iteration, thousands of Americans who would like to go to Europe this summer will have to go to San Francisco or the Rockies, or some other place out of reach of the submarine and the Zeppelin; and hundreds of thousands of good dollars will be poured out along American roadways by prosperous tourists. The next two or three years will offer unprecedented opportunities in our hotels and tea-houses.—House Beautiful.

BABY RAMBLER ROSES
The Baby Rambler and Polyantha roses are very desirable for border gardens and flower beds, as well as for growing along the margins by taller roses in rose gardens. There are now a dozen desirable varieties of this type. They bloom over a long season and

and ordered him to pay a fine of $10, the minimum penalty.
Alleged Larceny
Major Noyes, corporation detective, accompanied Lieut. Maher yesterday afternoon to the Hamilton mills in search of one, Michael Janocka, who was employed there as a weaver. Janocka was wanted on a charge of breaking and entering and larceny. When the two officers made their appearance and arrested the man, his locker was examined and a roll of newspaper, the cloth was the property of the corporation and the man had evidently just taken it preparatory to carrying it out of the mill.
This morning Janocka faced a double charge, that of larceny being added to the charge of breaking into a store on Lakeview avenue and stealing several articles therefrom. Judge Fisher held him for examination by the grand jury next month.
In the case of Charles McCarthy, charged with the larceny of $32 from Walter Eoeth and Richard Grant, an order of continuance was asked for by George F. Toye, the defendant's counsel. This case was put over until June 25.
James C. Burns, the man arrested by Inspector Walsh yesterday afternoon, for stealing twine from the L. W. Hawkes Co., of Middle street, pleaded guilty to the charge this morning. It was also Burns' third offense for drunkenness. He was sentenced to the state farm.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Mme. Olga Petrova, the Russian dramatic star, appearing in the highly emotional and dramatic "The Heart of a Painted Woman" at the B. F. Keith theatre, this afternoon and evening, proves to be the best drawing card of the season. This woman is wonderfully effective, particularly in the stronger scenes, such as that in which she coaxes a confession of having committed murder, from an old acquaintance of hers. Also the continuous thrusting at the conscience of the murderer, in order to force him to divulge the real story, is as done by her, wonderfully subtle. The picture is one which already has created much comment. It is dramatic throughout, and in a sense, is a modern allegory, with Wealth and Desire beaten, while Virtue is triumphant. There are several other good pictures, including the Charlie Chaplin special, "Mabel's Busy Day." Tomorrow afternoon and evening, a special program has been aranged, and beginning Monday, "Sammy Jane," made after Bret Harte's story of a similar title, will be shown for three days.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Do not fail to see the unusually attractive play, "The Heart of a Painted Woman" today. This is the last chance one has to take in this 13 reel performance, at which appear some of the world's greatest motion picture artists. This is the last appearance of the charming Mary Pickford in the latest Paramount picture, "The Heart of a Painted Woman." "The Heart of a Painted Woman" is a play of intense dramatic action which leads up to a tragic end. "Blanche Sweet" in "Stolen Goods," a story of a dramatic feature, will also be seen today for the last time. This is a gripping drama; the Belgium war scenes which are especially realistic and will be long remembered. Weber and Fields in "Two of the Finest" will keep you in the state of continual laughter, so amusing are these two joy-makers. Three more reels of good comedy and drama are included in this exceptionally long and excellent program. Judging from the two past performances, you must come early to be sure of obtaining a seat. Come to the Merrimack Square theatre today and see this double Paramount show at the price of one.

OWL THEATRE

ECONOMICAL BUNGALOW COTTAGE

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

An economical bungalow cottage to build, either in the city, suburb or on a lot in a country town or small village. This little bungalow has a living room across the front, dining room in rear, good pantry and large kitchen, combination stairway and piazza across the entire front, which is screened in for summer use, and can be glazed for the winter and used as a sun room.

The second story is carefully planned. There is a full basement under entire house. First story is 9 feet high and second story 8 feet. Rooms are finished up to full height, in second story, with closets for each room. First story is finished in red gum, red oak or Washington fir, all of clear quality. Second story is pine to paint. Southern pine or Washington fir. Size, 28 feet wide by 28 feet deep over the main part. Cost to build, $2,850, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

nessee, Maryland, Delaware, Southern Louisiana, North and South Carolina, Virginia and Ozarks. In 1914, 1,905 carloads of strawberries were shipped from Central California. Lesser quantities were shipped from the other districts which are named in the order of their importance. From the Ozarks came 745 carloads last year.

The north, however, plays a more important part in the strawberry industry than these figures might indicate. Great quantities of berries are grown in the north in small patches and shipped to market by trolley, express, or in the producer's own wagon. Only a very small portion of northern-grown berries are concentrated into carload lots, the basis for the government survey. In the south, however, on the Pacific coast, where berries are shipped long distances it is economical to arrange to have them sent by carloads.

We have had many memorial days in the passing of the years and on each one of them we have honored the dear departed and the living links that bind us with an exalted past, but never was its appeal more vital than now. This year we can readily understand what it means, and we can more thoroughly enter into its spirit for while the rest of the world is at war we enjoy the peace and liberty that are the direct fruits of American struggles and sacrifices. With gratitude for the past and with hope for the future we once again honor our heroes living and dead and consecrate ourselves anew to the ideals of American democracy.

Memorial day is a day of memories, and no nation can prosper and progress that does not hold sacred its history and traditions. Superficial observers have been inclined to censure our thoughtlessness, our irreverence and our materialism, but there is nothing to be censured in our observance of Memorial day. On that day, year after year, we take stock of our nationality and recall the great deeds of dark days that America may march onward in the light of freedom. On that day we pause and look back that the newer generations may realize what their fathers did to establish and preserve the ideal of democratic government.

What a blessed contrast we afford to the rest of the world this glorious Memorial day of May! Rapine, ruin and unutterable misery have swept the nations like a devouring flame; the war god is loose and humanity staggers beneath its blow. Once we, too, had great wars, one of which threatened to overthrow the triumphs of Washington and the great nation he established, but liberty triumphed, the nation was saved and America, the home of freedom, progressed in prosperity and peace. Out of this hellish struggle may dawn a purer democracy, and man's inhumanity to man may be a dream of the past.

Let us then once more heartily honor the dead who died for America and the thinning ranks of the living who are nearing the final bourne. Let us fly the flags and place wreaths on the graves to the strains of martial music and the booming of cannon. Let us bless the past and remember its story that we may be ready for any call that the future may make on our American manhood, our American patriotism and our unswerving loyalty and devotion to the stars and stripes.

OUR NAVY FLAWS

This is the day of the submarine as the most effective craft in modern naval tactics, and America is waking up to the fact. Congress has authorized the construction of 26 new submarines, and it has been officially announced that these will be the most effective of their kind in the navy of any great power. In the meantime there are revelations that warrant attention and immediate investigation, if our navy is not to be a collection of mechanical failures.

Recently this country was shocked by the loss of a submarine that, without warning, plunged to the bottom of Honolulu bay, carrying its crew to their death. A few days ago, naval maneuvers were held in the Atlantic, in which 12 submarines took part. Six of the under sea craft broke down, and at one time or another were unable to take their part in the war game. What would this mean if instead of playing at mimic war, the submarines were in reality proceeding against an enemy?

Secretary Daniels has declared his intention to make a full investigation into the causes of this regrettable condition. He will ascertain whether it is the result of faults of construction or whether it is due to defects in the method of reporting or making repairs. He has been commendably frank in his statements, concerning the question, and the comments on the case should not be partisan. It is the American navy that will be investigated, and all America should help and encourage anything that would make its navy a better national defense.

Secretary Daniels points out that the submarine is still in the experimental stage, and that all of those which were in trouble were constructed prior to 1912. The faults should surely be discovered and eliminated before the 26 new submarines are constructed. Germany has done wonderful work with its submarines and has shown that in that country they have reached a high point of efficiency. We have the brains, the materials, the money, the time to investigate and plan fully; is there any good reason why our submarines should be inferior to those of any power on earth?

TIDY UP!

We have had a clean-up campaign that presumably had fine results; we have had a great rain to wash the streets and freshen the lawns and gardens; we have had all kinds of campaigns towards the cultivation of the city beautiful ideal. Let us now show practical results.

It is wonderful what even slight attention to the premises will do at this season. An hour spent by many citizens in the little lot before the door, or the garden at the side, or the lawn at the back, will have a splendid effect on the general appearance of the city.

If the grass plot before the door has not made a good showing this year there is still time to help it along. Nothing will grow in the shady hollow under the trees. The vacant space at the side that you have used as a dump and that is littered with old cans and refuse will grow peas, beans, tomatoes and corn. The sunny spot under the parlor window will be ideal for a bed of geraniums or pansies. The way to have all these things is to try to have them. Merely looking at your uninviting premises and envying your neighbor will bring you nothing.

The general appearance of a city depends on the initiative and collective effort of its individual citizens. Lowell is too big for the competitive attempts that make North Billerica so beautiful and orderly, but we can have the same results without the competition, if our people respond to the call of the city beautiful. Now is the time to make the initial preparations for a better and more beautiful city in the long days of summer and fall.

FACTS FIRST.
Regarding the possible answer of Germany to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania, one man's guess is as good as another's, and most expressed opinions are founded on imagination. One declares that Germany's attitude will be defiant; another says it will be conciliatory, but only Germany really knows—and Germany is taking its time about it.

A novel prediction is made in a recent despatch from Amsterdam. It says that owing to the gravity of the situation, and the momentous possibilities that lie in it, Germany will not answer President Wilson's protests in the preliminary note, but will make a statement of facts, as Germany sees them, asking that this nation admit such facts. While there is little doubt here as to the real facts, such a policy is not undesirable. In any debate or discussion, there must be some common ground of argument, and if Germany sees the facts in one light and America in another, no exchange of diplomatic notes is likely to bring about an agreement.

Briefly, the facts as America sees them are: that the Lusitania—a passenger ship, while carrying many neutral passengers, was sunk by a German submarine in direct defiance of international law. It will be interesting to hear the statement of facts as Germany sees them. If Germany and this nation cannot find a set of facts to acknowledge in common, then all diplomatic parleying will be in vain.

EXPORT FRAUDS

To ship contraband to Germany is one thing; to defraud the United States is another. Yet both considerations may be combined in the one transaction. Indictments have been found by the federal grand jury against several prominent American business men who have been alleged guilty of filing false manifests covering certain shipments to Europe. In one case, shipments of rubber valued at $50,000 were concealed in barrels of resin and bales of cotton waste, and the fraud was discovered through the agency of the X-ray. Such actions are decidedly illegal, but they are to be condemned even on broader grounds as a breach of neutrality and a danger to our best interests in a national sense. American business expects the government to stand firmly behind it in any complications that may arise, but to make the issue clear with any foreign government, our hands must be clean. If England discovers contraband masquerading in a harmless guise, it will be all the harder for our legitimate shipments and shippers to get fair play. We must be square in our dealings if we expect our government to insist that foreign nations must be square with us. The issue is clear, and there is little excuse for violators of our shipping regulations.

PAYING THE PRICE

The allies declare confidently that they will capture the Dardanelles and

Constantinople, but it will be at a heavy cost. England is certainly paying the price, for in the sinking of the Lusitania her fifth great battleship has been destroyed at the mouth of the famous narrows. This sacrifice of ships and men was one of the most fruitful causes for criticism of Churchill's admiralty policy in England, and it would not be strange to find a cessation of attempts to silence the forts from the sea until the land forces progress further along the peninsula, silencing the forts in their way. With Austrian, German and Turkish submarines operating in the narrow channel, and around its mouth, and the mines that are sent adrift as quickly as others are swept up, the ships of the allied fleets run enormous risks. That six great battleships have been sunk and many put out of commission before anything important is achieved proves the difficulty of reducing the Dardanelles from the sea, or the cost of such reduction. Still, the allies show no indication of moderating the attack as yet, and the land forces seem to be gaining slowly but steadily.

The legislature has done well in letting the jitters question go over to the next general court. At present the jitters craze is too new and untried to afford any permanent information as to its workings, and it will take time to show its weaknesses and reveal what regulations are necessary to protect the public while being fair to the jitters operators.

The weather was perfect, enthusiasm ran high, and the belated "White Way" celebration went off with a bang. Everybody was happy and general satisfaction was the order of the day. Lowell is surely a bright city, now that our fine new lighting system is blazing away, and last night it was easy for those on the streets to believe that we are soon to enter a new era of prosperity. Let there be light!

When we think of the need for a new bridge at Pawtucketville, it might be well also to think of the collapse of the Chelmsford street bridge and the fire at Memorial hall; nothing is more dangerous in a community than a false sense of security.

What does Lowell do for its children in summer? They need playgrounds, ball grounds and swimming pools.

Which is the more necessary—the extension of Dummer street or the cleaning up of the Concord river?

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At last evening's meeting of Wamee lodge, 25, K. of P., it was announced that Deputy Grand Chancellor I. W. MacArthur of Cambridge would give a lecture on Europe at the Ladies' night of the lodge to be held June 4. Refreshments will be served and all members and friends are invited. Routine business was transacted.

Daughters of Liberty

The regular meeting of Busy Bee circle, Daughters of Liberty, was held last evening at the home of Mrs. A. Dexter on East Merrimack street, with Mrs. Charles Richardson presiding. Following the transaction of important business, a bountiful supper was served. Whist was also enjoyed. The circle has been invited to attend the Memorial service at the First Congregational church tomorrow afternoon at 2.30.

GREEK COMMUNITY OFFICERS

The annual election of officers for the Greek community of this city will take place Monday in the basement of the Greek church in Jefferson street.

FREE TO THE SICK!

A Remarkable Offer made to the Sick for this Visit only, by

Dr. NAUGHTON
SPECIALIST

Who Will Be at the
NEW AMERICAN HOTEL
LOWELL

One Day Only
Monday, May 31st

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

To all who call at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Monday, May 31, I will give Consultations, Diagnosis of Disease, and Examinations, Absolutely Free of Charge.

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as inflexible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

You have no idea of the joy of living until every bone, tissue, muscle and organ of the body is brought up to 100% efficiency, which my system does.

If you are sick or have any kind of stomach or intestinal trouble it will require a short term of curative feeding—then I balance the diet so as to give to the body all the elements of nourishment it requires according to your age and your occupation.

If medicine is needed in any case I prescribe only such remedies that do not conflict with the proper diet. I get results and this ends all argument.

Dr. NAUGHTON will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Monday, May 31st, 1915, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

all the warring factions in Mexico that conditions in that country have become intolerable and that, unless they compose the situation soon, some other means may have to be employed to accomplish the result.

The first intimation of the president's determination to take this step came yesterday in his appeal issued as head of the American Red Cross, setting forth that, "due to several years of internal disturbances, the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation," and urging contributions to relief funds.

Later the White House gave out the following: "When the president's appeal for aid for the Mexicans was issued, it was also stated that the executive offices that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

Hindling Intervention

High officials referred to the president's forthcoming pronouncement as not meaning immediate intervention and they emphasized the word "immediate." The impression in executive quarters was that one purpose would be to place responsibility for the present state of affairs squarely upon the military elements in the southern republic, which have overrun the country and appropriated its food supply or prevented the tilling of the soil.

While anxious to continue the policy of allowing the Mexicans to settle their differences without outside interference, the president is said to be determined that the civilian population of the country shall not be starved in the meantime.

This statement has been prepared and will be issued after the cabinet meeting next Tuesday and then communicated to the leaders of all the Mexican factions.

Officials at the White House and state department declined to say what the president's statement contained, but denied that recognition of any faction was now contemplated. It was stated authoritatively that while friends of Carranza here had been pressing for recognition, the Washington government had not been impressed with the ability of any of the contending chiefs to restore order.

The present action, it was said, was not intended to assist one faction at the expense of another, but to demand in effect, that the Mexicans arrive at an early settlement of their troubles or the starving population.

Talk of intervention—friendly or hostile, but still intervention—which has been dormant ever since the European war diverted attention from the situation nearer home, was immediately revived by the White House statement.

The events of the last 24 hours—the seizure by Carranza authorities of large quantities of corn purchased by the international relief committee, and the inability of the authorities at Vera Cruz and Mexico City to provide transportation for supplies to succor the ever-increasing bread lines—brought about the determination to act.

Officials flatly denied reports that Great Britain had been exerting pressure for the relief of conditions in Mexico. It was pointed out, however, that Du Val West, after spending three months investigating conditions in Mexico, reported in effect that none of the leaders had sufficient capacity to dominate the situation and is said to have suggested that the United States must compel a settlement.

Mr. West reported on his mission last Tuesday to the president. He is the first man sent on a similar errand to Mexico who had a thorough acquaintance with the Mexican character.

His report is understood to have been pessimistic and to have emphasized the fondness for loot rather than patriotism among the warring factions; the incapability of the Mexicans at present to appreciate what constitutional government means; the steady degeneration of the economic situation there; the people being on the verge of starvation and no food whatever in sight.

Moreover he is said to have reported that no military development could be expected to bring immediate relief, because of the scarcity of arms and ammunition brought about by the sale of large quantities to Europe by American manufacturers.

The great hope of the American government now, it is said, is that its influence on the situation will be such as to bring about a coalition of the best elements to set up a provisional government which may be recognized.

The west report was a complete indictment of all the methods used by the leaders and entirely discounted the altruism with which they have been credited in the United States. Leaders were charged with robbing granaries and barns, exporting livestock and foodstuffs to the United States and safely depositing the money received for these goods in American banks, where they may keep it in safety.

About 1 per cent. of the population was reported as "soldiering," but the remainder are driven off or discouraged from gainful occupation by the certainty that whatever they produced would be seized by some wandering band.

Instances were given where foreign and native residents were repeatedly held up for large sums of money for the support of the "armies," which sums would eventually revert to the several chiefs of one leader or another. Strong boxes were said to be under repeated levies for food and money for the combatants, while the strategic position was such that no one faction could hope to control the country.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Leah Sturtevant by her many friends, on Thursday evening at the home of her cousin, Miss Rowena Sturtevant, 31 Nesmith street. It proved a most enjoyable affair for the 30 girls who were there to participate in the many features. The principal attraction seemed to be the dining room, which was prettily decorated, pink and white being the prevailing colors. In the center of the table was a very large keyhole with a bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms. A line of pink ribbon was draped around the room from which many gifts, useful as well as ornamental, were suspended. Miss Sturtevant was escorted into the room and, amid showers of confetti, told to get busy collecting her presents. An informal evening of music and games was then started. Miss Helen Osgood carried off the honors and was loudly applauded for her humorous and original recitations. The girls departed at a late hour, wishing the prospective bride continued success and prosperity.

Lynn Slaughtered Pow-
ers' Offerings and
Humiliated Local ClubProgram for Big Meet Monday—Noted Run-
ners to Appear

(Special to The Sun)
LYNN, May 29.—Dick Durning, left-handed pitcher extraordinary of the Lowell club, held the heavy hit; Lynn Lowell club to four scattered hits yesterday afternoon and incidentally shut them out in a one-sided argument by the score of 12-0. Durning had supreme command of the ball at all times and after the first inning not one Lowell player saw third base. Seddon has a Lynn pitcher shown to so good advantage as Durning did yesterday and the Lowell hitters might just as well let their bats in the dust just as to carry them to the platter. The Louisville lad issued but one free work and had the Lowell batters slashing at his sharp curves which broke over the outside corner of the plate. He was given excellent support by his teammates.

Lynn on the other hand hammered the shots of one Bill Powers, last year's star pitcher of the New London champions of the now dead Eastern Association circuit, for 17 hits with a total of 23 bases. Powers early in the game gave up trying and lobbed the ball up to the Lynn hitters who rightfully proceeded to fatten their batting averages. It was Powers' deal but with Lowell and if yesterday's game is a sample of his work he will soon acquire his walking ticket.

Every Lynn player secured one or more base hits, except porter, Mike Lynch, Wheat Orcutt and Allie Moulton securing three fine safeties each off the offerings of Powers, with Lynch playing the stellar role with a three-bagger. In addition to hammering the ball so that the horsehide was almost egg-shaped, Lynn also ran wild on the bases, stealing nine bases on Greenhalse and Egan. In this department of the game Orcutt was the principal purloining three cushions, while Gleason, who stole one base, had a runner with two to his credit, one being on the head end of a double steal with Orcutt.

Lynn played like a team of champions and gobbled every attempt of Lowell to put men on the bases. Durning was given excellent support, although one error was charged to Mike Lynch for fizzling Egan's shot in the fifth inning. This, however, did not do any material damage as two men were down when Mike slipped in Harry Haight was a lower of strength behind the bat, and his work yesterday stamped him as a backstop that will take no back water from any receiver in the league.

One bag was pilfered on Haight and it was a mighty close decision for Bransfield to decide. Haight ate up the effort of some of the Lowell players made after long runs. In addition Haight also secured a brace of hits and stole one base. The strong wind which swept the field, bothered the Lowell players somewhat, but in all cases they played the ball safe and refused to take any chances.

Barrows, captain and center-fielder of the Lowell outfit, pulled off the fielding stunt of the day in the sixth inning, when he ran into deep with a ball caught with his back to the ball caught Gleason's hit smash with his gloved hand. It was a magnificent piece of work and Barrows was given a cap call by the bleachers.

OFFICIALS FOR FOOTBALL GAMES
PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Officials for the most important football games next fall were chosen last night at a meeting of the Inter-Collegiate football rules' sub-committee on officials. James A. Babbitt of Haverford college presided.

Tufts of Brown will referee and Fullz, also of Brown, will umpire the Yale-Harvard game, while Dr. Williams, Pennsylvania, will be field judge and Morice, Pennsylvania, head linesman. At the Princeton-Harvard contest, Langford of Trinity will referee; Williams, umpire; Pendleton, Bowdoin, will act as field judge and G. N. Barthart as linesman.

For the Yale-Princeton game the officials will be: Tufts, referee; Marshall, umpire; Morice, field judge; Pendleton, linesman.

A Vudor Shade will make a sleeping room of your piazza. The Thompson Hardware Co. are sole agents.

Edouard Fabre and Jim Henigan will start from scratch in the 10-mile race at Bunting park Monday afternoon. Official handicapper McGrath looked over the list of entries for this event Thursday night, and decided that Henigan should start on even terms with the Montreal flyer.

Henigan has won many races at the 10-mile distance, and his recent performances indicate speed of Cliff Horne's calibre. In fact, track experts are of the opinion that Henigan can defeat Horne at the present time.

Lowell fans remember Henigan's remarkable work at Bunting park last year, and many of them believe that Fabre will have a hard time making the pace for the durable and speedy Dorchester lad.

Other men entered in the 10-mile event, with handicaps, are as follows: Dominick St. Paul, Dorchester Athletic association, 500 yards; Martin J. Silver, West Newton, 540 yards; Leroy A. Davis, Bunting club, Exeter, N. H., 620 yards; Albert Nebes, Lowell, 600 yards; Albert Ives, Dorchester, 680 yards; J. J. Callahan, Dorchester Athletic association, 580 yards; Charles Horne, same, 320 yards; Fred Nagle, same, 250 yards; George H. Guddard, Lowell, 450 yards.

Lowell boys competing in the various events are handicapped as follows:
100 yards dash—Fred Silcox, three yards; George F. Haggerty, 2 1/2 yards; 220 yards—Fred Silcox, 6 1/2 yards; Geo. F. Haggerty, 10 yards; 440 yards—Geo. F. Haggerty, 22 yards; Guy C. Randall, 18 yards; 550 yards—Guy C. Randall, 28 yards; John F. Larratt, 40 yards; One-mile run—Guy C. Randall, 65 yards; John F. Larratt, 90 yards; Ten-mile run—Albert Nebes, 600 yards; Geo. H. Guddard, 450 yards.

There is much interest about town in the reception to be given Fabre at the New American house, tonight, by the municipal council and business men of the city.

PITTSBURGH, May 29.—Fred Clark's crew of Buccaneers seems to have upset the dope again. Picked for a second division berth by the experts, the Pirates are booming along, fighting and scrapping and bopped generally like pennant contenders. There are many reasons for this unlooked for department of supman, Carey and Wagner. Carey and Wagner, the veterans, are playing a wonderful game in the field, and, while not so strong at bat, still they are making enough timely bingles to win games, more than which none could ask for. Bill Hinchman, a newcomer, is batting and fielding like a veteran. His playing to date has been a revelation, and he is being generally hailed as the "find" of the year.

In Hartford they are telling an interesting story about Al Bannan, secretary of the Colonial league, holding up a string of filches to form his auto parade there on opening day, to save expense. But Al claims one of the filch owners doubled up on him when he came to paying off. This, of course, made Business Manager Hugh McKinnon of the Hartford club smile.

Walter Haggood, in his "Along the Sport Trail" column in the Boston Herald writes the following interesting "dope":

The experiment of running a minor league outside the pale of organized baseball, an experiment that has several times been tried in the past and always culminated in failure, was formally inaugurated again last week with the opening games in the Colonial league. Conditions surrounding the debut of the Colonial league team, an out-law organization are somewhat unique in that, instead of playing a lone hand as did the Tri-State and others that might be mentioned, the Colonial has the moral and financial support of the Federal league, which is today a bigger and more formidable power in the baseball world than O. B. or its spokesmen like to admit. Because of this Federal patronage it is believed that the Colonial league will go through the season with few if any of the usual considerable measure of - success, although this is to be a heart-breaking year for the minor leagues as a whole.

The lambasting which the Cardinals handed the New York Nationals has not affected the high regard of Miller Huggins for the capabilities of McGraw as manager of the latent power of the Giants.

New York will be right up in the thick of the fight before the season is over, declared Midget Miller recently, and probably before the season is half finished. Mac has had a great deal to do with the team, and he is not likely to let his real standbys—players like Matt. Snodgrass, Merkle and Perritt. This Perritt is a grand pitcher. He will win his 20 games before the end of the campaign. McGraw's greatest weakness so far has been in pitching. Until the weather settles he cannot hope to remedy the evil. But when summer does come some of these early pacemakers had better take a side track. You must remember that in spite of all, the New Yorks tough luck the team, with 126 games of the scheduled 154 remaining, though in last place, is just six and one-half games behind the leading Phillies.

Strong rivalry on the part of the Federal league with the International league club in Newark has led to many reports recently that Newark was to be dropped from the International league circuit and the team transferred to some Connecticut city, Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport being variously named. The reports were revived yesterday with Bridgeport given as the city likely to get the club.

Inquiries in Newark and of International league officials failed to reveal any present basis for the rumors, but in other quarters usually well informed as to the latest baseball developments it was predicted that an international league circuit change was not unlikely before the season began to wane, with the probability that Bridgeport or some other Connecticut town would be asked to take over the Newark team. It was not believed, however, that any immediate switch in the circuit was impending.

There is one thing which the umpires in the circuit should be instructed not to allow, and that is expressions of profanity on the ball field. This has happened several times this season at Riverside park, and yesterday when a protest was made from the Lewiston bench against a decision of the umpire, the expression was audible in the grandstand, even after the umpire had

cautioned the men on the bench to quit wrangling.

Umpires should be made to enforce the laws of decency at least, and if a heavy fine were imposed on each and every player who so forgot himself as to resort to profanity on the ball field there would soon be a stop to the practice. It not only demoralizes the game, but such talk is disgusting to everyone, in the park, and especially to women who happen to be in the grandstand.

Umpire Keeler made a serious mistake when he allowed the incident in yesterday's game to go by unnoticed. It may be all right for a player to register a kick when he thinks he has just caused, but it can be done with better effect than by resorting to profanity.—Lawrence Telegram.

Is it any wonder that the attendance in Lawrence is not any too satisfactory? The lean crowds may be blamed to conditions generally or to sundry other reasons, but the fact remains that this year's schedule committee did as much to hurt the attendance here as anything else. Lawrence is at home for seven games in a row, which is, by far, too much for any club to be at home. It may be all right for the Boston clubs, but not with New England league cities. Too much baseball is as bad as too little.—Lawrence Tribune.

The Worcester Gazette says:

"Lawrence and Lowell look the best of the teams which have played here. The former have four wonderful pitchers, two great hitters in Luyster and Warner, and a dangerous batsman in Mahoney. This sums up the main points of strength. Lowell has a hard-hitting team, one of the kind that is apt to break up a game at any time. They have not been getting good pitching, however, except from Ziesler, and their work in the field has been ragged."

Must Devise "Some Other Means" of Settlement, Says Pres. Wilson —Hints at Intervention

WASHINGTON, May 28.—President Wilson's forthcoming statement on the Mexican situation will contain a detailed review of conditions and serve as a warning to the factional leaders that the United States will not tolerate improvement of the internal situation. While officials refused today to discuss what alternative the president has in mind it was widely intimated that the administration is determined to take such steps as may be necessary.

The statement has been written by President Wilson, himself, on his type-writer in his study, and is said to contain about 1500 words. It will be forwarded to the various Mexican leaders through American agents. It is said to be based on the conclusion that conditions in Mexico have come to such a state that the United States as the southern republics' "next friend" must see to it that there is a change.

An embargo on the exportation of arms from the United States is understood to have been under consideration. The report to President Wilson, by Duval West who recently returned from Mexico is said to have pictured the apparent inability of any faction to get command of the situation.

The president, however, it was understood today, did not determine on his part Mr. West's report alone, but took those facts in connection with much other data that has been coming to him for months.

American Red Cross supplies for the famine sufferers are to be concentrated in three great government warehouses at Calverton, Laredo and El Paso.

Negotiations with Carranza and Villa authorities to open the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City are progressing and the Red Cross authorities propose to have supplies ready.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Eyes aid much in making a woman beautiful as their color is all right, but many eyes are lacking in the eyelash fringe and eyebrows. You may improve this condition, however, says Hortense. The ones who have heavy brows want to get rid of them, and the ones who haven't wish for them.

An application of olive oil each night will help to make them grow, and the following is good for you must be careful not to let any enter the eye: Vaseline, two ounces; tincture of cartharides, one-ounce of an ounce; oil of lavender, 15 drops; oil of rosemary, 15 drops.

Mix thoroughly and apply to the eyebrows with a tiny toothbrush once a day until the growth is sufficiently stimulated and then apply less often. The ointment may be used for the eyelashes also, but should be very carefully applied as it will inflame the eyes if it gets into them.

What English women long ago used to call the "beauty bath" is undergoing a revival, says Hortense. Although its list of ingredients sounds very portentous, its results, as far as softening and whitening the skin, are quite remarkable. For thin, nervous women it is especially good, as it soothes and quiets the nerves and besides has nourishing qualities which are unsurpassed. Here is the formula: Pulverized lupin seeds, 12 ounces; oatmeal, 8 ounces; barley, 8 ounces; bran 1½ pounds; rice, 4 ounces; borax, 2 ounces; glycerine, 3 ounces; and let boil in rain water for three quarters of an hour, then strain and add a small amount to your bath water in which you have dissolved one-half ounce of bicarbonate of soda and one-half ounce of borax. Take this bath twice a week and do not use soap.

Almost every woman has her own particular remedy for her summer complexion inconveniences like sunburn and freckles. Here is Hortense's advice to protect your complexion. For sunburn she says to use milk with a little cucumber juice squeezed into it. After bathing, riding or golf have a bowl of milk brought to you with some crushed cucumber floating in it.

Then take an emollient sponge in one hand and a small sponge in the other, and as you read, dab that dip the sponge in the bowl and dab it over your face and as soon as it dries dab some more. It is really a most cooling and beautifying process.

For red or rough hands use plenty of oatmeal when washing them and dry them very thoroughly, says Hortense. Then rub in a good cold cream and pull on your gloves which should be loose and roomy. The fingers should be big enough not to press at the seams. The wrists must be large for if they bind the flesh they will make the hands numb.

Get a box of finely powdered pure oatmeal, mix with water and spread it on your hands like a paste. As it dries rub it off in flakes, removing the last traces with a cloth and lukewarm water. If this treatment is persisted in a great change will soon be noted in the condition of your hands. The skin will take on a creamy whiteness which it never possessed before.

A reader who is striving to be perfect physically writes me for the proper measurements she should aspire to. Hortense, whom I consulted, says a woman, with arms extended, should measure from tip to tip of the middle finger the same length as she is tall. The length of the hand should be one-tenth, the foot one-seventh and the diameter of the chest one-fifth of the height.

The distance from the elbow to the little finger should be the same as the distance of the elbow from the middle of the chest. The measurement from the top of the head to the chin should be the same as the length of the foot, and there should be the same distance between the chin and the armpits. A woman of 5 feet 6 in height should have a thirty-four inch bust and her waist measure should be twenty-nine inches. All measurements should be taken without the corset.

You may remove light freckles, says Hortense, by washing the face every day in sour milk and allowing it to dry on. Washing the face in buttermilk every evening before retiring is also very good. The freckles will very soon bleach out of existence.

Another harmless remedy is made of equal parts of glycerine and rose water applied every night and allowed to dry in. Still another good remedy for obstinate freckles is as follows: Oxide of zinc, one-half dram; suboxide of bismuth, one-quarter dram; extract, one and three-quarters drams; glycerine, one and one-half drams.

Spread the paste upon the freckles at night before going to bed. In the morning remove what remains with a little powdered borax and sweet oil. Still a fourth good freckle chaser is a lotion composed of dissolving three grains of borax in five grains each of rose water and orange flower water, and applying as the above remedy.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION AND IMPENDING HOLIDAY CAUSED HALT—CLOSING FIRM

NEW YORK, May 28.—Trading in stocks was almost at a standstill today, the impending holidays, coupled with the probability of the publication of Germany's reply to the ultimatum, tended lower in the early dealings, war shares and other specialties scoring declines of 1 to almost 3 points. United States Steel fluctuated within a point and other favorites moved more narrowly. Reading and Rock Island fell a point and Missouri Pacific steadied on further deposits of notes under the extension plan. The list showed general improvement later. The closing was firm. Bonds were easy.

SIGNS FOR LIFE

Pitcher Daus of the Detroit Americans Married Today

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 28.—George A. Daus, pitcher of the Detroit Americans, was married at Clayton, near here today, to Miss Ollie Spoke. Daus was to pitch in the double header with St. Louis today, and he asked the marriage license clerk to keep the wedding a secret, as he feared he would be nervous if the baseball crowd knew he had just been married.

The wedding was a double ceremony, a sister of the bride being married at the same time.

SALISBURY WATER SUPPLY
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, May 28.—The state gas and electric light commission has authorized the Salisbury Water Supply company, the new corporation that has taken over the business of the Artesian Water company at the beach, to issue 350 shares of preferred stock, 350 shares of common stock and $1000 in bonds to finance the undertaking.

The new company asked for $50,000 in common stock and the same amount of preferred stock and bonds to the amount of $100,000. While cutting down the amount the commission says it may consider the matter further when the plans of the company are more fully carried out so that the actual expense incurred may be more definitely determined.

The company plans to supply water to the beach and the town and sewerage system at the beach as well as financing the projects.

DR. C. B. SANDERS,
Chief Marshal Memorial Day Parade

HIS SERVICE IN THE CIVIL WAR

Dr. Charles B. Sanders, who will act as chief marshal of the Memorial Day parade is one of the best known physicians of this city. He is a member of Post 185 and one of the oldest physicians in Lowell.

Dr. Sanders was born in Lowell in 1844 and received his early education in this city. Later he attended the Berwick academy and graduated in medicine from Bowdoin college.

On Aug. 11, 1862, he enlisted in the 13th New Hampshire regiment, in which he served 18 months, and then got a commission as first lieutenant in the 39th U. S. (colored) regiment. With his company of 68 men the young lieutenant was prominent in the battle of Crater, where he was made prisoner, being kept at Columbia, S. C., as a prisoner of war for seven months.

Dr. Sanders was mustered out of the service on Dec. 23, 1865, and in 1869 he returned to Lowell to practice his profession. After being away from Lowell for a number of years, the doctor returned to his native city some 22 years ago and has remained here since, serving for many years on the pension board, from which he retired a few years ago. In the Memorial Day parade the doctor will wear the sash which he wore at the Crater battle, and which he keeps and cherishes with the greatest pride.

On Monday next, over 50 years after the close of the Civil War, 170 veterans, or thereabout, of that war, will participate in the annual Memorial day parade, a day of memory as unique as it is beautiful. At a season when nature is fairest and sweetest, and the promise that seed time and harvest shall not fail is again renewed in a land of beauty and plenty and peace, we pause for a time to consider the sacrifice which made us what we are, and to express in flowers, as it were, our gratitude to the heroes who sleep beneath the mounds hallowed by their dust.

The Civil war veterans will not be the only ones to join in the parade, but they are foremost to claim our attention, because we remember the long-ago, when the national life was imperiled. Fifty years have changed the boys of sixty, and as they place their tributes over the hearts of their compatriots in the annual Memorial day parade, a day of memory as unique as it is beautiful. At a season when nature is fairest and sweetest, and the promise that seed time and harvest shall not fail is again renewed in a land of beauty and plenty and peace, we pause for a time to consider the sacrifice which made us what we are, and to express in flowers, as it were, our gratitude to the heroes who sleep beneath the mounds hallowed by their dust.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS' UNION

General Ames Camp Is Prosperous — Under
Commander Mitchell

Sketch of Its Origin
and Progress—Present Members

Among the leading and fast growing Spanish War Veteran associations of the state is Adelbert Ames camp of this city, which, with a membership of nearly 150 has attained a standard and influence in this community that is rarely reached by an organization of its kind.

Adelbert Ames camp was instituted shortly after the muster out of the Sixth regiment in January, 1899. At that time a number of officers and non-commissioned officers assembled and agreed to call a meeting of the discharged men for the purpose of forming a Spanish War Veterans' camp. Early in that year a meeting of 50 veterans was held in Memorial hall with Sergt. Lewis G. Hutton as temporary chairman and at that time the camp was organized and the following officers elected to guide its course: Captain, William Fairweather; first lieutenant, Alexander D. Mitchell; second lieutenant, Frank Boyle; adjutant, Frank Dodge; treasurer, Philip McNulty.

The first meetings were held in the hall over the Wameet National bank at the corner of Middlesex and Thorne streets. After three months, however, quarters were engaged in Wyman's Exchange, where camp meetings were regularly held until rooms were secured in Memorial hall in 1901. From that time until the fire on March 1 of the year meetings were held in Memorial hall.

During the administration of Commander Philip McNulty the camp became affiliated with the national body of Spanish War Veterans, then known as the National Army of Spanish War Veterans. In 1903 there was an amalgamation of several of the National organizations and they were then named "United Spanish War Veterans." Frank Dodge was the first commander under the new organization. At this time the Department of Massachusetts was organized. Robert J. Crowley was the first department commander, Frank Dodge the first department adjutant, and James N. Greig the first department quartermaster. The following camp commanders in succession were Michael H. Harrington, 1904; James N. Greig, 1905-06; Mark Bentley, 1907; Edwin E. Nowlan, 1908; Gilbert E. Sutherland, 1909-10; Frank Holchiss, 1912; Gilbert W. Hunt, 1913-14, and Alexander D. Mitchell, 1915.

From an organization of 80 members the camp has steadily grown and today boasts of a membership of about 150. Since the first of the year when Commander Mitchell took charge, 20 new members have been initiated. Commander Mitchell has proven to be one of the hardest workers the camp ever had and has been instrumental in the large increase in its membership. He is still struggling to induce men who were in the service of the United States between May 1, 1898, and January, 1902, to join the camp and make it the best and strongest in the state. The financial condition of the organization is especially strong at the present time, having a large relief fund besides the regular treasury.

Meetings are held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The officers of the camp for 1915 are: Commander, Alexander D. Mitchell; senior vice commander, Thomas F. Muldoon; junior vice commander, A. J. Mitten; adjutant, Bert W. Chandler; quartermaster, William M. Prescott; sergeant, Arthur S. Coburn; Q. M. Sergt. Eugene Aldrich; trustee, Frank Dodge, Egin J. Bill and Charles L. Faneuf; historian, Walter L. Cutter; chaplain, Frank Boyle; officer of day, Carl H. Lambert; officer of guard, Albert E. Richardson; senior color sergeant, Fred E. Nichols; junior color sergeant, George E. Everett; patriotic instructor, John P. Cryan.

Members of Adelbert Ames camp are as follows: E. L. Aldrich, G. H. Brock, G. I. Buzzell, E. Chanson, J. B. Crowley, E. F. Dougherty, T. W. Doyle, C. J. Downey, E. E. Ellsworth, C. L. Faneuf, W. E. ## WARNING TO U. S.

Germany Again Tells
Shippers to be Careful
in War Zone

WASHINGTON, May 29.—An urgent warning to American shipping against traversing the naval war zone incautiously, and to have all neutral markings displayed as conspicuously as possible, including illumination at night, was communicated to the state department today by the German government through the American embassy at Berlin.

The German warning was announced in the following statement made public by the state department:

"The American ambassador at Berlin has been informed by the German foreign office, that, in view of the fact that during the past few weeks, it has repeatedly occurred that neutral ships have been sunk in the waters designated as an area of maritime war by the German admiralty on February 4, 1915, and specially in one case where it was established that the sinking was traceable to an attack by a German submarine, which took the neutral ship on an English vessel in the darkness, on account of the inadequate illumination of its neutral distinctive markings, it recommended that American shipping circles again be warned against traversing the area of maritime war incautiously and, also, be urged to make the neutral markings as plain as possible and especially to have them illuminated promptly and sufficiently at night."

BILL IN EQUITY

Officials of Harvard College Ask Instructions on Will

BOSTON, May 29.—A bill in equity, asking instructions as to their rights in carrying out an agreement with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to take up certain work provided for in the will of Gordon McKay, was filed in the supreme court today by officials of Harvard college.

Mr. McKay, who died 12 years ago, left virtually his entire estate to Harvard to maintain a separate school for instruction in arts and sciences, particularly in those relating to applied science. The fund at present amounts to $5,500,000. The college, unable immediately to carry out the provisions of the will, arranged for the Institute of Technology to take up the work. The court is now requested to pass upon the legality of the transfer of the fund from the college to the institute.

PARTIDGE-BERRIES

Botanical Expert After Investigation in Newfoundland Reports Government Should Make Sale an Industry

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 29.—In the course of an effort to develop the trade in the berries known in Newfoundland as partidge-berries, the government today made public a report of an investigation conducted by G. S. Torrey of Harvard college, a botanical expert. Mr. Torrey finds that this berry which is entirely different from the American partidge-berry is a variety of the raspberries of America.

It is identical with the fox berry of Nova Scotia and the mountain or rock cranberry of the United States and is known in the Chicago market as the lichen berry.

The berries grow in great quantities on the moraines of this colony and always have been used locally.

Ten years ago they were introduced to the export trade, and last year about 5000 barrels were shipped out of the colony. They have found particular favor with the Scandinavian population of several cities in the United States.

Mr. Torrey expresses the opinion that with careful supervision of the moors, intelligent cultivation and development of markets, the government should be able to make the sale of the berries an important industry.

WHITE WAY PARADE
AN IMPOSING FEATURE

Big Turnout and Many Features
Viewed by Immense Crowds—
New Lights Appreciated

More than 100,000 persons, men, women and children, witnessed the opening of Lowell's "white way" last night. It was the biggest crowd ever seen in the streets of Lowell and enthusiasm was at concert pitch. The teeming of automobiles, horse and foot, almost deafening in by the multitude was almost dulled when the lights were turned on. First they flickered a bit, then glowed softly and then burst forth in all their glory. The long avenue so beautifully lighted was a swaying mass of faces and so thoroughly occupied were the streets that the automobilists in the parade had to be very careful with their red fire. Among those who stood so far out in the street as to barely escape the automobiles were men and women with children in their arms and in some places the paraders

LONDON, May 29, 12.02 p. m.—The Turkish troops defending the Gallipoli peninsula against the landing forces of the allies number 80,000 men according to the correspondent at Athens of the Reuters Telegram Co.

The Turks, remaining on the defensive in the Caucasus, are concentrating all their efforts on the Dardanelles, whether reinforcements are being brought from Syria. The supplies of ammunition, both for the infantry and the artillery are reported to be decreasing rapidly, with no prospect of being replenished.

Reports reaching Athens from Sofia set forth that Bulgaria is holding to neutrality, but the leaders of the opposition party believe that if Rumania intervenes in the war Bulgaria will follow suit.

TERRIBLE FIGHTING ALONG SAN, IN GALICIA—ALLIES ADVANCE

YANCEY

LONDON, May 29, 11.53 a. m.—The report of the Imperial German government to the note of the United States concerning the sinking of the Lusitania is awaited with keen interest in London. It is believed that the German government will endeavor to gain time by the discussion of debatable points in the question at issue.

Terrific fighting is continuing along the front near San, in Galicia, with the Austro-German hosts making progress except at Sienawa, 50 miles north of Przemyśl, where, according to the claims of Petrograd and the admissions of Vienna, an Austria-Hungarian force is being thrown back across the river into the west bank. In this action, the Russians have captured several thousand prisoners and a number of guns.

In the Caucasus the Russians, now in occupation of the city of Van, in Turkish Armenia, are steadily advancing against the Turks.

The latest report given out by French army headquarters, dated on the British advance toward La Bassée and further French progress in the most difficult sector of the Lens-Arras line. Near Ecurie, a little to the north of Arras, a formidable German fortress bars the road to the eastward.

The French have captured a part of this work, which is known as the "labrynth" and they are now endeavoring totally to reduce it. The Germans are fighting stoutly to prevent allied progress in this direction and have made at least seven sanguinary assaults on the new French positions at Angres. Berlin reports that the battle at Ablain-St. Nazaire is still raging.

SERIOUS ANTI-ITALIAN DISORDERS TAKING PLACE IN TRIESTE

WILL OF A. G. VANDERBILT

Bulk of Estate Left in Trust to Sons by Second Wife—Son by First Wife Also Remembered

NEW YORK, May 28.—The bulk of the estate of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who died at the age of 55, is left in trust to his sons by his second wife, Margaret Emerson Vanderbilt. They are Alfred G. Jr., and George. Mr. Vanderbilt's will was filed for probate today.

William H. Vanderbilt, his son by his first wife, Elsie French Vanderbilt, who divorced him, receives a trust fund of $500,000, and the bulk of the Vanderbilt estate, his grand-uncle's and grandfather's, founded by Cornelius Vanderbilt, at the close of the Civil war. This legacy is in addition to a liberal settlement which he received from his father during his lifetime. He is now 13 years old.

Mr. Vanderbilt made provision for his widow by leaving her $300,000 and the income of $50,000,000, and the bulk of the Vanderbilt estate in the Adirondack Park, near Lake Placid, New York, and Gloucester house in London, England.

Relatives and friends receive bequests ranging from $1000 to $500,000.

The two infant sons share alike the rest. Their legacies will be held in trust for them until they are 21, when each is to receive outright the accumulated income and one-fourth of the principal. At the ages of 25, 30 and 35 each son is to receive a quarter of the principal, the trust thereafter terminating when each is 35 years of age.

The bulk of the Vanderbilt millions came into the possession of Alfred G. Vanderbilt upon the death of his father, Cornelius Vanderbilt, in 1855. At that time young Vanderbilt, just out of Yale, was in Japan on a tour of the world he had planned to last two years.

He hurried home and, reading the will of his father, learned that he would have to wait until he was 30 before he would come into any appreciable part of the fortune. Then he was to receive half. At 35 he was to receive the other half. Mr. Vanderbilt was 37 last October. Cornelius died in 1857, and the bulk of the Vanderbilt fortune, at the close of the Civil war, was in addition to a liberal settlement which he received from his father during his lifetime. He is now 13 years old.

Mr. Vanderbilt made provision for his widow by leaving her $300,000 and the income of $50,000,000, and the bulk of the Vanderbilt estate in the Adirondack Park, near Lake Placid, New York, and Gloucester house in London, England.

POSTAL CLERKS' NARROW ESCAPE

Convention Here Monday Evening Will be a Grand Affair

All is in readiness for the 15th annual convention of the Massachusetts State Association of Postoffice Clerks which is to be held in Old Fellows temple, this city, Monday, with the clerks of the local office in the role of hosts. Final plans for the event have been carefully perfected by the various committees in charge and everything points to one of the most delightful and successful conventions in the history of the state organization.

Among those who have responded to invitations to be present and speak are: Postmaster Mechan, Mayor Murphy, former Postmasters Crowley and Legare, Rev. James McCarthy, O. M. L., Rev. N. W. Matthews, Congressman Carter, Walsh and Phelan of the Massachusetts delegation, former Congressman Riley of Connecticut, U. S. Marshall J. Mitchell and Frank Rogers of Chicago, president of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks, who is in Massachusetts at present. Mayor O'Donnell of Holyoke will come with the delegation from that city.

The delegates from cities all over the state will begin to arrive during the forenoon. Already several automobiles have been secured to take the visitors on a trip through the city and it is thought that others will donate their machines for a few hours so that the federal clerks will go home with a good impression of the Spaulding City.

At 1.30 o'clock President Moriarty of Worcester will call the business session to order and the election of officers will be held. There is a lively contest for president of the association between Victor Turquist of this city and Sebastian Higley and Charles J. Langham of Fall River. The latter is interested in the election. Mr. Turquist's election and a close, though friendly, contest is assured.

The business session will adjourn at 6 o'clock until 6.30 when a banquet will be served with the aforementioned speakers. Local manufacturers, including the C. I. Hood Co., Meyers Thread Co., Ideal Cement factory and others, have contributed samples of their products to be presented to the delegates to impress upon their minds the manufacturing end of Lowell.

Many other features are promised the guests who will arrive in Lowell Monday to attend the convention.

The banquet committee is composed of the following: John H. Farrell, Charles W. Bell, James L. O'Dea and George H. Gurney.

MISSOURI RIVER HIGH

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 29.—The Missouri river here continues to rise and many farms in the lowlands are under water. The farmers in the bottom lands are moving their stock to higher ground.

The Osage river, which empties into the Missouri eight miles below Jefferson City, is now reaching the high lands, endangering thousands of acres of wheat and corn lands.

FLOODS IN "SHOW ME" STATE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 29.—Increased fears of disastrous conditions from high waters along the Missouri river eastward from Kansas City were prevalent today. In addition to the large volume of water pouring downstream from the upper reaches of the river and from the Kansas river, tributary streams below Kansas City were discharging flood waters into the river.

While it was believed that the crest of the high water had been reached early today later reports to the local United States weather observer indicated a further rise in the Missouri river to the north. It is believed the crest will be reached some time tomorrow.

BEVERLY OFFICIALS HERE

THEY INSPECTED HASSAM PAVING AND THE FILTRATION PLANT

A party of Beverly city officials including James W. Blackman, commissioner of public works; Alderman Harry J. Perier, Alderman Howard J. Winchell and Fred B. Browning, clerk of committees, came to Lowell today to have a look at our streets on which Hassam paving has been used and, incidentally, to inspect the filtration plant at the boulevard.

The Hassam is also a member of the Salem-Beverly water supply and he was especially interested in the filtration plant. Alderman Harry J. Perier and Clerk of Committees Fred B. Browning are former Lowell men.

They came by automobile and looked over the streets in Lawrence before coming to Lowell. This city, however, was their objective point and they were particularly interested in Hassam paving. They are now going to see if it is being used to better advantage elsewhere. They employ the Hassam Co. to do the work and because of this fact they have never had to pay any royalty.

The visitors arrived at city hall at about 10.45 o'clock and were taken in tow by the mayor and Commissioners Duncan and Putnam. Commissioners Carmichael and Morse were not at the hall. The filtration plant was first inspected and they were astonished because of the magnitude of the undertaking and they were also very much pleased with the appearance of the pumping station. The filtration plant, and likewise the pumping station, were explained to them by Supt. Thomas of the water department. They explored the cement underground chambers of the filtration plant. Likewise, by Commissioner Duncan, into the catacombs of Rome, and ascended and descended plant ladders that were just the least bit ticklish. They had heard a great deal about the filtration plant, but they did not know, they said, that it was so great an undertaking.

From the boulevard the visitors were taken to Westford street, where from block paving was inspected. From there they went to the cemetery to inspect the filtration plant. They explored the chambers of the filtration plant, and ascended and descended plant ladders that were just the least bit ticklish. They had heard a great deal about the filtration plant, but they did not know, they said, that it was so great an undertaking.

LOWELL BOY IN WAR

DELPHIS ALLETTE OF FORD ST. IS DRUMMER IN BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE

Delphis Allette of 81 Ford street has been notified by Hon. Samuel Hughes, minister of war and defense for the Dominion of Canada, that his son James, who left this city last fall and who later enlisted in the Canadian army, is now fighting in France and fighting under the colors of Great Britain.

Mrs. Allette, mother of the young soldier, died April 30 and the father wired the sad news to his son, who was believed to be located with the 23d Royal Canadian regiment in Nova Scotia. But when the message reached him it was learned that the regiment had sailed for Europe. Accordingly the father wrote Minister Hughes with the result that yesterday he was informed his son is now in France and he is also aware of the death of his mother. This bit of news having been sent him by the war department, James Allette is a drummer in the army.

BRITISH BOXING

Matt Wells Talks on the War's Effect Upon the English Ring

Mat Wells, the ex-lightweight champion of England who meets Mike Glover at the Atlas A. A. in Boston next Tuesday night, tells an interesting story of how the war affects boxing and other sports in Great Britain. One reason why there is little boxing going on in England at the present time is because of a ruling recently issued whereby no one except soldiers are allowed to box.

The ex-champ says that he wanted to enlist, but they refused to allow him on account of his tin ears. "I asked if they would be any chance of the exemption," said Wells, "but they told me they didn't think there was a possibility of such a state of affairs. However, I told them where they could reach me if I was needed," said the boxer.

Wells says that when coming over here they passed the Lusitania two days before the latter was sunk. "It seems to me as though everybody has money in England just now. If a fellow has not all he has to do is to blame it on to the war."

For two months before he left for this country Wells says he helped 10,000 recruits in the Crystal Palace in London. The English had claims that he makes weight in this country easier than any place in the world. Wells gave him the surprise of his life, he says, when the British took the title away from Willie Ritchie. He says, however, that Ritchie never had a round in that memorable bout.

The former champ claims that belts are a joke in England. What they need, he says, is life belts and cartriges. He is boxing belts. Wells, by the way, still holds a title, he is the welterweight champion of Australia.

KILLED BEVERLY WOMAN

MAN WAS ARRAIGNED IN ROME, PLEADED GUILTY AND GIVEN FOUR YEARS AND SEVEN MONTHS

PEABODY, May 29.—Emmanuel Maggitti, who has been sought by the authorities since he killed Mrs. Madeline Romani in Beverly in August, 1913, appeared before a court at Rome on May 11, pleaded guilty of premeditated homicide, and was sentenced to prison for four years and seven months, according to L'Espresso, a newspaper of Rome, a copy of which was received here today. The court ruled that extenuating circumstances warranted imposition of a comparatively light sentence.

The laws of Italy prevent the extradition of an Italian subject, but provide for the trial in that country of one of its citizens who has committed a crime elsewhere.

WHITE WAY PARADE

had to dispense with their red fire sticks.

The lights that so changed the appearance of the streets as to make a fellow think he was in another city were turned on at 8:10 o'clock, Mayor Murphy turning the switch at city hall that set the thing in motion. The lights, 184 luminous arcs in all, covered over two miles of streets and expressions of delight were heard wherever the "pale moon" appeared above an ornamental pole.

The oldest resident could not remember when he had seen so many strangers in Lowell and to thoroughly appreciate this fact one had to but look in at the hotels and restaurants after the parade was over. It seemed mixup, but they got by all right and everything went merry as a wedding bell.

The parade reached city hall at 8 o'clock. The Salem Cadet band had finished selections from "The Chimes of Normandy," and the applause was tremendous. Chief Marshal T. J. O'Donnell looked the pink of perfection and if there is man in Lowell who sits his saddle well that man is Thomas J. O'Donnell. Back of him rode Major Charles A. Stevens, chief of staff. Then came the battalion of military and the eleven companies of the high school regiment. Besides them in two automobiles were the officials who were to set the wheels in motion. The first machine held Robert F. Madden, president of the board of trade, and Secretary John H. Murphy. The second machine held Mayor Dennis J. Murphy, and Commissioners William W. Dunne, James H. Carmichael, Charles J. Morse and Newell E. Farnham. It did not take them long to reach the platform where was located the silver switch and with little ceremony the mayor turned it. Flashlight powder that had been set in pans exploded and the effect was blinding. When one closed his eyes again the "white way" was shining and the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner."

Then the parade was on again, headed by a platoon of eight police, under the command of Lieut. Martin Connor. Next in line was the Salem Cadet band. Then came Marshal Thomas J. O'Donnell, and if "Tom" was susceptible to battery his hat wouldn't hit him today. He had as chief of staff, Major Charles A. Stevens, and about 20 mounted men from various military and civic organizations officiated as aides.

Then came the militia headed by the Sixth Regiment band, Z. I. Bissonette as acting leader. Maj. Colby T. Kiltredge had command of the battalion. A section of Battery C, with 20 men and a score of horses was commanded by Sumner H. Needham. The high school regiment was commanded by Col. Alfred Warren, with Lieut. Col. Arthur McCarthy and Majors Sidney C. Perham and Elliott Rundlett. The boys made a fine appearance and were really the piece de resistance of the parade. The high school drum corps was all to the good.

Next came the officials and behind them the "light brigade," headed by Ted's band of Boston. The brigade made up of the men who installed the ornamental lights and it seemed as if they received even more than their share of applause en route. The twelve-horse outfit was a great attraction.

The Lowell Military band headed the automobile division and what that band didn't do to "Tipperary" was little. There were eighteen machines in the automobile division and about all of them were decorated with flowers, ribbons and flags. It was generally conceded that Vernon L. French had the most artistically decorated automobile in line. Concerns represented in the parade included Saunders' Market with 14 horse-drawn delivery wagons, loaded with groceries and vegetables. The drivers were dressed in white and the feature was a very pleasing one. It was a feature big enough for all the markets in town. Others represented were George A. Hill, electrician; Ervin E. Smith Co., Lowell Metal Ceiling Co., and the Boston Fish market.

The police and fire department were headed by the Lowell Cadet band. Supt. Redmond Welch was in command of the detachment of 50 men and Chief Edward P. Saunders commanded the fire department. There were 35 firemen in line and after them came the chief's auto driven by Harry Sanders and then followed several pieces of fire apparatus. It was nearly ten o'clock when the parade disbanded at the Middlesex street.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED
Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McMan, 109 Liberty street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rose L. Sydeman, junior at the Boston University College of Liberal Arts, to Lawyer Frank Gold-man.

THE LITTLE BROWN SPARROW

Once upon a time a little brown sparrow sat on the branch of a tree singing to himself and saying: "I wish I was as pretty as the robin or bluebird or that I could sing as well as a canary. I don't think I am any good."

A bird nearby heard the sparrow and said: "Don't think you are of no use. I am sure you can find happiness and make others happy too." The little sparrow (bought a minute and then said: "I will try hard and see what I can do," and then it hopped off from the tree and began to sing as well as it knew how.

Soon it saw some crumbs on a window sill and flew to get them, singing as it flew. It would eat a crumb and then sing a bit. All at once it heard a noise and flew away but soon took courage and flew back again. There standing at a window was a little boy, and as the bird flew towards the crumbs, he clapped his hands and said: "I knew if we kept quiet it would come back and, oh, doesn't it sing pretty."

Now that pleased the sparrow and it began to chirp and chirp as happy as could be, saying to itself: "I am glad someone likes to hear me sing." Now every morning the bird comes to the window and sings as well as it is able and then it finds some nice crumbs to eat.

One day, as it was eating its breakfast, a bad boy threw a stone and it fell to the ground with a hurt leg but its kind boy friend had seen the bad boy throw the stone, ran down, picked up the bird, took it into the house and bandaged its leg. He kept the sparrow until it was well and then let it out to fly about with its friends.

LEADING BATTERS

Luderus Leads National, Cobb American—Tom Daly Second

CHICAGO, May 29.—Every team in the National League except St. Louis, has a representative among the ten leading hitters, according to averages published here today, including the games of last Wednesday. Boston leads in the number, with three. Fred Luderus, Philadelphia, continues to set the pace, with a percentage of 350. Then come T. Clarke, Cincinnati, 341; Good, Chicago, 341; Connolly, Boston, 331; Groh, Cincinnati, 326; Daubert, Brooklyn, 317; J. Smith, Boston, 315; Kerkio, New York, 315; Hutchinson, Pittsburgh, 315; Rudolph, Boston, 310. Chicago and Cincinnati are tied for the leadership in club batting at 261. Bresnahan's eleven thefts still are high water mark. Saier, Chicago, holds scoring honors with 28.

With five victories and no defeats, Chicago leads the pitchers. Combs, Brooklyn, is credited with three wins and no losses; and Standridge, Chicago, Meadows, St. Louis, and Lavender, Chicago, each two and none.

Ty Cobb ran his average up from 490 to 427 in the past week and has accumulated 13 stolen bases, leading his rivals of the American league as well in runs scored—a total of 41. Following Cobb, the leaders in batting are: Daly, Chicago, 421; Russell, Chicago, 400; Fournier, Chicago, 378; Jackson, Cleveland, 355; Crawford, Detroit, 341; Ruth, Boston, 333; Kavanagh, Detroit, 322; Lajoie, Philadelphia, 307; Shotton, St. Louis, 307; Philadelphia and Cincinnati are tied for the tenth at 205. Detroit with 295 and Chicago with 250 lead the clubs.

Credited with four victories and no defeats, Benz, Chicago, ranks first among the pitchers. Jones of Cleveland, has won 1 and lost none; Faber, Chicago, 1 and 1; and Fisher, New York 6 and 1.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET

CORNELL VIRTUALLY CONCEDED THE CHAMPIONSHIP—FIGHT FOIL SECOND PLACE

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—With Cornell virtually conceding the championship, having been qualified in every event on the program, interest in the final day's competition in the intercollegiate track and field meet today centered primarily on the fight for the other positions between Harvard, Yale and Pennsylvania.

Semi-final and final heats in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash and 220-yard hurdles and finals in the quarter and half-mile runs, together with the mile and two-mile races, were the track events on the schedule. In the field events—the hammer, shot, pole vault, high and broad jumps—the six best in yesterday's trials competed for the five places in every event.

Harvard's great showing in the trial track events made her the favorite for second place and she was also believed to have best chance to contest Cornell's claims to supremacy. The latter, however, is assured of many points in the field events, while the Crimson will have to fight it out with strong competitors for all the points she makes.

WHITE WAY PARADE

Continued

dissex street Capitol and everybody voted the affair a huge success.

Parade Notes

The fourteen teams from Saunders market was a feature of the parade that everybody appreciated, and which it came to color the white way had nothing on the drivers.

Did you notice the skill and dexterity with which Peter Flood guided those six horses of the O. P. David stable through the intricate movements made necessary because of the semi-blockade? Those horses were practically strangers to each other, and Peter had to do all the entertaining. Mr. Flood is some whip.

What's the matter with the Metal Workers? They're all right.

The fellows who rode in French's auto allowed they had the best seats at the show.

The high school boys covered themselves with glory. Everybody was proud of them. Yet some of the companies had serious ranks.

Charles Keyes, the auctioneer, is a pretty good judge of crowds, and Charles estimated last night's crowd at about 100,000.

With his usual progressiveness, Mine Henry W. Garrity of the Old Washington tavern was there with the big league stuff. He staged an open air minstrel show on the balcony of his hostelry and gave amusement to a vast crowd. It was quite an elaborate affair and these favored with seats on the balcony, not only enjoyed the show but were favored with an excellent view of the parade. Those favored included Chief of Police McKenna, of Lawrence and Mrs. McKenna, Deputy Sheriff Martin Conway, Hon. James R. Casey, Joseph Jennings, ex-Councilman Thomas J. Corbett and many others.

According to Assistant City Messenger C. F. Cronin, more people visited city hall last evening than ever before.

The high school boys were given a great hand as they marched into Merrimack street from Cabot street. They made the corner in true military fashion.

City Clerk Flynn entertained a large number of visitors at his office during the progress of the parade.

The large crowd at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets greatly enjoyed the procession but were slightly annoyed by an over-enthusiastic celebrator, who insisted on sticking red fire into their faces.

Many of the out-of-town visitors were surprised to learn that the merchants did not keep their stores open last night.

That despite the spirit of cordiality and hospitality that was evident on all sides last evening, there was one place that it was not respected, and that was on the street cars where the "end seat hogs" were out in large numbers.

The battery from Lawrence made a fine appearance. Their trip over the road did not worry them in the least and they repeated it when the celebration was over.

City Messenger Monahan and his assistants were kept on the jump last night showing visitors through the municipal palace.

A city hall clerk remarked last night that he never thought there were so many people right there in Lowell who had not previously inspected city hall.

Secretary John Cull had charge of the mayor's office last night and was kept quite busy showing the silver that was presented to the mayor.

The clerks in the city engineer's office were very courteous and went back several times to turn on the lights to accommodate belated visitors.

All of the hotels were well patronized after the parade and they deserved it. The menus were the best and the favors offered were most interesting. The dining rooms, ice cream parlors and soda fountains did a prosperous business.

Among the out-of-town visitors who greatly enjoyed the white way celebration last evening was Edouard Fabre, the famous Canadian runner. Fabre is coming to Lowell to participate in the staying at the New American hotel. Tonight a reception in his honor will be held there at 8 o'clock and he will extend a glad hand to all who call.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Col. William F. Fell, C. S. B. of England, lectured on Christian Science at Colonial hall last night. The speaker was introduced by Elmore J. Chamberlain. As to the teachings of Christian Science, the speaker teaches us to worship God in His likeness, in His fullness, in His infinity, not as some grand looking human being on a cloud, but as a throne such a one cannot be omnipresent. Only as divine mind, infinite principle, life, truth and love can God be discerned. These terms refer to one absolute God and express the infinite.

LOWELL HAS PROUD RECORD

Her Sons the First to Respond to Call to Arms in '61—Lowell Men Played Prominent Part in War of Rebellion

No city in the country has a prouder record in the war of rebellion than has Lowell which sent out the earliest volunteers in response to the call to arms in '61, and whose citizens were the first to shed their blood for the old flag. During the war of rebellion Lowell was ably represented by two regiments, Butler and Ames, while at Washington, a Lowell man, Gustavus Fox directed the efforts of the navy.

The Lowell survivors of the conflict are organized into three Grand Army posts, whose ranks are slowly but surely thinning as the years roll by. Since the last Memorial day the ranks have been depleted to the extent of 20 well known members whose names are as follows:

Anthony Rivers, Peter Donohoe, Edward S. Wheeler, John McManus, Joseph F. Fuller, Rescavious Brown, William H. Ward, John M. Kingsbury, James Devlin, Joseph Keefe, George A. Abbott, David Carr, James B. Thompson, William A. Winslow, Chas. H. Frost, Thomas Burns, William L. Bent, James F. Smith, Edward Wheeler, James L. Gerrish, George M. Foster, Richard Monahan, Jesse G. Courser, Patrick O'Brien, Benjamin Page, Charles E. Hadley, Wyatt Moulton and William McCree.

Below is given a brief history of the three Grand Army posts of Lowell, as follows:

B. F. Butler Post 42
It was to be expected that the men who had risked their lives on the battlefield would organize and accordingly the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic was formed at Springfield, Mass., in 1865.

This city, held its first meeting January 29, 1865. The members had served in a great many regiments all over the country and had figured in practically every great battle of the war. The first place of meeting was in the old Mechanics hall in Dutton street and subsequently the post met at the corner of Market and Central streets, but finally shifted to Memorial hall.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, for whom the post was named, was mustered in as a comrade in 1855 and was interested in the Grand Army until his death. The members are yearly growing less in number but those who remain are still loyal to the Grand Army and as deeply as ever interested in the progress, prosperity and perpetuity of this republic.

The list of past commanders is as follows: George A. Maiden, Alpha B. Farr, General Fiske, Charles H. Kimball, Charles H. Richardson, Edward W. Thompson, John A. Richardson, Albert G. Pindar, George W. Huntington, Major Charles A. Stott, George W. Worthen, Frank B. Leahody, John J. Dolan, James R. Fulton, Gen. C. A. R. Dinon, William H. Hayes, John Welch, Edward T. Rowell and George McInture.

J. A. Garfield Post, 120

James A. Garfield Post 120, G. A. R., which was named after the martyred president of the United States, is composed of men who played very prominent parts during the Civil war. While many of the members have died, others have moved out of the city and have been transferred to other posts. When the call to arms was sounded in 1861 people flocked from all over the northern part of the country to fight in the Union cause and the abolition of slavery and among the men who responded were the present members of Post 120, G. A. R. Inasmuch as many members belonged in other parts of the country prior to the war, all of the members of the post did not enlist in this state, but the majority of them fought in the Massachusetts regiments and participated in the principal battles of the war. The post was formed on Oct. 26, 1881, and the first president of the organization was the late Charles H. Coburn, a prominent Lowell business man. At one time there were 400 active members, but many have been mustered out while others have moved out of the city. Every year sees a thinning in the ranks, while the survivors are fast sinking under the weight of years. The memory of the dead, however,

is cherished by the Grand Army and at every Memorial day the graves of the veterans are decorated and memorial services held. Posts 42 and 120 cooperate in the keeping of a burial lot in the Lowell cemetery where the deceased brethren without means are laid at rest. These two posts have had this burial lot for about 15 years.

The members of Post 120 meet every Wednesday night in the Mechanics bank building in Merrimack street. The attendance is usually very good and at the conclusion of the business meeting a social session is held. About four times a year camp fires are in order and those who have had the pleasure of being present at one of these are always ready to accept the invitation to another.

The present officers of the post are as follows: Frank B. Planders, commander; George W. Hunt, senior vice commander; Joseph Dewo, junior vice commander; William L. Dickey, quartermaster; A. J. Boies, chaplain; Alvin W. Stockwell, officer of the day; Martin Blanchard, officer of the guard; W. H. Parwell, surgeon.

Laod & Whitney Post 155

The department of Massachusetts Grand Army of the Republic granted a charter to J. P. Mansfield and others, and the Laod & Whitney post No. 155, G. A. R., was instituted Wednesday, April 11, 1886, by Lead Wales, department inspector, in Pythian hall. One hundred and ninety comrades who answered to their names were mustered and obligated; of this number 79 were received by transfer from other G. A. R. posts and 111 were Civil war veterans who had never joined the Grand Army before.

The following comrades were elected and installed as officers of the post by Department Commander Richard P. Tobin: Dr. George E. Pinkham, commander; J. Hamilton, senior vice commander; C. M. Fisk, junior vice commander; C. M. Fisk, surgeon; A. W. Weeks, chaplain; Frank Coburn, quartermaster; Samuel George, officer of the day; J. A. Pevey, officer of guard; Geo. H. Richardson, adjutant.

A recess until Friday evening was declared and at that time 21 new members and six transfers were received.

A month after the inception of the post the members were grieved to lose one of their comrades, Henry A. Fletcher, who was mustered out May 17, 1886. The post occupied quarters in Post 120 hall for about a year, holding meetings every Thursday evening. On July 25, 1887, the post secured for its headquarters the upper floor of Wyman's Exchange and changed its meeting night to Wednesday. The post was obliged to vacate the rooms in Wyman's Exchange on Jan. 1, 1909, and new quarters were taken up over Cook, Taylor & Co.'s store in Central street, but like the hall it had previously occupied, the comrades have many weary flights of stairs that become more difficult to climb every year.

The year 1903 was eventful. Early in January the post with many G. A. R. posts of the city and vicinity assisted at the burial services of a distinguished member of the order, Gen. Benjamin F. Butler. The dedication of Memorial building followed, and the assignment of the three posts to quarters in the building was made.

The following comrades have served as commanders since the inception of the post: Dr. George E. Pinkham, 1886; Charles H. Richardson, 1887-1894; A. A. Davis, 1895; F. S. Pevey, 1895; J. D. S. Baldwin, 1895; A. W. Weeks, 1895; J. D. Woodward, 1895; J. H. Caverly, 1895; 1902-1911; Andrew Liddell, 1894; D. A. Brown, 1895; C. T. Fisk, 1895; Arthur Hamblett, 1895; J. A. Bartlett, 1898-9; E. A. Robinson, 1900; J. Q. A. Ferguson, 1901; J. P. Bachelder, 1902-03; J. B. Wilson, 1905; W. H. Worcester, 1905; J. P. Gilman, 1907; Amos Winters, 1908; M. A. Condry, 1909; George L. Ames, 1910-11.

The present officers of the post are as follows: John H. Caverly, commander; J. Adams Bartlett, senior vice commander; Franklin S. Pevey, junior vice commander; J. M. Spurr, adjutant; William A. Arnold, quartermaster; W. B. Boudless, surgeon; Amos Winters, chaplain; Albert I. Gilman, officer of the day; B. S. Clough, officer of the guard.

A recess until Friday evening was declared and at that time 21 new members and six transfers were received, making the post 217 members, 132 recruits and 85 from other G. A. R. posts.

Thin Girls, Cut This Out

The expressions of happiness and gratitude of several of his young lady patients for whom he prescribed the recently successful flesh-forming product, known as 5-grain toning tablets, is quoted by a physician in one of the medical publications, and it comes as a surprise to the ordinary layman to learn the heart throbs of distress which seems to affect so many young people who are abnormally thin. So readily increased by the use, regularly for a short time of this new treatment now obtained from druggists in neat packages with complete instructions for self-administration.
